Battle Rages For Strategic Passes

Outcome Could Turn Course Of The War

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Israeli and Egyptian troops battled for the three strategic Sinai desert passes today in what could be the decisive stage of the new Middle East war. Israel claimed another victory over Iraqi forces helping Syria in the north and said its warplanes struck unopposed deep into Egypt and Syria.

The latest development was the late afternoon Israeli announcement that its forces had broken through the central Syrian sector by inflicting its second defeat in two days on the Iraqi reinforcements, destroying dozens of Iraqi tanks.

The communique did not pinpoint the battlefield but the central sector is southwest of the main Isareli thrust towards Damascus.

Each side claimed victories in the Sinai. Israel's claims of unopposed strikes constituted one of its strongest assertions of air superiority since the Arabs struck by surprise 10 days ago to launch the fourth Arab-Israreli war in 25 years.

On the northern front in Syria, Israeli forces formed "like a fist" at the crossroads town of Sasa, 25 miles from Damascus, but were bogged down there by heavy oppostion. Israeli tankmen said some armed units were within 14 miles of the ancient Syrian capital and shells were falling on its outskirts.

In Moscow, diplomatic sources disclosed that President Houaria Boumedienne of Algeria had paid a quick visit yesterday to discuss the Middle East with Soviet leaders.

Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan warned that the war would be "long in days and heavy in bloodshed." He has said the war is going so well in Syria that Israel could turn its attention southward to Egypt.

In the fast-moving action, Egypt reported it carried out a suprise dawn raid —either by helicopter or ship —behind Israeli lines in Sinai along the Mediterranan coast, inflicted heavy damage and withdrew.

Israel reported its planes struck three airfields deep in Egypt, one of them only 50 miles north of Cairo, and bombed Syria's coastal fuel dumps at Latakia and Tartus. Returning Israeli pilots also reported shooting down five MIG challengers on the Syrian front.

"The main feature of air activity by midday is the fact that only the Israeli air force has taken the initiative and is in the air on both fronts," an Israeli communique said.

During the night, Israeli warships bombarded the Egyptian coastal commando base of Ras Gharib, 120 miles west of the canal, and left in in flames, according to the Israelis.

But the decisive theater of war appeared for the present to be in the Sinai where the Israelis said virtually the whole Egyptian army was across the Suez canal. At dawn yesterday, the Egyptians launched a big offensive all along the front, and there were contradictory reports of the fighting today.

The Israeli command said the Egyptian attempt to break out of their three-mile-wide bridgehead all along the waterway focused on the northern axis at Kantara, gateway to the northern coastal road toward Tel Aviv.

"The Egyptians attacked the forward line of the Israeli forces, who replied with a counterattack that repulsed the Egyptians," a communique said.

The Egyptian picture of what was happening was different.

"The fighting today took the form of local clashes in several sectors of the front," the communique said.

The Egyptian communique said in all 13 Iraeli tanks and 23 other vehicles were destroyed in today's action in the Sinai.

It said Israeli planes attempted to attack advanced Egyptian airfields but were driven off by "our air defense systems"—the Russian-made SAM 2, 3 and 6 missles that have robbed the Israeli air force of the same dominance it had in the six-day war of 1967.

The Egyptians claimed that nine Israeli planes were shot down, bringing to 198 the number of Isareli planes shot down.

Ford Says He Has No Intention Of Seeking Presidency In '76

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Vice Presidential nominee Gerald R. Ford today sidestepped a question whether he would accept a draft to run for president in 1976 (See another story, page 12.)

Ford talked to the Portland "Century Club", a statewide GOP organization made up of $100 or more a year contributors to the party, and then went before the National Retail Druggists Association convention before returning to Washington for a White House dinner honoring former Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

The House Republican leader was asked at the GOP breakfast meeting about a prediction yesterday by Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., himself a potential presidential candidate, that persons who disclaim intentions for high office "have a tendency to be drafted." Jackson made his comment after a Democratic dinner in Las Vegas, Nev.

"I will repeat what I have said all along," Ford responded to a question from the audience whether he would accept a draft. "I have no intention of seeking election to any office in 1976. My wife (Betty) is quoted in an interview as saying that she does not want me to run in 1976 and most of us, as you know, abide by their suggestions."

Nearly 100 club members turned out for the breakfast session with GOP Gov. and Mrs. Tom McCall of Oregon heading the delegation along with State Republican Chairman David Green, State Atty. Gen. Lee Johnson and Oregon's Secretary of State Clay Myers.

Ford received two standing ovations from the club and was given the same reception by the nearly 2,000 members at the druggists convention where he repeated the extemporaneous speech he gave to Republicans.

Ford stressed in appearances at Utah State University yesterday, during a visit with his son John, 22, a senior studying forestry, that he was anxious for early Congressional hearings on his nomination so that he could get on with the work of "unity."

Agnew Says He's Not A Tax Cheater

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Former Vice President Spiro Agnew says he has never cheated on his income tax returns in his life and terrific pressure from the highest levels of the Nixon administration forced him to resign, the Nashville Banner reported today.

(Agnew was to speak to the nation this afternoon on television and radio.)

Agnew granted his first interview since his resignation last week to Frank Van Der Linden, the Banner's Washington bureau chief. The former vice president asked not to be quoted directly, the Banner said.

Van Der Linden said Agnew told him the government made him plead "no contest" to the income tax evasion charge and compelled him to give up his office as the price for dropping all of its bribery, extortion and conspiracy charges against him and sparing him from prison.

"He flatly refuses to say whether or not the President persuaded him to leave quietly, and thus spare his family and the country the agony of a long, drawn-out battle which could only end in disaster," Van Der Linden wrote.

Agnew, who says he has never been rich, admits having received "thousands of dollars from wealthy friends," the copyrighted story said. They helped him to carry the burden of political expenses and his life style as Maryland's governor in 1967-68 and for the past four and a half years as vice president.

"He claims, however, that income, and not bribes, and he insists he provided no influence in return.

"He denies the charge — which the government dropped —that he extorted at least $87,500 from Maryland consulting engineers in pay-offs for granting them lucrative government contracts.

Patrick Libel Judgment Is Upheld

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Supreme Court let stand today a $300,000 libel judgment against a 1966 Republican gubernatorial candidate who accused a polling organizatio of rigging a pre-primary survey for pay and political purposes.

In a brief order without comment, the Court refused to hear an appeal by the late William Penn Patrick of Tiburon who was sued by Mervin D. Field and Field Research Corp., conductors of the well-known California Poll.

Patrick, founder of the Holiday Magic cosmetics firm in San Rafael died earlier this year in the crash of his private plane in Lake County.

He said under leading Supreme Court decisions the libel award had to be based on the "malice" with which Patrick made the statements.

But he said in his opinion the First Amendment to the Constitution prohibits use of civil libel laws to "impose damages for the discussion of public affairs or criticism of public figures."

The case originated after the California Poll of Feb. 15, 1966 showed that of the GOP primary candidates, Ronald Reagan was favored by 38 per cent of the voters, George Christopher by 35, Patrick by 1 per cent with 22 per cent undecided.

Patrick then publicly charged that he believed on the basis of a reliable source that the Field organization had been paid $16,000 to make Christopher's chances look good and that the poll was dishonest and corrupt.

Field and his organization filed a libel suit and a jury by a 9-3 vote found against Patrick, awarding $150,000 in general and $150,000 in punitive damages.

Patrick took his case to the state Court of Appeal, arguing that the trial judge had committed a constitutional error instructing the jury that Field had to prove "actual malice" by a "preponderance of the evidence" rather than by "clear and convincing evidence."

The appeals court agreed that the judge had erred in his instructions but held the error was "harmless" because evidence of actual malice was so overwhelming. The opinion said even a properly instructed jury would have found against Patrick and added that the judge should have directed the actual jury to return the verdict against him.

In a brief to the Supreme Court, Patrick's attorneys declared: "The danger of selfcensorship in future political campaigns or whenever established and influential political forces are called into question can only be increased if juries are no longer compelled to apply the standard of 'clear and convincing evidence' in First Amendment libel actions."

Attorneys for the polling organization said Patrick made the charges solely "to get his name into the news" and commented: "The whole fabric of his remarks was a vast hoax in which by conscious falsehood he sought to make himself appear a crusader for the public good."

Two Lose Their Lives In Point Reyes Falls

Two young people fell to their deaths Saturday after a picnic outing turned into tragedy when they attempted to climb down a steep cliff at the Point Reyes National Seashore.

The dead were identified as Susan Russell, 21, of Berkeley, and Steven Roy Marcus, 23, of San Francisco.

Park rangers said the fatal falls occurred at about 4:45 p.m. at Sea Lion Overlook near the Point Reyes Lighthouse.

Mrs. Russell, her husband, Peter, 23; Marcus and another friend, Lorraine Surlack of San Francisco, decided to climb over a railing and head down the cliff to get closer to the sea lions after a picnic lunch.

Mrs. Russell lost her footing, fell past her husband and plummeted about 250 feet down to the water's edge. Her frantic husband took one path down the cliff to help her. Marcus, who took another route, slipped and fell about 140 feet to the shore.

Mrs. Russell was dead by the time her husband reached her, and Marcus died a short time after rescuers arrived. Miss Surlack, in the meantime, had gone for help, and rangers summoned the Coast Guard.

Two Coast Guard helicopters picked up the bodies and Russell, who had injured his leg in scrambling down the cliff.

The Russells, who were married last summer, had been living in Berkeley, where Russell is a graduate student.

Marcus also was a student at the University of California.

Both the dead were from the East.

Mrs. Russell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin J. Krauss of New York City and Marcus was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Marcus of Fair Lawn, N.J. Funerals for the two will be in the East.

Haze May Clear Out Tomorrow

An orangish autumn haze cut visibility on the normally sparkling San Francisco Bay during the weekend to a few miles in many areas and temperatures climbed into the mid-80s in much of Marin and Southern Sonoma counties.

The weatherman said today, however, that patchy ocean fog would blow in tomorrow bringing cooler temperatures. The Bay Area Air Pollution District predicted cleaner air today than during the weekend.

"Significant air pollution," also known as smog, was reported Saturday in San Rafael, with light air pollution yesterday. The same report was given for San Francisco, but in San Jose, there was significant air pollution Saturday and heavy pollution yesterday.

Douglas Says Johnson's Phone Was Tapped During Presidency

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas said today Lyndon B. Johnson told him while he was President that Johnson's telephone was tapped. Douglas also said he was "morally certain" the high court's conference room has been "bugged."

"We live in a regime where the dirty business of wiretapping runs rampant," Douglas said, calling the practice "the disease which almost every newspaper tells us has poisoned our body politic."

Dissenting in the high court's denial of bail to a woman who claimed that questions put to her by a grand jury were the product of illegal surveillance, Douglas said:

"We who live in the District of Columbia know that electronic surveillance is commonplace. I am indeed morally certain that the conference room of this court has been 'bugged'; and President Johnson during his term in the White House asserted to me that even his phone was tapped."

Douglas did not elaborate on either instance. But he noted the Justice Department did not deny bugging the attorneys of the woman, Marguerite Anne Heutsche, who was arrested by the FBI in connection with removal of materials from a Selective Service office. Douglas declared:

"The conversation of one's lawyer over the telephone may be as helpful to Big Brother as the conversation of the accused herself.

"In this Orwellian era ... we deal with a disease that has permeated our society."

On other matters before it today, the Court:

Agreed to determine the extent to which private schools and other organizations practicing racial segregation can be barred from using publicly owned recreational facilities.

Agreed to review a New York Stock Exchange case which could profoundly affect class action lawsuits such as those being brought widely nowadays in the consumer and environmental fields.

The action came in the case of six students from the State University of New York at Stoney Brook who rented a home in Belle Terre on Long Island. Village officials charged their communal living violated the area's one-family dwelling unit zoning ordinance.

Let stand a lower court ruling that the drug Krebiozen was never generally recognized as safe or effective in treating cancer.

Dismissed an appeal by members of a farm commune in Tennessee who claimed their conviction on charges of growing marijuana violated their religious freedom, since they used the substance in their worship.

In the wiretap case, the woman was arrested on charges of receiving more than 1,800 records and folders of Selective Service locals at Evanston, Ill. She was cited for contempt after refusing to respond to questions from a Chicago grand jury.

Douglas recalled a 1928 statement by Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes calling wiretapping a "dirty business," and said both Supreme Court rulings and federal law had been flouted in its use by enforcement agencies.

Agreed today to decide the constitutionality of a New York zoning ordinance prohibiting communal living by six college students.

Agreed to review a New York Stock Exchange case which could profoundly affect class action lawsuits such as those being brought widely nowadays in the consumer and environmental fields.

The action came in the case of six students from the State University of New York at Stoney Brook who rented a home in Belle Terre on Long Island. Village officials charged their communal living violated the area's one-family dwelling unit zoning ordinance.

Let stand a lower court ruling that the drug Krebiozen was never generally recognized as safe or effective in treating cancer.

Dismissed an appeal by members of a farm commune in Tennessee who claimed their conviction on charges of growing marijuana violated their religious freedom, since they used the substance in their worship.

In the wiretap case, the woman was arrested on charges of receiving more than 1,800 records and folders of Selective Service locals at Evanston, Ill. She was cited for contempt after refusing to respond to questions from a Chicago grand jury.

Douglas recalled a 1928 statement by Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes calling wiretapping a "dirty business," and said both Supreme Court rulings and federal law had been flouted in its use by enforcement agencies.

Agreed today to decide the constitutionality of a New York zoning ordinance prohibiting communal living by six college students.

PEACEFUL SCENE — Although Israel and Jordan are at war, it would be difficult to tell it from this peaceful scene of a lone shepherd tending his flock in the Jordan Valley today. (UPI Telephoto)

Supplies To Israel Tied To Russia

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The administration has decided to re-supply Israel with some of the warplanes and other military equipment lost in recent fighting, but how much is sent and how fast will depend on the Soviet Union, government sources said today.

They said the decision to go ahead with some re-supply was made last week, but that the extent and pace is geared to the level of Soviet arms aid to Arab countries involved in the fighting.

Sources indicated the White House has urged Soviet leaders that both major powers should act with restraint in their arms supply policies.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., who has been demanding that the United States promptly replace Israeli losses, called for an American airlift of war supplies.

Jackson said in Los Angeles that the Soviet Union was "deeply involved in the planning and execution" of the Egyptian-Syrian attack but that "if Israel is given an opportunity to acquire the necessary defense material they can stave off the whole Arab world."

Publicly, administration spokesmen would discuss U.S. arms policy in the Middle East only in general terms.

"We're going to maintain the balance and continue with ongoing shipments," said White House chief of staff Alexander M. Haig yesterday after meeting with President Nixon at the White House. "We're intensively discussing the special requirements which came out of the situation."

Nixon, returning yesterday from an overnight stay at Camp David, Md., also met with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Vice President-designate Gerald R. Ford, who was briefed by the White House Saturday on the Arab-Israeli conflict, told newsmen after attending a White House worship service yesterday: "We certainly are going to fully meet all our commitments (to Israel) in the ongoing program, which is very substantial. Whether there is an expansion of the shipments depends on the circumstances."

Asked whether he thought a cease-fire could be arranged soon, Ford replied: "There's a possibility. I hope we get a military solution quickly. Then we can work out a diplomatic solution. You can't have a diplomatic solution unless you have a military solution."

Pro-Israelis, Pro-Arabs Clash; Large Fund Raised For Tel Aviv

NEW YORK (UPI) —More than 30,000 pro-Israeli demonstratrators clashed briefly with a handful of pro-Arab supporters yesterday in a rock-and-bottle exchange, but police on horseback drove the Arab protesters into a subway station and ended the violence.

In other parts of the nation, fund drives to help Israel in the Middle East war reported raising millions of dollars, and five volunteers left Philadelphia for Tel Aviv to help in the war effort.

Israeli supporters massed in New York's City Hall Park to hear speakers, including Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban and several celebrities, and to chant slogans urging a quick victory of Israel's war with the Arabs. But 40 Arab backers showed up, and the groups exchanged first obscenities and later rocks.

Police said they decided to clear out the small group of pro-Arab demonstrators after a stink bomb was hurled from their area into the opposing crowd and fistfights broke out amid rocks and bottles hurled back and forth. No one was reported seriously injured. Eight persons were arrested, including Mohammed Mehdi, secretary general of the "Action Committee on Arab-American Relations."

Eban asked the chanting throng, "Do we have your love and solidarity?"

The crowd shouted, "Yes!"

"Then victory is ours!" Eban said.

Mayor John Lindsay drew cheers when he told the rally, "This city, with the largest Jewish population in the world shares a special bond with the hopes and aspirations of the people of Israel."

Actor Theodore Bikel, one of the celebrities who attended, criticized Arab spokesmen "from countries that never had a democratic election and come here and tell us not to listen to public opinion."

Members of the crowd waved blue and white Israeli flags and carried signs reading "This Time Damascus," and "Israel Must Live," and bands played Israeli national music.

In Florida, Jewish leaders said $1 million has been raised in a defense fund so far, and New Jersey Jewish organizations said contributions for Israel have topped the $4 million mark.

The five volunteers from Philadelphia will live in a kibbutz while the manpower from that community is engaged in fighting.

Arabs Seen Freezing Oil Output To Israel Backers

BEIRUT (UPI) —The Arab oil-producing countries will probably not cut off supplies to the West as a weapon against Israel's supporters in the war because it would result in a serious loss of revenue, Arab oil sources said today.

The sources said instead, the Aabs will probably follow Saudi Arabia's game plan and freeze their oil output at present levels if Western countries, with the United States at the top of the list, continue their support of Israel.

Delegates from 11 Persian Gulf and North African oil producing states are scheduled to meet in Kuwait Wednesday "to discuss the role of oil in the Arab-Israeli war," Kuwait announced. The meeting originally was set for tomorrow but was postponed one day.

In the 1967 six-day war with Israel, the Arab oil countries cut off all supplies to the West. However, Arab oil sources said today the "oil weapon" will not be used in that way again.

A total Arab boycott would eventually have an adverse effect on the United States. But it would have to last at least six months, and in the meantime the Arab states would be losing badly needed income from its oil sales.

The Persian Gulf oil producing states and the North African states of Algeria and Libya provide Western Europe with 80 per cent of its oil needs and 95 per cent of Japan's. However, in the first six months of this year, the United States imported from the gulf states only six per cent of its total oil and petroleum needs.

The total, nearly 1 million barrels a day, was up 37 per cent from the same period last year but still a relatively insignificant amount.

Oil sources said instead of a total boycott, oil producing countries Tuesday will probably decide to follow the lead of King Faisal of Saudi Arabia.

Faisal, who is already bankrolling Egypt's war effort, has warned the United States that if it does not force a change in Israeli policy, Saudi Arabia will freeze its production at current levels.

Almost all the extra production would have gone to bridge a gap expected in the United States during the next seven to 10 years.

ACLU Asks Impeachment Of Nixon

NEW YORK (UPI) —The American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) yesterday called for the impeachment of President Nixon, citing the resignation of Spiro T. Agnew as evidence that "the country can withstand the impeachment of the President."

In a full-page advertisement in Sunday's editions of The New York Times, the ACLU said: "Richard Nixon has left us in no doubt. He means to function above the law. If he is allowed to continue, then the destruction of the Bill of Rights could follow. If, after all the Watergate revelations, we allow him to continue, we are accomplices to that destruction."

The group listed nine examples of what it said were executive actions done without sanction of law, ranging from the bombing of Cambodia to White House-authorized wiretapping and burglary in the Watergate affair.

The ACLU, which announced its impeachment drive Oct. 4, said the proceedings are necessary "to preserve and protect our system of individual rights under the law, to restore the integrity of the Bill of Rights for us and our children, and to make the lesson clear to all future presidents in whose hands we place our lives."

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Typhoon Warning

MANILA (UPI) — The 85-mile-per-hour winds of Typhoon Ruth swirled toward land today, threatening the Manila area and its 4.5 million residents.

The weather bureau issued severe storm warnings in Manila, its suburbs and five surrounding provinces. It said if Ruth continues its present course, the eye of the storm would pass within 31 miles north of the city tonight or early tomorrow.

Outpost Taken

SAIGON (UPI) — Government and Viet Cong spokesmen agreed today that the Communists captured the government's White Horse Mountain militia outpost Friday.

The outpost is midway between the former imperial capital of Hue and the city of Da Nang, and is about 385 miles north of Saigon. It was abandoned with a loss of two men killed and 11 missing, a Saigon command spokesman said.

Military sources said that in addition, 21 of the 80-man garrison were missing.

Ammo Plane Crashes

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — A Cambodian transport plane air dropping ammunition to government troops near Phnom Penh was hit by rebel ground fire today and crashed at the capital's Pochentong Airport.

A farmer who witnessed the crash saw he saw five men, their clothing and hair on fire, run from the burning plane just before it was wracked by a series of explosions.

However, a Western diplomatic source said he was told by the pilot and crew there were no injuries.

Youth Beaten

BELFAST (UPI) — Gunmen eat up a 17-year-old youth early today, tied him to a school fence and hung a sign reading "police informer" around his neck.

Police said the youth was hospitalized.

In another incident, soldiers early today disarmed a 35-pound bomb found outside a beauty shop in east Belfast. Another bomb exploded on the steps of city hall in the County Down town of Crossgare, causing minor damage.

Flu Warning

ATLANTA (UPI) — A new influenza virus against which most persons have no natural immunity could cause an influenza outbreak in this country this winter reminiscent of the Hong Kong flu epidemic of 1968-69.

Dr. Robert Rubin, an epidemiologist at the National Center for Disease Control, said the new flu virus, known as the B-Hong Kong-5-72 strain, already has made widespread attacks in Japan.

The strain, or ones similar to it, also have been identified in Australia, England and Germany.

Dangerous Toys

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government has launched a campaign to get dangerous toys off the shelves between now and Christmas.

The Consumer Product Safety Commission said yesterday that special toy safety coordinators in each of its regional offices will conduct publicity and educational campaigns against toy hazards. Volunteers will visit retail stores to make sure none of the 1,500 toys already banned by the government are being sold.

The commission said the nationwide inspection began Oct. 1 and will continue through the Christmas season, the three-month period in which 70 to 80 per cent of all toys are sold each year in the United States.

Lower Physical Standards Urged

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Navy could fill its recruiting quotas and increase the intelligence of its forces by relaxing physical standards instead of mental standards, Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wisc., said yesterday.

He urged a one-year trial for recommendations in a report prepared for the Navy by the Denver Research Institute. It suggested lowering standards for prospective enlistees with eye trouble, speech impediments, disfigurements or who were overweight or had high blood pressure.

No Problem For Visitors In Cairo

CAIRO (UPI) —It might be considered dangerous to be American and Jewish in this Arab capital at war. Eli Feinberg is both, and has just spent a week here having what he calls "the time of my life," surrounded by potential enemies of his kith and kin.

"You know, I have never been so deeply moved," Feinberg said. "Yom Kippur came. The Middle East fighting had started.

"But the Egyptian manager of the hotel still found me a driver and I attended services at Cairo's largest synagogue. I shall never forget it. It was a supreme moment."

Feinberg, of Los Angeles, was one of several thousand tourists caught in Egypt by the outbreak of war and gradually being bussed to Alexandria and Benghazi, Libya, for flights to Europe.

"Make no mistake," Feinberg said as he prepared to board a government bus, "I have very strong ties with Israel. In fact we—a party of 32 Americans— were due to vist there after here.

"You might also say it was propaganda for my sake. But when the president of the Jewish synagogue told me that President Anwar Sadat had sent a special representative to wish the local Jews well, I believe it was sincere."

Feinberg is among the majority of tourists in Cairo who were at first suprised then delighted by the reception they received from the Egyptians, even when the fighting reached its fiercest pitch "Being Americans, we were natural targets," said Lyah Lundquist of Rolling Hills, Calif. "Or so I thought at first. But I have been having a ball. I am not uptight. I am not afraid. The war is a terrible thing but it has given me a very special experience I will never forget."

Queen's Visit

LONDON (UPI) —Queen Elizabeth II left last night for Australia where she will open a new opera house in Sydney. She is scheduled to arrive in the Australian capital of Canberra Wednesday.

Watergate Not Favorite Topic

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — The last course California's attorneys want added to their continuing education program is one on issues in the Watergate scandal.

The University of California said during the weekend that a list of 81 subjects was sent to the state's lawyers and they were asked to reply with their preferences.

The Watergate course placed No. 81, but UC said it would offer the course anyway.

$150,000 Grant For A Dropout School

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The city and county of San Francisco were awarded a $150,000 federal grant yesterday for a "Postal Street Academy"—an alternative school for young, minority dropouts, many of whom have had brushed with the law.

The Law Enforcement Assistance Administration grant will finance the academy for one year. The aim is to provide youths with basic skills in reading, math, English and other subjects, as well as career counseling and rehabilitation for young persons on probation.

Population Loss

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —Once the nation's fastest-growing area, Los Angeles County will lose nearly 40,000 residents in 1973, according to estimates by the state Department of Finance and Security Pacific Bank.

Presidential Field Is Open

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The nomination of House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford to be vice president will "preserve a very open field" for the 1976 GOP presidential nomination, says party chairman George Bush.

"Had the President gone to one of the obvious front runners for '76," Bush said yesterday, "the party itself could have been divided before the '74 elections."

He appeared on CBS' Face the Nation.

Virginia Governor Looks To Future

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Virginia Gov. Linwood Holton, who is prohibited by law from succeeding himself, said yesterday many of his good friends have urged him to come to Washington when his term ends in January, but he said he has not received any specific offers for a job.

Holton, a Republican, said that he will take two or three months before making any decisions on his future.

Cost Of Dying Said A Bargain

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Despite the high cost of living, it's still a bargain to die.

Raoul Pinette, president of the National Funeral Directors, told members at a convention here yesterday the overall cost of living rose 41.3 per cent in the past 10 years, while the "cost of dying" increased only 32.1 per cent.

Plea Made To Herion Charge

Miss Mechanick last Friday pleaded innocent to the cahrge and to a petty theft count. A preliminary hearing date will be set Friday.

Originally, she was arrested by Mill Valley police on suspicion of both offenses, but only the theft count was filed. The drug charge was added yesterday.

She is accused of shoplifting a sweater Sept. 11 from a boutique. A quantity of heroin was found when she was searched, police said.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —Once the nation's fastest-growing area, Los Angeles County will lose nearly 40,000 residents in 1973, according to estimates by the state Department of Finance and Security Pacific Bank.

Presidential Field Is Open

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The nomination of House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford to be vice president will "preserve a very open field" for the 1976 GOP presidential nomination, says party chairman George Bush.

"Had the President gone to one of the obvious front runners for '76," Bush said yesterday, "the party itself could have been divided before the '74 elections."

He appeared on CBS' Face the Nation.

Virginia Governor Looks To Future

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Virginia Gov. Linwood Holton, who is prohibited by law from succeeding himself, said yesterday many of his good friends have urged him to come to Washington when his term ends in January, but he said he has not received any specific offers for a job.

Holton, a Republican, said that he will take two or three months before making any decisions on his future.

Cost Of Dying Said A Bargain

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Despite the high cost of living, it's still a bargain to die.

Raoul Pinette, president of the National Funeral Directors, told members at a convention here yesterday the overall cost of living rose 41.3 per cent in the past 10 years, while the "cost of dying" increased only 32.1 per cent.

Plea Made To Herion Charge

Miss Mechanick last Friday pleaded innocent to the cahrge and to a petty theft count. A preliminary hearing date will be set Friday.

Originally, she was arrested by Mill Valley police on suspicion of both offenses, but only the theft count was filed. The drug charge was added yesterday.

She is accused of shoplifting a sweater Sept. 11 from a boutique. A quantity of heroin was found when she was searched, police said.

Old World Profits From New

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third of 20 essays by leading men in the world's academic community. OSCAR HANDLIN
An experiment to watch

For centuries, in many parts of the world, people who themselves never beheld the forests, plains, or cities of America felt that the human experience there had a relevance to their own fate.

Even before Columbus, Europeans envisioned somewhere in the distance a New World where they could correct the failings of their familiar Old World, so that the strange continent when its outlines at last became clear seemed to be that land of their dreams.

It remained so for generation after generation — for thousands drawn by ambition to search for fortune or driven by faith to seek freedom. For millions in want it offered hope of daily bread. And as the 20th Century approaches its last quarter, the American experience can still have meaning in every part of the globe; for everywhere men and women still struggle either to preserve the liberty and plenty they have already gained or else to reach wistfully toward those prizes.

In the beginning, America seemed the New World because it was open, making available to all an abundance of space and confining none within the bounds of inherited institutions.

It pointed toward the future rather than toward the past. Later, when the United States became an independent republic and when its spaces filled up, it developed institutions which left open the possibilities for change, which indeed stressed the values of transience and improvement and rewarded people willing to move into the unknown. Such values are more than ever important in a world torn by doubts about the future, no longer certain about the inevitability of progress, and inclined toward pessimism about the nature of man.

Experience taught Americans a different lesson. Few enjoyed lives of ease and comfort. Not the early immigrants who crossed the rough and uncharted Atlantic before coming ashore in a hostile wilderness.

Nor their successors, jammed in the steerages of vessels that brought them to lives of incessant labor in factory or construction gang.

Not the farmers who might see months of toil put to nought by a turn in the weather or a fluctuation in a distant market. Not the businessmen, the promoters, the salesmen, endlessly striving for the success few would gain. No, ease was rarely among the New World's promises.

Nevertheless, Americans were optimists, often without illusions about the odds in any specific instance, but certain that each year would be an improvement upon its predecessor. Their whole history was evidence: a tiny handful had grown in numbers to subdue a continent; from small beginnings they had become great in power and wealth. Many families repeated on an individual scale the national pattern of rise from humble origins. To lack faith was foolish in a world in which opportunity abounded.

Caution, comfortable habits, and tradition were impediments from the past which stood in the way of the future.

Over and over Americans learned the necessity for taking risks, for surrendering what might be tolerable on the chance of gaining what might be better. They were plungers and speculators by temperament — not only the frontiersmen or those who built extensive enterprises, but also the tinkering inventors who puzzled over better ways of doing a job and the long line of reformers willing to upset the existing social order out of the certainty that improvement was possible.

They were calculating observers, not content to accept nature as given, ready to reshape it to their own purposes. Where a forest stood, they saw clearings, fields of grain, and the timber to build ships and homes; rivers were for bridging and great distances for crossing. What had developed out of the past reached the present in order to be transformed for the future.

It followed that Americans were no great respecters of age.

Youth was ever the cherished season — for adventurous thoughts, for imaginative settings-forth. Though the old-timers might resent being edged out, they could not deny the right of their juniors to push forward as they themselves had once done.

In the 20th Century, as in the 18th, this society loosened all personal ties. Family obligations were not to fence the next generation in, nor was loyalty to the particular place of one's birth. The old Kentucky home was a subject for nostalgia, but not a reason for staying put. The advance upon the frontier was a succession of abandonments, for the pull of the golden West emptied many a hearthside in the old East.

The urban frontier had the same effect; you could not keep down on the farm once they glimpsed the lures of town. Americans became a restless people, ever in motion, determined to let no sentimental considerations hinder the pursuit of opportunity.

The views presented in these articles are those of the writers, and do not necessarily reflect the views of this newspaper, Copley News Service, the colleges and universities involved, or the National Endowment for the Humanities.

The world of the 1970s, which increasingly values stability and tradition, and shuns change, might well reflect upon what would be lost with the extinction of that optimistic willingness to bet on the future once characteristic of the Americans. The ability of a heterogeneous population to live together in tolerable harmony, the ideal of equal opportunity, and the commitment to freedom in significant ways all hinged upon the confidence in man's capacity for improvement and in society's capacity for progress.

Diversity of origins was always characteristic of the population of the United States. Never could the myth of common ancestry bind these people together. National sentiment sprang from another source — not from a view of the past but from an expectation about the future, from the belief of its people that out of many they were becoming one.

There were numerous flaws in the effort to put that belief into practice: episodes of tragic prejudice and discrimination, outbursts of violence by group against group, as some Americans challenged the premise of diversity and hid beneath the Klanish sheets of racism. Still the national achievement was impressive, how impressive perhaps can be understood better in the 1970s than earlier.

For a decade which, in many parts of the world, sees religious, tribal, and national loyalties plunge into bitter conflict people who have lived side by side for centuries, the American experience has special relevance. Here the hopes for a common future, however slowly and imperfectly, persuaded those divided by race, by religion, and by ethnic origin that they all had more to lose by battling than by accepting one another.

Opportunity was the great persuader. There were important exceptions — slaves, Indians held in reservations, and other victims of prejudice.

Nevertheless the underlying thrust of American society has always been toward a widening of opportunity to enable all men and women to make what they could of themselves. All aspirations toward aristocracy, all efforts at inclusion and exclusion were pitiful failures; status in the United States depended not on rank or parentage but upon achievement. That did not mean that everyone had an equal chance to attain riches, but an increasing percentage found their work rewarded by improvement in their social position. The consciousness that careers of every sort were open to all gave meaning to the restless strivings of people in motion. A future of expanding horizons made room for all.

At a time when competitive tensions tempt some to reach for privileged quotas, it is important to recall the extent to which equality of opportunity gave Americans a stake in the liberties of their country.

From time to time, the delicate balance tipped either toward a self-centered individualism disregardful of the welfare of others, or toward a zealous evangelism determined to make saints of all whether they wished it or not. But in the past, at least, the willingness to bet on progress restored the balance between individuality and connectedness, between the claims of one and the rights of all, before too much damage was done.

The disposition to look ahead also imparted a balance to the American understanding of freedom. Self-reliance was a virtue and each person could seek his own goal. But the frontier, no less than the industrial environment, taught also the necessity for cooperation. The individual, alone in the wildnerness or the city, was weak and vulnerable — scarcely free.

Much in the political history of the United States was an experiment to discover where that point lay. The state had to act, but only by the consent of those it governed and only in the interest of their general welfare; and large areas of life — religion, for instance — were outside its competence.

Constitutional agreements and the tracts of political theorists supplied the words to describe the arrangements that preserved the balance. But experience supplied the practical understanding that usually enabled Americans to make those arrangements. There were dismal failures, as well as heartening successes. But a world still prone to violence and irrationality, a world which veers from the verge of anarchy to total dictatorship, can profit from reminders of the relevance of that American experience.

No Decision On Curbing Of Growth

San Rafael Town Meeting participants found themselves undecided Saturday if or how the city could impose growth controls, even though many speakers through the daylong session called for such curbs.

Only one growth control resolution came to a vote at the day's end. It was rejected by a sparse 8-to-19 vote. It called for the city to impose a moratorium on all building except single-family dwellings, until the city's new general plan is adopted.

Participants were more decided on open space, voting 22-17 to ask the city council not to spend any open space bond money until a second citizens' open space committee is formed and completes a review of priorities and procedures for securing open space.

Of the 150 persons who signed up for the second annual town meeting, the audience dwindled to about 60 as the afternoon waned, and not all of those voted on the resolutions presented by the various workshops at the final summing-up session.

Growth control proposals such as restricting provision of utilities to new building projects didn't reach the resolution stage.

City Mgr. William J. Bielser argued against the open space resolution, countering criticism of "piecemeal" planning by saying Glenwood and Santa Margarita neighborhood residents are negotiating with the city to form special assessment districts, and Oak Hill has already formed one for open space projects.

The proposed new study and freeze on bond spending could thwart the neighborhood efforts, Bielser warned.

Other resolutions adopted urged the city council to finance an economic impact report on the proposed general plan, to study the use of "land banking" arrangements with developers to reserve choice sites for desired uses, and to study additional means of revitalizing downtown San Rafael.

The redevelopment workshop chaired by Bryce W. Anderson, Independent-Journal associate editor, recommended two-hour parking meters throughout downtown, a child care facility for shopping mothers, and a Fourth Street mall.

Final Rules For Cleanup Of Air Given

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Environmental Protection Agency today issued final air cleanup rules for Los Angeles and 16 other urban areas providing such things as free parking for car pool users, parking taxes on single-driver cars and free fares for mass trasit.

At the same time the agency all but scrapped previous proposals for gasoline rationing which, in the case of Los Angeles, would have banned all automobiles from the streets by 1977. EPA administrator Russell E. Train said the rationing approach had been dropped as a primary tool because the agency did not consider it reasonable and feared it would be too easy to evade.

The plans place heavy emphasis on techniques to change America's driving habits. Beginning next year in Los Angeles, for example, all public and private employers providing 700 or more parking spaces for their workers —70 in the central business district -will have to give free parking and preferential locations to car pool vehicles, and will have to pay bus fare for employes who elect to use public transit. Individual car drivers will have to pay surcharges to their employer in order to park the car they drive in alone.

Beginning next July 1 in Los Angeles, a 10-cent-an-hour surcharge will be placed on all commercial parking lots and almost all free parking places in central metropolitan areas of the Los Angeles region. The surcharge —half of which will go to pay for building mass transit systems will go up to 25 cents an hour by July 1, 1976.

Today's plans in addition to Los Angeles cover San Francisco, Boston, Dallas, Denver, San Diego, Sacramento, the San Joaquin Valley of California, Springfield, Mass., Portland, Ore., Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minn., Cincinnati, Ohio, and the Texas cities of Austin, Waco, San Antonio, Fort Worth, Houston-Galveston and El Paso-Las Cruces-Alamogorda, N. M.

OBITUARIES

Howell, Ench Succumb

A visit of two couples, longtime friends, ended in double tragedy Saturday midnight at a Novato home.

Elmer L. Howell, 63, of Novato, and Frank B. Ench Jr., 59, of San Rafael, collapsed and died within 30 minutes at conclusion of the evening visit at Howell's mobile home at 414 San Paulo Way. Both had histories of heart ailments.

Ench and his wife, Edith, had been guests during the evening of Howell and his wife, Lois. As they were leaving, Howell, bidding them goodbye from the top of the front steps, suddenly collapsed.

Ench returned to assist him. The Novato Fire Department was called at 11:30 p.m., and sent a resuscitator unit manned by Lt. John Rentz and Fireman Vern Toepfer, who worked with the victim until arrival of an ambulance.

Fireman Toepfer went with the ambulance which arrived to take Howell to a hospital. As Ench was describing to Lieutenant Rentz what happened, he collapsed in the lieutenant's arms.

William H. Kilbourne, a retired Novato fire captain who lives at 519 Vera Cruz Avenue in the same mobile home park, assisted Rentz with efforts to resuscitate Ench until a second ambulance, called at midnight, arrived.

Howell was dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital. Ench died a few minutes after arriving at Novato General Hospital, at 12:25 a.m. yesterday. Definite cause of the deaths was to be established by the county coroner's office.

Howell retired in 1969 as business manager of San Quentin Prison after 28 years' service with the California Department of Corrections.

Born in Neligh, Neb., March 27, 1910, he grew up in Chino, Calif. He was a member of Chino Valley Lodge 427, Free and Accepted Masons, and of the Eastern Star in Chino, and of San Rafael Lodge 1108, Benevolent Protective Order of Elks, of which he had been secretary for four years.

He leaves his wife; a son and daughter, David L. Howell of San Francisco and Mrs. Cecily McEven of San Diego; a brother and two sisters, Melvin Howell of San Luis Obispo, Mrs. Elizabeth Sowers of Modesto, and Mrs. Joyce Hixon of Covelo, Mendocino County, and three grandchildren.

Ench was assistant superintendent of the mechanical and electrical division of Marin Municipal Water District. He formerly was vice president of Associated Dredging Co. in San Rafael.

Born in Oakland, he was graduated from Oakland High School and attended Sacramento City College. He had been a Marin resident since 1941. He was a member and past exalted ruler of San Rafael Lodge 1108 of Elks.

He leaves his wife, at the family home at 78 Biscayne Drive, San Rafael; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Ench of Sacramento; a son, Frank B. Ench III; three sisters, Mrs. Gail Rich of Corte Madera, Mrs. Vera Maroney of Millbrae, and Mrs. Jane Esterwood of Sacramento, and one grandchild.

Requiem Mass for Ench will be offered at 10 a.m. Wednesday at St. Raphael's Church, San Rafael, with the cortege forming at 9:30 a.m. at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

Funeral for Howell will be Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. at Keaton's Mortuary, followed by burial in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

Rosary will be recited for Ench at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the San Rafael Elks Club on Mission Avenue. Following the rosary, the Elks Lodge will hold memorial services for both Ench and Howell.

RUDOLPH CARLSON

Carlson died Friday at a local hospital after a short illness. He was a native of Golden, Colo., and moved to San Francisco at the age of 6.

Carlson had worked many years as a printer for Pernau-Walch Printing in San Francisco and was a member of the Western Graphic Arts Union, Local No. 14. He moved to Petaluma three years ago and lived at 1293 St. Francis Drive.

He is survived by his wife, Eleanor; two sons, Rudolph H. Carlson Jr. and Gregory C. Carlson, both of Petaluma; and a grandaughter.

MARTHA GRAFF

Mrs. Graff was born and reared in Germany, and moved to Petaluma in 1922. She and her husband, Earl L. Graff, had recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary.

She is also survived by a daughter, Ida Horn of Petaluma; two sons, Alvin Graff of Petaluma and Herbert Graff of Lafayette; two sisters, Bertha Hildebrand of Woodland and Hertha Stephens of San Francisco; nine grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

Funeral will be Wednesday at 2 p.m. at the Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma. Burial will be at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

RAYMOND MULLIS

Raymond Mullis, 28, of Petaluma, died yesterday at a local hospital from a gunshot wound suffered on Oct. 7.

The Marin County Coroner's Office said Mullis had suffered a self-inflicted gunshot wound of the head. Sonoma sheriff's deputies said Mullis was found injured at a friend's home at 260 Eucalyptus Avenue near Petaluma. He had reportedly been despondent over personal problems, and had injured himself twice before.

Mullis was a lifelong Petaluma resident and was a graduate of Petaluma High School and Sonoma State College. He had worked as a clerk at local food stores for 12 years.

Mullis was a member of the Assembly of God Church, Sebastopol, and the Retail Clerk's Union. He lived at 6 Tunzi Parkway.

He is survived by his wife, Ruth E. Mullis; two sons, Dean and Matthew Mullis; his parents, Raymond and Wilma Mullis; a sister, Cathryn Dabner, all of Petaluma; and a brother, Donald Mullis of Los Angeles.

Private graveside service will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Cypress Hill Memorial Park, Petaluma.

ARTHUR SHAPRIO

Private funeral for Arthur Shapiro, retired mechanic for the Koch and Sons luggage firm in Corte Madera, was held yesterday in San Francisco.

He died Thursday after a three-year illness in a San Francisco home for the aged. He was 70.

A longtime resident of San Rafael, he moved with his wife Bella to Marin 22 years ago from San Francisco, where he was reared. He was born in New Jersey.

The couple operated a dry cleaning store on Fourth Street in San Rafael for one year before he became an employee of the Corte Madera firm. For many years he worked for the Home Laundry Service in San Francisco.

He was a former member of Congregation Rodef Sholom in Santa Venetia and the Jewish Community Center of Marin.

In addition to his wife he is survived by a daughter, June Rubin of San Rafael; a son, Maurice Shapiro of Sacramento; two brothers, Abraham Shapiro of San Francisco, Herman Shapiro of San Mateo County, and three sisters, Edith Landsberg and Ann Nadler, both of San Francisco, and Mildred Wickman of Oakland.

Burial was in Eternal Home Cemetery in Colma.

The family prefers donations to the Jewish Community Center of Marin, Israeli Emergency Fund or to favorite charity.

PAUL MUNOZ

Requiem High Mass for Paul C. Munoz, brother of Julie Ahrens of Kentfield, will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at St. Kevin's Church, San Francisco.

Munoz, 61, died Saturday in a San Francisco hospital after a long illness.

He was born in San Francisco and lived all his life there.

Munoz, a mechanic, was a member of Operating Engineers Union, Local No. 3 of San Francisco. He also belonged to St. Kevin's Church.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at H. F. Suhr Co. in San Francisco. Entombment will be in the Italian Cemetery.

MARY FREY

Funeral was held today for Mary Helen Frey, 42, who died Saturday in a local hospital after a short illness.

She moved with her husband, a retired Air Force officer, Marvin G. Frey, and children to 1516 Hill Road, Novato, Aug. 31.

Mrs. Frey worked as an office manager for an inventory firm in Tucson, Ariz., before moving to Marin.

She was born and reared in Missouri.

She leaves her husband of 23 years; three sons, George Frey of Arizona, Terry D. Havorsen of Arizona and Gregory A. Frey of the family home; a daughter Jill D. Frey also of the family home, a sister, Pat Eklund of Novato, and four brothers, Gene and Donald Winter of Missouri, James Winter of Kansas and Clarence Winter of Colorado and two grandchildren.

A.F. CASILLAS

Funeral was held today for A.F. (Cas) Casillas of San Rafael who died Saturday in a Novato rest home after a lingering illness. He was 48.

He was a bartender in a San Rafael bar. Before that he worked for 14 years beginning in 1948 for the San Rafael Independent-Journal, for a time as assistant circulation manager.

A native of Superior, Ariz., he came with his parents to Marin County 44 years ago. He was a graduate of San Rafael High School.

Casillas was a past member of the Elk's Lodge of San Rafael.

He is survived by a daughter, Kathryn Casillas of San Anselmo; and three sons, Tom Casillas of San Rafael, Don Casillas of Tulare and Frank Casillas of Thousand Oaks, Ventura County and two sisters, Mary Peterson and Betty Dominguez both of San Rafael.

GUISEPPE COMPERTI

Funeral for Guiseppe Comperti, retired dairy worker, will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Sorensen Funeral Home in Petaluma.

Comperti, 79, died Saturday at a local hospital after a lengthy illness. He was born and reared in Italy and moved to Sonoma County 53 years ago.

He leaves no immediate survivors.

Burial will be at Calvary Cemetery.

NOVA SNYGG

Funeral for Nova C . Snygg of San Rafael, who died Friday after a long illness, will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael.

Mrs. Snygg, who had been ill a long time, was rushed to Marin General Hospital Friday evening, where she was dead on arrival.

She was born in Casper, Wyo. but came to Caifornia in 1943.

She was the wife of Edward Snygg, a San Francisco businessman. The family home is at 152 Peacock Drive.

Mrs. Snygg was active in several civic projects and was a member of the Sunny Hills Auxiliary, Peacock Garden Club and the Peacock Gap Country Club.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by a sister, Mrs. James O. White of San Marino.

Entombment will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

LOUIS MARGNETTI

Funeral arrangements were pending today for Louis Margnetti of Mill Valley, head chef at the Redwoods Retirement home in Mill Valley and once the owner-operator of Swiss Louis' Restaurant in San Francisco.

Margnetti, 67, of 7 Plymouth Avenue, was found lying face down in a creek behind his home at 3:45 p.m. Saturday. His body was discovered by a friend who told police he had been missing from the home for about an hour. An autopsy was planned.

A native of Switzerland, Margnetti came to the U.S. in his teens and settled in Modesto, where he was graduated from high school. In his youth, he worked as a ship's cook for steamship companies.

Following his retirement in 1964, he was chef at the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito from 1964 to 1966. He also worked as a chef at the Sausalito Inn and the Monte Rio resort on the Russian River before he was hired by the retirement home last December.

He was a resident of Marin for 10 years.

He leaves no immediate family.

MRS. STOESLING

Funeral arrangements for Irma K. Stoesling, an 11-year resident of Mill Valley, were pending today at Russell and Gooch funeral home in Mill Valley.

Mrs. Stoesling, 79, died Sunday at a local hospital. Coroner's deputies said she had fallen and broken her hip in August. Relatives said she had been ill for some time.

A native of San Francisco, Mrs. Stoesling, 79, had lived in Santa Rosa and Monrovia, Los Angeles County, as well as Mill Valley. She is the widow of Ludwig Stoesling, a civil engineer.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Hecht; Ingeborg Spangler of Corona Del Mar, Orange County; and Mrs. Ramona Wendel of Fair Oaks, Sacramento County, and nine grandsons.

JAMES P. BLAISDELL

I-J Special Report

SAN DIEGO — Former assistant postmaster general James P. Blaisdell, father of four Marin residents, died yesterday at home in Vista, San Diego County, after a long illness. He was 65.

He is survived by his wife, Norma; a daughter, Barbara Yeager of Corte Madera; three sons, James Blaisdell Jr., Timothy and John Blaisdell, all of Mill Valley, and a sister, Mary Harris.

Blaisdell was assistant postmaster general for employee and labor relations from 1970 until early this year, when he became a labor relations consultant to the postal service, according to a spokesman for the San Diego Post Office.

As chief negotiator for the postal service, he was the principal architect in 1971 of the first collective bargaining agreement between the service and seven postal unions representing 700,000 postal employees, according to the spokesman.

Postmaster General E. T. Klassen called Blaisdell's role in the negotiations as "without precedent in the history of American labor-management relations."

Blaisdell headed the San Francisco Distributors Association prior to World War II. During the war, he served as state director of the War Management Commission in Northern California.

He had also worked as president of the Hawaii Employees Council and as vice president in charge of the New Orleans Steamship Association.

He was a native of Twin Bridges, Mont., and attended Pomona College. He was a graduate of Harvard Law School.

Private family funeral will be held tomorrow. The family prefers contributions to the American Cancer Society.

THOMAS W. BARBOUR

Thomas W. Barbour, director of public relations for American Airlines in San Francisco for the past 19 years and longtime Mill Valley resident, died today at a San Francisco hospital following a brief illness.

Barbour, 56, was a native of California and a descendant of one of the first five families to settle in Solano County. This year he was elected as 84th president of the Society of California Pioneers.

He was also a longtime member of the Bohemian Club and San Francisco Press Club, a member of the Public Relations Roundtable of San Francisco and an accredited member of the Public Relations Society of America.

He had played football at Vallejo High School and later at College of Marin. In 1940 he received a bachelor's degree from the University of California at Berkeley.

After college graduation, he joined the Napa Register as general assignment reporter and sports editor and then left during World War II to enlist in the Army Air Corps as an aviation cadet. He served in the Pacific and returned at war's end as a major.

He was then a reporter for the Vallejo Times-Herald until 1946 when he became radio-news editor with the Associated Press in San Francisco. In 1947 he joined the American Broadcasting Co. in San Francisco as special events director and radio news editor.

He was recalled to active duty with the Air Force during the Korean War and served at Travis Air Force Base.

He was promoted to colonel in the Air Force Reserve in 1961. He had been commander of the San Francisco Air Force Association Squadron and organized the Air Force Reserve information flight in 1955.

In 1954 he joined American Airlines where he worked until the time of his death.

He had resided in Mill Valley for 27 years and at his death lived at 122 Sunnyside Avenue.

Survivors include his wife, Janet, of Mill Valley; two daughters, Mrs. Christine Titone of San Francisco and Suzannah Barbour of Mill Valley; a son, Thomas Campbell Barbour of Mill Valley, and two brothers, Loran Barbour of Sonoma and Robert Barbour of Vallejo.

Memorial service will be at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Mill Valley Community Church. The family has asked that contributions be made to the church in his memory.

Plan Contract To Be Discussed

Whether to contract with the county planning department for a new general plan for Belvedere will be discussed tonight by the city planning commission at 7:30 p.m. today at City Hall.

City Mgr. William L. Cavalli said that he would report on his discussions with county planning director Werner Von Gundell who had said the county staff might do the plan.

The planning commission and city council had decided already that the city staff cannot do the state-required plan because of its small size and were considering hiring a consulting firm for the job.

At first, women were allowed to sit only on top decks of buses, where "decency boards" hid ankles and petticoats.

No Decision On Curbing Of Growth

San Rafael Town Meeting participants found themselves undecided Saturday if or how the city could impose growth controls, even though many speakers through the daylong session called for such curbs.

Only one growth control resolution came to a vote at the day's end. It was rejected by a sparse 8-to-19 vote. It called for the city to impose a moratorium on all building except single-family dwellings, until the city's new general plan is adopted.

Participants were more decided on open space, voting 22-17 to ask the city council not to spend any open space bond money until a second citizens' open space committee is formed and completes a review of priorities and procedures for securing open space.

Of the 150 persons who signed up for the second annual town meeting, the audience dwindled to about 60 as the afternoon waned, and not all of those voted on the resolutions presented by the various workshops at the final summing-up session.

Growth control proposals such as restricting provision of utilities to new building projects didn't reach the resolution stage.

City Mgr. William J. Bielser argued against the open space resolution, countering criticism of "piecemeal" planning by saying Glenwood and Santa Margarita neighborhood residents are negotiating with the city to form special assessment districts, and Oak Hill has already formed one for open space projects.

The proposed new study and freeze on bond spending could thwart the neighborhood efforts, Bielser warned.

Other resolutions adopted urged the city council to finance an economic impact report on the proposed general plan, to study the use of "land banking" arrangements with developers to reserve choice sites for desired uses, and to study additional means of revitalizing downtown San Rafael.

The redevelopment workshop chaired by Bryce W. Anderson, Independent-Journal associate editor, recommended two-hour parking meters throughout downtown, a child care facility for shopping mothers, and a Fourth Street mall.

Final Rules For Cleanup Of Air Given

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Environmental Protection Agency today issued final air cleanup rules for Los Angeles and 16 other urban areas providing such things as free parking for car pool users, parking taxes on single-driver cars and free fares for mass trasit.

At the same time the agency all but scrapped previous proposals for gasoline rationing which, in the case of Los Angeles, would have banned all automobiles from the streets by 1977. EPA administrator Russell E. Train said the rationing approach had been dropped as a primary tool because the agency did not consider it reasonable and feared it would be too easy to evade.

The plans place heavy emphasis on techniques to change America's driving habits. Beginning next year in Los Angeles, for example, all public and private employers providing 700 or more parking spaces for their workers —70 in the central business district -will have to give free parking and preferential locations to car pool vehicles, and will have to pay bus fare for employes who elect to use public transit. Individual car drivers will have to pay surcharges to their employer in order to park the car they drive in alone.

Beginning next July 1 in Los Angeles, a 10-cent-an-hour surcharge will be placed on all commercial parking lots and almost all free parking places in central metropolitan areas of the Los Angeles region. The surcharge —half of which will go to pay for building mass transit systems will go up to 25 cents an hour by July 1, 1976.

Today's plans in addition to Los Angeles cover San Francisco, Boston, Dallas, Denver, San Diego, Sacramento, the San Joaquin Valley of California, Springfield, Mass., Portland, Ore., Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minn., Cincinnati, Ohio, and the Texas cities of Austin, Waco, San Antonio, Fort Worth, Houston-Galveston and El Paso-Las Cruces-Alamogorda, N. M.

OBITUARIES

Howell, Ench Succumb

A visit of two couples, longtime friends, ended in double tragedy Saturday midnight at a Novato home.

Elmer L. Howell, 63, of Novato, and Frank B. Ench Jr., 59, of San Rafael, collapsed and died within 30 minutes at conclusion of the evening visit at Howell's mobile home at 414 San Paulo Way. Both had histories of heart ailments.

Ench and his wife, Edith, had been guests during the evening of Howell and his wife, Lois. As they were leaving, Howell, bidding them goodbye from the top of the front steps, suddenly collapsed.

Ench returned to assist him. The Novato Fire Department was called at 11:30 p.m., and sent a resuscitator unit manned by Lt. John Rentz and Fireman Vern Toepfer, who worked with the victim until arrival of an ambulance.

Fireman Toepfer went with the ambulance which arrived to take Howell to a hospital. As Ench was describing to Lieutenant Rentz what happened, he collapsed in the lieutenant's arms.

William H. Kilbourne, a retired Novato fire captain who lives at 519 Vera Cruz Avenue in the same mobile home park, assisted Rentz with efforts to resuscitate Ench until a second ambulance, called at midnight, arrived.

Howell was dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital. Ench died a few minutes after arriving at Novato General Hospital, at 12:25 a.m. yesterday. Definite cause of the deaths was to be established by the county coroner's office.

Howell retired in 1969 as business manager of San Quentin Prison after 28 years' service with the California Department of Corrections.

Born in Neligh, Neb., March 27, 1910, he grew up in Chino, Calif. He was a member of Chino Valley Lodge 427, Free and Accepted Masons, and of the Eastern Star in Chino, and of San Rafael Lodge 1108, Benevolent Protective Order of Elks, of which he had been secretary for four years.

He leaves his wife; a son and daughter, David L. Howell of San Francisco and Mrs. Cecily McEven of San Diego; a brother and two sisters, Melvin Howell of San Luis Obispo, Mrs. Elizabeth Sowers of Modesto, and Mrs. Joyce Hixon of Covelo, Mendocino County, and three grandchildren.

Ench was assistant superintendent of the mechanical and electrical division of Marin Municipal Water District. He formerly was vice president of Associated Dredging Co. in San Rafael.

Born in Oakland, he was graduated from Oakland High School and attended Sacramento City College. He had been a Marin resident since 1941. He was a member and past exalted ruler of San Rafael Lodge 1108 of Elks.

He leaves his wife, at the family home at 78 Biscayne Drive, San Rafael; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Ench of Sacramento; a son, Frank B. Ench III; three sisters, Mrs. Gail Rich of Corte Madera, Mrs. Vera Maroney of Millbrae, and Mrs. Jane Esterwood of Sacramento, and one grandchild.

Requiem Mass for Ench will be offered at 10 a.m. Wednesday at St. Raphael's Church, San Rafael, with the cortege forming at 9:30 a.m. at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

Funeral for Howell will be Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. at Keaton's Mortuary, followed by burial in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

Rosary will be recited for Ench at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the San Rafael Elks Club on Mission Avenue. Following the rosary, the Elks Lodge will hold memorial services for both Ench and Howell.

RUDOLPH CARLSON

Carlson died Friday at a local hospital after a short illness. He was a native of Golden, Colo., and moved to San Francisco at the age of 6.

Carlson had worked many years as a printer for Pernau-Walch Printing in San Francisco and was a member of the Western Graphic Arts Union, Local No. 14. He moved to Petaluma three years ago and lived at 1293 St. Francis Drive.

He is survived by his wife, Eleanor; two sons, Rudolph H. Carlson Jr. and Gregory C. Carlson, both of Petaluma; and a grandaughter.

MARTHA GRAFF

Mrs. Graff was born and reared in Germany, and moved to Petaluma in 1922. She and her husband, Earl L. Graff, had recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary.

She is also survived by a daughter, Ida Horn of Petaluma; two sons, Alvin Graff of Petaluma and Herbert Graff of Lafayette; two sisters, Bertha Hildebrand of Woodland and Hertha Stephens of San Francisco; nine grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

Funeral will be Wednesday at 2 p.m. at the Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma. Burial will be at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

RAYMOND MULLIS

Raymond Mullis, 28, of Petaluma, died yesterday at a local hospital from a gunshot wound suffered on Oct. 7.

The Marin County Coroner's Office said Mullis had suffered a self-inflicted gunshot wound of the head. Sonoma sheriff's deputies said Mullis was found injured at a friend's home at 260 Eucalyptus Avenue near Petaluma. He had reportedly been despondent over personal problems, and had injured himself twice before.

Mullis was a lifelong Petaluma resident and was a graduate of Petaluma High School and Sonoma State College. He had worked as a clerk at local food stores for 12 years.

Mullis was a member of the Assembly of God Church, Sebastopol, and the Retail Clerk's Union. He lived at 6 Tunzi Parkway.

He is survived by his wife, Ruth E. Mullis; two sons, Dean and Matthew Mullis; his parents, Raymond and Wilma Mullis; a sister, Cathryn Dabner, all of Petaluma; and a brother, Donald Mullis of Los Angeles.

Private graveside service will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Cypress Hill Memorial Park, Petaluma.

ARTHUR SHAPRIO

Private funeral for Arthur Shapiro, retired mechanic for the Koch and Sons luggage firm in Corte Madera, was held yesterday in San Francisco.

He died Thursday after a three-year illness in a San Francisco home for the aged. He was 70.

A longtime resident of San Rafael, he moved with his wife Bella to Marin 22 years ago from San Francisco, where he was reared. He was born in New Jersey.

The couple operated a dry cleaning store on Fourth Street in San Rafael for one year before he became an employee of the Corte Madera firm. For many years he worked for the Home Laundry Service in San Francisco.

He was a former member of Congregation Rodef Sholom in Santa Venetia and the Jewish Community Center of Marin.

In addition to his wife he is survived by a daughter, June Rubin of San Rafael; a son, Maurice Shapiro of Sacramento; two brothers, Abraham Shapiro of San Francisco, Herman Shapiro of San Mateo County, and three sisters, Edith Landsberg and Ann Nadler, both of San Francisco, and Mildred Wickman of Oakland.

Burial was in Eternal Home Cemetery in Colma.

The family prefers donations to the Jewish Community Center of Marin, Israeli Emergency Fund or to favorite charity.

PAUL MUNOZ

Requiem High Mass for Paul C. Munoz, brother of Julie Ahrens of Kentfield, will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at St. Kevin's Church, San Francisco.

Munoz, 61, died Saturday in a San Francisco hospital after a long illness.

He was born in San Francisco and lived all his life there.

Munoz, a mechanic, was a member of Operating Engineers Union, Local No. 3 of San Francisco. He also belonged to St. Kevin's Church.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at H. F. Suhr Co. in San Francisco. Entombment will be in the Italian Cemetery.

MARY FREY

Funeral was held today for Mary Helen Frey, 42, who died Saturday in a local hospital after a short illness.

She moved with her husband, a retired Air Force officer, Marvin G. Frey, and children to 1516 Hill Road, Novato, Aug. 31.

Mrs. Frey worked as an office manager for an inventory firm in Tucson, Ariz., before moving to Marin.

She was born and reared in Missouri.

She leaves her husband of 23 years; three sons, George Frey of Arizona, Terry D. Havorsen of Arizona and Gregory A. Frey of the family home; a daughter Jill D. Frey also of the family home, a sister, Pat Eklund of Novato, and four brothers, Gene and Donald Winter of Missouri, James Winter of Kansas and Clarence Winter of Colorado and two grandchildren.

A.F. CASILLAS

Funeral was held today for A.F. (Cas) Casillas of San Rafael who died Saturday in a Novato rest home after a lingering illness. He was 48.

He was a bartender in a San Rafael bar. Before that he worked for 14 years beginning in 1948 for the San Rafael Independent-Journal, for a time as assistant circulation manager.

A native of Superior, Ariz., he came with his parents to Marin County 44 years ago. He was a graduate of San Rafael High School.

Casillas was a past member of the Elk's Lodge of San Rafael.

He is survived by a daughter, Kathryn Casillas of San Anselmo; and three sons, Tom Casillas of San Rafael, Don Casillas of Tulare and Frank Casillas of Thousand Oaks, Ventura County and two sisters, Mary Peterson and Betty Dominguez both of San Rafael.

GUISEPPE COMPERTI

Funeral for Guiseppe Comperti, retired dairy worker, will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Sorensen Funeral Home in Petaluma.

Comperti, 79, died Saturday at a local hospital after a lengthy illness. He was born and reared in Italy and moved to Sonoma County 53 years ago.

He leaves no immediate survivors.

Burial will be at Calvary Cemetery.

NOVA SNYGG

Funeral for Nova C. Snygg of San Rafael, who died Friday after a long illness, will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael.

Mrs. Snygg, who had been ill a long time, was rushed to Marin General Hospital Friday evening, where she was dead on arrival.

She was born in Casper, Wyo. but came to Caifornia in 1943.

She was the wife of Edward Snygg, a San Francisco businessman. The family home is at 152 Peacock Drive.

Mrs. Snygg was active in several civic projects and was a member of the Sunny Hills Auxiliary, Peacock Garden Club and the Peacock Gap Country Club.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by a sister, Mrs. James O. White of San Marino.

Entombment will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

LOUIS MARGNETTI

Funeral arrangements were pending today for Louis Margnetti of Mill Valley, head chef at the Redwoods Retirement home in Mill Valley and once the owner-operator of Swiss Louis' Restaurant in San Francisco.

Margnetti, 67, of 7 Plymouth Avenue, was found lying face down in a creek behind his home at 3:45 p.m. Saturday. His body was discovered by a friend who told police he had been missing from the home for about an hour. An autopsy was planned.

A native of Switzerland, Margnetti came to the U.S. in his teens and settled in Modesto, where he was graduated from high school. In his youth, he worked as a ship's cook for steamship companies.

Following his retirement in 1964, he was chef at the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito from 1964 to 1966. He also worked as a chef at the Sausalito Inn and the Monte Rio resort on the Russian River before he was hired by the retirement home last December.

He was a resident of Marin for 10 years.

He leaves no immediate family.

MRS. STOESLING

Funeral arrangements for Irma K. Stoesling, an 11-year resident of Mill Valley, were pending today at Russell and Gooch funeral home in Mill Valley.

Mrs. Stoesling, 79, died Sunday at a local hospital. Coroner's deputies said she had fallen and broken her hip in August. Relatives said she had been ill for some time.

A native of San Francisco, Mrs. Stoesling, 79, had lived in Santa Rosa and Monrovia, Los Angeles County, as well as Mill Valley. She is the widow of Ludwig Stoesling, a civil engineer.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Hecht; Ingeborg Spangler of Corona Del Mar, Orange County; and Mrs. Ramona Wendel of Fair Oaks, Sacramento County, and nine grandsons.

JAMES P. BLAISDELL

I-J Special Report

SAN DIEGO — Former assistant postmaster general James P. Blaisdell, father of four Marin residents, died yesterday at home in Vista, San Diego County, after a long illness. He was 65.

He is survived by his wife, Norma; a daughter, Barbara Yeager of Corte Madera; three sons, James Blaisdell Jr., Timothy and John Blaisdell, all of Mill Valley, and a sister, Mary Harris.

Blaisdell was assistant postmaster general for employee and labor relations from 1970 until early this year, when he became a labor relations consultant to the postal service, according to a spokesman for the San Diego Post Office.

As chief negotiator for the postal service, he was the principal architect in 1971 of the first collective bargaining agreement between the service and seven postal unions representing 700,000 postal employees, according to the spokesman.

Postmaster General E. T. Klassen called Blaisdell's role in the negotiations as "without precedent in the history of American labor-management relations."

Blaisdell headed the San Francisco Distributors Association prior to World War II. During the war, he served as state director of the War Management Commission in Northern California.

He had also worked as president of the Hawaii Employees Council and as vice president in charge of the New Orleans Steamship Association.

He was a native of Twin Bridges, Mont., and attended Pomona College. He was a graduate of Harvard Law School.

Private family funeral will be held tomorrow. The family prefers contributions to the American Cancer Society.

THOMAS W. BARBOUR

Thomas W. Barbour, director of public relations for American Airlines in San Francisco for the past 19 years and longtime Mill Valley resident, died today at a San Francisco hospital following a brief illness.

Barbour, 56, was a native of California and a descendant of one of the first five families to settle in Solano County. This year he was elected as 84th president of the Society of California Pioneers.

He was also a longtime member of the Bohemian Club and San Francisco Press Club, a member of the Public Relations Roundtable of San Francisco and an accredited member of the Public Relations Society of America.

He had played football at Vallejo High School and later at College of Marin. In 1940 he received a bachelor's degree from the University of California at Berkeley.

After college graduation, he joined the Napa Register as general assignment reporter and sports editor and then left during World War II to enlist in the Army Air Corps as an aviation cadet. He served in the Pacific and returned at war's end as a major.

He was then a reporter for the Vallejo Times-Herald until 1946 when he became radio-news editor with the Associated Press in San Francisco. In 1947 he joined the American Broadcasting Co. in San Francisco as special events director and radio news editor.

He was recalled to active duty with the Air Force during the Korean War and served at Travis Air Force Base.

He was promoted to colonel in the Air Force Reserve in 1961. He had been commander of the San Francisco Air Force Association Squadron and organized the Air Force Reserve information flight in 1955.

In 1954 he joined American Airlines where he worked until the time of his death.

He had resided in Mill Valley for 27 years and at his death lived at 122 Sunnyside Avenue.

Survivors include his wife, Janet, of Mill Valley; two daughters, Mrs. Christine Titone of San Francisco and Suzannah Barbour of Mill Valley; a son, Thomas Campbell Barbour of Mill Valley, and two brothers, Loran Barbour of Sonoma and Robert Barbour of Vallejo.

Memorial service will be at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Mill Valley Community Church. The family has asked that contributions be made to the church in his memory.

Plan Contract To Be Discussed

Whether to contract with the county planning department for a new general plan for Belvedere will be discussed tonight by the city planning commission at 7:30 p.m. today at City Hall.

City Mgr. William L. Cavalli said that he would report on his discussions with county planning director Werner Von Gundell who had said the county staff might do the plan.

The planning commission and city council had decided already that the city staff cannot do the state-required plan because of its small size and were considering hiring a consulting firm for the job.

At first, women were allowed to sit only on top decks of buses, where "decency boards" hid ankles and petticoats.

Tivoli Gardens — Fun For All

By JUNE GOODWIN

The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

The good Danish king said, why yes, what a good idea — and thus Tivoli, the great-granddaddy of all amusement parks, was built near Copenhagen in 1843 to keep the people from thinking about politics too much.

Still today the people come to frolic. From all over the world at the rate of about 35,000 a day they come from May 1 to mid-September.

They ride the loopdeeloops, stroll in the garden, eat in the 20 restaurants, listen to concerts, go to the theater and above all, they people-watch.

The man who thought of it all was Georg Carstensen, a Dane influenced by the exotic scenes of his childhood in Algiers. He obtained a five-year charter from King Christian VIII to build a park on a site that was then outside the city.

In only 2½ months his concoction was ready. Around 3,000 people came the first day, but in a week the word had spread and the number was up to 16,000 of Copenhagen's 120,000 population.

Now the world is full of amusement parks — some of them faster, giddier, perhaps more mechanically modern and marvelous. But word of Tivoli keeps spreading — occasionally on fat balloons such as those in these photographs.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Why do some issues trade at 40 or 50 times earnings when so many good stocks sell at 8 or 9 times? — A.O.

A. This dichotomy, which has become more sharply delineated in the past 18 months, has been dubbed a "two-tier market." Of the 1,500 or so NYSE-listed common stocks 45 per cent command a multiple of under 10 times, whereas a select group of 100 stocks (7 per cent) trade at over 30 times profits. Furthermore, about 25 of the high-multiple issues do not really qualify for the elite status. In these cases, collapsing earnings combined with a support level for share price produce the high P/E ratio, which is more truly reflective of the company's asset value than of current earning power.

The large pension funds, banks and insurance companies have been cited as the perpetrators of the two-tier market, since the bulk of their holdings are in the high-multiple group. The justification for this exclusiveness among money managers is that as a whole these issues have sufficient liquidity to absorb block transactions without major share price disruption.

However, this theory was undermined recently when the Telex-IBM court decision was announced. The most important common factor in the premium-price group is an above-average growth rate. In fact, the 75 issues as a group have an average growth rate of 21 per cent annually over the last five years, whereas in the low-multiple stocks, a negative rate or less than 5 per cent growth annually is common.

Within the favored group, a preponderance of the companies are engaged in selling a product or a service to the public. These are items which people buy repeatedly such as cosmetics, films, auto parts and beverages or services of the same nature — fast foods, motel accommodations, etc. Securities of health-related, electronic/science and natural resource companies are also heavily represented in the premium market tier. As a whole these issues have fared poorly recently with two-thirds trading below their 1973 highs, which may signal the end of two tiers.

Dividend Set

LOS ANGELES — Security Pacific Corp. has declared a regular quarterly dividend of $0.35 per share on its 20,116,306 common shares outstanding. The third quarter dividend will be payable Nov. 5, 1973, to stockholders of record Oct. 19, 1973.

Security Pacific Corporation is the parent of Security Pacific National Bank.

1974 VW WAGON

Versatility is a big feature of the new VW 412 wagon. It can be a sedan with reclining front seats or a roomy cargo mover with the rear seat back folded. Aluminum bumpers, a bigger engine and broader warranty coverage are new for 1974. Marin dealer is Leon C. Felton Volkswagen in San Rafael.

NEW CORVETTE

America's only true production sports car celebrates its 22nd year on the highway with new styling which features a body-colored "soft" rear bumper system and an optional "Gymkhana" performance package for the sportsman desiring both road event competition and street use. Available in coupe and convertible models, the 1974 Corvette offers both four-speed manual and Turbo Hydra-Matic transmissions. Marin Chevrolet dealers are De Long in San Rafael, Campbell-Bishop in Corte Madera, Cheda in Point Reyes Station, and Empire in Novato.

Wave Of Profit Taking Sends Stocks Tumbling

NEW YORK (UPI) —A wave of profit taking, touched off by word the federal reserve was adhering to its tight money stance, sent stocks sharply lower today on the New York Stock Exchange in moderate trading.

Noon volume came to more than 7,000,000 shares, lower than the 11,580,000 traded at the same time Friday. Analysts find it encouraging that profit-taking during the current market upsurge has usually been accompanied by a decrease in turnover.

Over the weekend, Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur Burns put a damper on Wall Street's hopes for a change in the fed's tight money policies. He told a news conference his agency's policies "haven't undergone any significant change" in recent weeks. That statement, coupled with continued concern over the Middle East war, probably led to today's seeling wave, analysts said.

D-Lynne's Capezio Dancewear To Supply All Dancing Needs

A new shop to supply the needs of ballet, jazz, tap and acrobatic dancers will open Nov. 1 at 1435 Fourth Street, San Rafael, in the Redwood Bank Building across the street from Jeans West.

Called D-Lynne's Capezio Dancewear, it is owned by Jean Hedquist of Marinwood. She named the shop after her daughter, Deborah Lynne, who is a ballerina with the National Academy of Dance in Champaign, Ill.

D-Lynne's Capezio will carry Capezio costumes and equipment, the world-famous Italian line; Danskin tights and leotards; tote bags, hair things and theatrical makeup.

An avid ballet fan, Mrs. Hedquist is well known in Bay Area ballet circles. She was vice president of Pacific Ballet Guild in San Francisco for two years; was active in the women's Dental Auxiliary in Marin, and secretary to the Home and School Club in the Dixie School District for two years. Mrs. Hedquist is now a member of Stanford Auxiliary to Children's Hospital and Marin Youth and Arts.

D-Lynne's Capezio Dancewear is the first store in Marin to supply all needs for tap, jazz, acrobatic and ballet dancing.

ROBERT SIEGEL of San Rafael has been named director of marketing in the Panatela Sportswear Division of Levi Strauss & Co., San Francisco. He will be responsible for the division's merchandising, sales and advertising.

Siegel, 36, joined Levi's as a salesman in Memphis in 1964 after five years as a buyer with Maas department stores in Florida. He became an account executive in Chicago in 1967, district sales manager in the San Francisco region in 1969, West Coast regional sales manager for the new Panatela division in 1970, and its first national sales manager in 1971.

Siegel

Sutter

REALTORS BREAKFAST — Arthur H. Sutter, senior vice president of the Security National Bank in Walnut Creek, will be guest speaker at tomorrow's breakfast meeting of the Marin County Board of Realtors. The breakfast will start at 8 a.m. in the Corte Madera Lions Club.

Program chairman David Sheldon said Sutter will speak on: "How To Increase Your Sales by 40 Per Cent in a Tight Money Market."

ELEPHANT WALK INC., a new pet shop specializing in birds, opened today at 2232 Fourth Street, on the Miracle Mile in San Rafael, next to Criss Cross gallery and Dogs Elite.

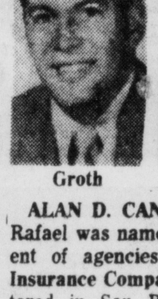
Owners of the new pet store are Lester D. May and Arthur G. Thomson of San Rafael. Birds and bird care have been hobbies with May for most of his 31 years. Thomson owned the Marina Pet Shop in San Francisco for about 20 years until he sold it two years ago.

ELEPHANT WALK carries a full line of pet supplies, bird cages, and all types of birds including the Moluccan cockatoo, Greater Sulphur (a blue-eyed parrot type with a seven-inch crest), a green wing macaw, chattering lory, African grey, and many others. Among animals at the shop is a baby mountain lion, Maltese puppies and Persion kittens.

Elephant Walk is open six days a week from about 9 a.m. to about 6 or 6:30 p.m.

JOHN D. GROTH of San Rafael has been appointed sales representative for the San Leandro terminal of the ONC Freight Systems division of ROCOR International. ROCOR, based in Palo Alto, is an integrated transportation group serving the West, Southwest and Midwest.

Groth was formerly a sales representative for Tyler Consolidators Inc.



Groth

Canfield

ALAN D. CANFIELD of San Rafael was named superintendent of agencies for Standard Insurance Company. Headquartered in San Rafael, he will assist in the sales management of Standard agencies in California and Arizona, offering life and health insurance to groups and individuals.

BEER AND WINE is now being offered at Cafe Au Lait, the espresso place which opened three months ago at 874 College Avenue in Kentfield, across the street from College of Marin.

Owned and operated by David Ganapoler, formerly with the Trident, Cafe Au Lait features espresso drinks, cappuccino, mocha, fruit and green salads, hamburgers and sprouts. It is open from 9 a.m. to 11 p.m. Monday through Friday, and from 6 p.m. to 11 p.m. Saturdays. Ganapoler is experimenting with music on Monday nights.

ISI INC., International truck dealer in San Rafael, won the "Five Star Award" from International Harvester's Truck Division for meritorious service performance. The award is based on service capabilities and willingness to respond to customer requests and complaints.

DAVID M. LONG of Long & Associates, a San Rafael firm providing management accounting and financial counseling to businesses in the Bay Area, announced a new staff member. She is Rose Marie Cacioppo, who has an accounting background in business management.

RUPERT L. JERNIGAN Realtor Associates of Tiburon announced the addition of two members to the sales staff:

Genny Chapman, a nine-year resident of Tiburon, will service property in that area as well as countywide. Helen Franzel of Belvedere Lagoon will specialize in sales and rentals in Belvedere.

GABE ANGELL of Tiburon and ROBERT C. CARD of San Rafael, representatives of the William W. Ryan San Francisco general agency of National Life Insurance Company of Vermont, won membership in the firm's 1973 President's Club. In recognition of outstanding client services and sales records, they earned eligibility for the Club's educational conference in Acapulco.

MACKES SPORTSWEAR at 26 El Portal in Sausalito changed hands last month, but the same name and services are being continued under the new owners, Bernat and Lydia Weiner of Sausalito.

They bought the shop from Leroy Mackes of Santa Rosa, who had operated it for about 10 years. The Weiners were in the clothing business in Chile for about 27 years and came to California in 1970. Weiner managed a sheepskin coat factory in Napa until he bought Mackes Sportswear.

Mackes carries sports clothing for both men and women and features new imports such as ponchos and wool art from South America and handknits from Ireland. The new owners also plan to add imports from Spain and Italy.

FRANCISCO DODGE in San Rafael is participating this month in a national program called WOW, which is designed to aid Women on Wheels in their knowledge of cars, car troubles and repairs.

The WOW program, implemented through the Chrysler Motors Corporation dealership network in the United States, includes four weekly sessions of two hours each, carried out in specially prepared sections of the dealership's service department.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Why do some issues trade at 40 or 50 times earnings when so many good stocks sell at 8 or 9 times? — A.O.

A. This dichotomy, which has become more sharply delineated in the past 18 months, has been dubbed a "two-tier market." Of the 1,500 or so NYSE-listed common stocks 45 per cent command a multiple of under 10 times, whereas a select group of 100 stocks (7 per cent) trade at over 30 times profits. Furthermore, about 25 of the high-multiple issues do not really qualify for the elite status. In these cases, collapsing earnings combined with a support level for share price produce the high P/E ratio, which is more truly reflective of the company's asset value than of current earning power.

The large pension funds, banks and insurance companies have been cited as the perpetrators of the two-tier market, since the bulk of their holdings are in the high-multiple group. The justification for this exclusiveness among money managers is that as a whole these issues have sufficient liquidity to absorb block transactions without major share price disruption.

However, this theory was undermined recently when the Telex-IBM court decision was announced. The most important common factor in the premium-price group is an above-average growth rate. In fact, the 75 issues as a group have an average growth rate of 21 per cent annually over the last five years, whereas in the low-multiple stocks, a negative rate or less than 5 per cent growth annually is common.

Within the favored group, a preponderance of the companies are engaged in selling a product or a service to the public. These are items which people buy repeatedly such as cosmetics, films, auto parts and beverages or services of the same nature — fast foods, motel accommodations, etc. Securities of health-related, electronic/science and natural resource companies are also heavily represented in the premium market tier. As a whole these issues have fared poorly recently with two-thirds trading below their 1973 highs, which may signal the end of two tiers.

Dividend Set

LOS ANGELES — Security Pacific Corp. has declared a regular quarterly dividend of $0.35 per share on its 20,116,306 common shares outstanding. The third quarter dividend will be payable Nov. 5, 1973, to stockholders of record Oct. 19, 1973.

Security Pacific Corporation is the parent of Security Pacific National Bank.

1974 VW WAGON

Versatility is a big feature of the new VW 412 wagon. It can be a sedan with reclining front seats or a roomy cargo mover with the rear seat back folded. Aluminum bumpers, a bigger engine and broader warranty coverage are new for 1974. Marin dealer is Leon C. Felton Volkswagen in San Rafael.

NEW CORVETTE

America's only true production sports car celebrates its 22nd year on the highway with new styling which features a body-colored "soft" rear bumper system and an optional "Gymkhana" performance package for the sportsman desiring both road event competition and street use. Available in coupe and convertible models, the 1974 Corvette offers both four-speed manual and Turbo Hydra-Matic transmissions. Marin Chevrolet dealers are De Long in San Rafael, Campbell-Bishop in Corte Madera, Cheda in Point Reyes Station, and Empire in Novato.

Wave Of Profit Taking Sends Stocks Tumbling

NEW YORK (UPI) —A wave of profit taking, touched off by word the federal reserve was adhering to its tight money stance, sent stocks sharply lower today on the New York Stock Exchange in moderate trading.

Noon volume came to more than 7,000,000 shares, lower than the 11,580,000 traded at the same time Friday. Analysts find it encouraging that profittaking during the current market upsurge has usually been accompanied by a decrease in turnover.

Over the weekend, Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur Burns put a damper on Wall Street's hopes for a change in the fed's tight money policies. He told a news conference his agency's policies "haven't undergone any significant change" in recent weeks. That statement, coupled with continued concern over the Middle East war, probably led to today's seeling wave, analysts said.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By WAT TAKESHITA

D-Lynne's Capezio Dancewear To Supply All Dancing Needs

A new shop to supply the needs of ballet, jazz, tap and acrobatic dancers will open Nov. 1 at 1435 Fourth Street, San Rafael, in the Redwood Bank Building across the street from Jeans West.

Called D-Lynne's Capezio Dancewear, it is owned by Jean Hedquist of Marinwood. She named the shop after her daughter, Deborah Lynne, who is a ballerina with the National Academy of Dance in Champaign, Ill.

D-Lynne's Capezio will carry Capezio costumes and equipment, the world-famous Italian line; Danskin tights and leotards; tote bags, hair things and theatrical makeup.

An avid ballet fan, Mrs. Hedquist is well known in Bay Area ballet circles. She was vice president of Pacific Ballet Guild in San Francisco for two years; was active in the women's Dental Auxiliary in Marin, and secretary to the Home and School Club in the Dixie School District for two years. Mrs. Hedquist is now a member of Stanford Auxiliary to Children's Hospital and Marin Youth and Arts.

D-Lynne's Capezio Dancewear is the first store in Marin to supply all needs for tap, jazz, acrobatic and ballet dancing.

ROBERT SIEGEL of San Rafael has been named director of marketing in the Panatela Sportswear Division of Levi Strauss & Co., San Francisco. He will be responsible for the division's merchandising, sales and advertising.

Siegel, 36, joined Levi's as a salesman in Memphis in 1964 after five years as a buyer with Maas department stores in Florida. He became an account executive in Chicago in 1967, district sales manager in the San Francisco region in 1969, West Coast regional sales manager for the new Panatela division in 1970, and its first national sales manager in 1971.

Sutter

REALTORS BREAKFAST — Arthur H. Sutter, senior vice president of the Security National Bank in Walnut Creek, will be guest speaker at tomorrow's breakfast meeting of the Marin County Board of Realtors. The breakfast will start at 8 a.m. in the Corte Madera Lions Club.

Program chairman David Sheldon said Sutter will speak on: "How To Increase Your Sales by 40 Per Cent in a Tight Money Market."

ELEPHANT WALK INC., a new pet shop specializing in birds, opened today at 2232 Fourth Street, on the Miracle Mile in San Rafael, next to Criss Cross gallery and Dogs Elite.

Owners of the new pet store are Lester D. May and Arthur G. Thomson of San Rafael. Birds and bird care have been hobbies with May for most of his 31 years. Thomson owned the Marina Pet Shop in San Francisco for about 20 years until he sold it two years ago.

ELEPHANT WALK carries a full line of pet supplies, bird cages, and all types of birds including the Moluccan cockatoo, Greater Sulphur (a blue-eyed parrot type with a seven-inch crest), a green wing macaw, chattering lory, African grey, and many others. Among animals at the shop is a baby mountain lion, Maltese puppies and Persion kittens.

Elephant Walk is open six days a week from about 9 a.m. to about 6 or 6:30 p.m.

JOHN D. GROTH of San Rafael has been appointed sales representative for the San Leandro terminal of the ONC Freight Systems division of ROCOR International. ROCOR, based in Palo Alto, is an integrated transportation group serving the West, Southwest and Midwest.

Groth was formerly a sales representative for Tyler Consolidators Inc.

Canfield

ALAN D. CANFIELD of San Rafael was named superintendent of agencies for Standard Insurance Company. Headquartered in San Rafael, he will assist in the sales management of Standard agencies in California and Arizona, offering life and health insurance to groups and individuals.

BEER AND WINE is now being offered at Cafe Au Lait, the espresso place which opened three months ago at 874 College Avenue in Kentfield, across the street from College of Marin.

Owned and operated by David Ganapoler, formerly with the Trident, Cafe Au Lait features espresso drinks, cappuccino, mocha, fruit and green salads, hamburgers and sprouts. It is open from 9 a.m. to 11 p.m. Monday through Friday, and from 6 p.m. to 11 p.m. Saturdays. Ganapoler is experimenting with music on Monday nights.

ISI INC., International truck dealer in San Rafael, won the "Five Star Award" from International Harvester's Truck Division for meritorious service performance. The award is based on service capabilities and willingness to respond to customer requests and complaints.

DAVID M. LONG of Long & Associates, a San Rafael firm providing management accounting and financial counseling to businesses in the Bay Area, announced a new staff member. She is Rose Marie Cacioppo, who has an accounting background in business management.

Genny Chapman, a nine-year resident of Tiburon, will service property in that area as well as countywide. Helen Franzel of Belvedere Lagoon will specialize in sales and rentals in Belvedere.

GABE ANGELL of Tiburon and ROBERT C. CARD of San Rafael, representatives of the William W. Ryan San Francisco general agency of National Life Insurance Company of Vermont, won membership in the firm's 1973 President's Club. In recognition of outstanding client services and sales records, they earned eligibility for the Club's educational conference in Acapulco.

MACKES SPORTSWEAR at 26 El Portal in Sausalito changed hands last month, but the same name and services are being continued under the new owners, Bernat and Lydia Weiner of Sausalito.

They bought the shop from Leroy Mackes of Santa Rosa, who had operated it for about 10 years. The Weiners were in the clothing business in Chile for about 27 years and came to California in 1970. Weiner managed a sheepskin coat factory in Napa until he bought Mackes Sportswear.

Mackes carries sports clothing for both men and women and features new imports such as ponchos and wool art from South America and handknits from Ireland. The new owners also plan to add imports from Spain and Italy.

FRANCISCO DODGE in San Rafael is participating this month in a national program called WOW, which is designed to aid Women on Wheels in their knowledge of cars, car troubles and repairs.

The WOW program, implemented through the Chrysler Motors Corporation dealership network in the United States, includes four weekly sessions of two hours each, carried out in specially prepared sections of the dealership's service department.

Tivoli Gardens — Fun For All

By JUNE GOODWIN

The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

The good Danish king said, why yes, what a good idea — and thus Tivoli, the great-granddaddy of all amusement parks, was built near Copenhagen in 1843 to keep the people from thinking about politics too much.

Still today the people come to frolic. From all over the world at the rate of about 35,000 a day they come from May 1 to mid-September.

They ride the loopdeeloops, stroll in the garden, eat in the 20 restaurants, listen to concerts, go to the theater and above all, they people-watch.

The man who thought of it all was Georg Carstensen, a Dane influenced by the exotic scenes of his childhood in Algiers. He obtained a five-year charter from King Christian VIII to build a park on a site that was then outside the city.

In only 2½ months his concoction was ready. Around 3,000 people came the first day, but in a week the word had spread and the number was up to 16,000 of Copenhagen's 120,000 population.

Now the world is full of amusement parks — some of them faster, giddier, perhaps more mechanically modern and marvelous. But word of Tivoli keeps spreading — occasionally on fat balloons such as those in these photographs.

Price To Earnings Ratios Explained

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Why do some issues trade at 40 or 50 times earnings when so many good stocks sell at 8 or 9 times? — A.O.

A. This dichotomy, which has become more sharply delineated in the past 18 months, has been dubbed a "two-tier market." Of the 1,500 or so NYSE-listed common stocks 45 per cent command a multiple of under 10 times, whereas a select group of 100 stocks (7 per cent) trade at over 30 times profits. Furthermore, about 25 of the high-multiple issues do not really qualify for the elite status. In these cases, collapsing earnings combined with a support level for share price produce the high P/E ratio, which is more truly reflective of the company's asset value than of current earning power.

The large pension funds, banks and insurance companies have been cited as the perpetrators of the two-tier market, since the bulk of their holdings are in the high-multiple group. The justification for this exclusiveness among money managers is that as a whole these issues have sufficient liquidity to absorb block transactions without major share price disruption.

However, this theory was undermined recently when the Telex-IBM court decision was announced. The most important common factor in the premium-price group is an above-average growth rate. In fact, the 75 issues as a group have an average growth rate of 21 per cent annually over the last five years, whereas in the low-multiple stocks, a negative rate or less than 5 per cent growth annually is common.

Within the favored group, a preponderance of the companies are engaged in selling a product or a service to the public. These are items which people buy repeatedly such as cosmetics, films, auto parts and beverages or services of the same nature — fast foods, motel accommodations, etc. Securities of health-related, electronic/science and natural resource companies are also heavily represented in the premium market tier. As a whole these issues have fared poorly recently with two-thirds trading below their 1973 highs, which may signal the end of two tiers.

1974 VW WAGON

Versatility is a big feature of the new VW 412 wagon. It can be a sedan with reclining front seats or a roomy cargo mover with the rear seat back folded. Aluminum bumpers, a bigger engine and broader warranty coverage are new for 1974. Marin dealer is Leon C. Felton Volkswagen in San Rafael.

NEW CORVETTE

America's only true production sports car celebrates its 22nd year on the highway with new styling which features a body-colored "soft" rear bumper system and an optional "Gymkhana" performance package for the sportsman desiring both road event competition and street use. Available in coupe and convertible models, the 1974 Corvette offers both four-speed manual and Turbo Hydra-Matic transmissions. Marin Chevrolet dealers are De Long in San Rafael, Campbell-Bishop in Corte Madera, Cheda in Point Reyes Station, and Empire in Novato.

Wave Of Profit Taking Sends Stocks Tumbling

NEW YORK (UPI) —A wave of profit taking, touched off by word the federal reserve was adhering to its tight money stance, sent stocks sharply lower today on the New York Stock Exchange in moderate trading.

Noon volume came to more than 7,000,000 shares, lower than the 11,580,000 traded at the same time Friday. Analysts find it encouraging that profit-taking during the current market upsurge has usually been accompanied by a decrease in turnover.

Over the weekend, Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur Burns put a damper on Wall Street's hopes for a change in the fed's tight money policies. He told a news conference his agency's policies "haven't undergone any significant change" in recent weeks. That statement, coupled with continued concern over the Middle East war, probably led to today's seeling wave, analysts said.

D-Lynne's Capezio Dancewear To Supply All Dancing Needs

A new shop to supply the needs of ballet, jazz, tap and acrobatic dancers will open Nov. 1 at 1435 Fourth Street, San Rafael, in the Redwood Bank Building across the street from Jeans West.

Called D-Lynne's Capezio Dancewear, it is owned by Jean Hedquist of Marinwood. She named the shop after her daughter, Deborah Lynne, who is a ballerina with the National Academy of Dance in Champaign, Ill.

D-Lynne's Capezio will carry Capezio costumes and equipment, the world-famous Italian line; Danskin tights and leotards; tote bags, hair things and theatrical makeup.

An avid ballet fan, Mrs. Hedquist is well known in Bay Area ballet circles. She was vice president of Pacific Ballet Guild in San Francisco for two years; was active in the women's Dental Auxiliary in Marin, and secretary to the Home and School Club in the Dixie School District for two years. Mrs. Hedquist is now a member of Stanford Auxiliary to Children's Hospital and Marin Youth and Arts.

D-Lynne's Capezio Dancewear is the first store in Marin to supply all needs for tap, jazz, acrobatic and ballet dancing.

ROBERT SIEGEL of San Rafael has been named director of marketing in the Panatela Sportswear Division of Levi Strauss & Co., San Francisco. He will be responsible for the division's merchandising, sales and advertising.

Siegel, 36, joined Levi's as a salesman in Memphis in 1964 after five years as a buyer with Maas department stores in Florida. He became an account executive in Chicago in 1967, district sales manager in the San Francisco region in 1969, West Coast regional sales manager for the new Panatela division in 1970, and its first national sales manager in 1971.

Sutter

REALTORS BREAKFAST — Arthur H. Sutter, senior vice president of the Security National Bank in Walnut Creek, will be guest speaker at tomorrow's breakfast meeting of the Marin County Board of Realtors. The breakfast will start at 8 a.m. in the Corte Madera Lions Club.

Program chairman David Sheldon said Sutter will speak on: "How To Increase Your Sales by 40 Per Cent in a Tight Money Market."

ELEPHANT WALK INC., a new pet shop specializing in birds, opened today at 2232 Fourth Street, on the Miracle Mile in San Rafael, next to Criss Cross gallery and Dogs Elite.

Owners of the new pet store are Lester D. May and Arthur G. Thomson of San Rafael. Birds and bird care have been hobbies with May for most of his 31 years. Thomson owned the Marina Pet Shop in San Francisco for about 20 years until he sold it two years ago.

ELEPHANT WALK carries a full line of pet supplies, bird cages, and all types of birds including the Moluccan cockatoo, Greater Sulphur (a blue-eyed parrot type with a seven-inch crest), a green wing macaw, chattering lory, African grey, and many others. Among animals at the shop is a baby mountain lion, Maltese puppies and Persion kittens.

Elephant Walk is open six days a week from about 9 a.m. to about 6 or 6:30 p.m.

JOHN D. GROTH of San Rafael has been appointed sales representative for the San Leandro terminal of the ONC Freight Systems division of ROCOR International. ROCOR, based in Palo Alto, is an integrated transportation group serving the West, Southwest and Midwest.

Groth was formerly a sales representative for Tyler Consolidators Inc.

Canfield

ALAN D. CANFIELD of San Rafael was named superintendent of agencies for Standard Insurance Company. Headquartered in San Rafael, he will assist in the sales management of Standard agencies in California and Arizona, offering life and health insurance to groups and individuals.

BEER AND WINE is now being offered at Cafe Au Lait, the espresso place which opened three months ago at 874 College Avenue in Kentfield, across the street from College of Marin.

Owned and operated by David Ganapoler, formerly with the Trident, Cafe Au Lait features espresso drinks, cappuccino, mocha, fruit and green salads, hamburgers and sprouts. It is open from 9 a.m. to 11 p.m. Monday through Friday, and from 6 p.m. to 11 p.m. Saturdays. Ganapoler is experimenting with music on Monday nights.

ISI INC., International truck dealer in San Rafael, won the "Five Star Award" from International Harvester's Truck Division for meritorious service performance. The award is based on service capabilities and willingness to respond to customer requests and complaints.

DAVID M. LONG of Long & Associates, a San Rafael firm providing management accounting and financial counseling to businesses in the Bay Area, announced a new staff member. She is Rose Marie Cacioppo, who has an accounting background in business management.

Genny Chapman, a nine-year resident of Tiburon, will service property in that area as well as countywide. Helen Franzel of Belvedere Lagoon will specialize in sales and rentals in Belvedere.

GABE ANGELL of Tiburon and ROBERT C. CARD of San Rafael, representatives of the William W. Ryan San Francisco general agency of National Life Insurance Company of Vermont, won membership in the firm's 1973 President's Club. In recognition of outstanding client services and sales records, they earned eligibility for the Club's educational conference in Acapulco.

MACKES SPORTSWEAR at 26 El Portal in Sausalito changed hands last month, but the same name and services are being continued under the new owners, Bernat and Lydia Weiner of Sausalito.

They bought the shop from Leroy Mackes of Santa Rosa, who had operated it for about 10 years. The Weiners were in the clothing business in Chile for about 27 years and came to California in 1970. Weiner managed a sheepskin coat factory in Napa until he bought Mackes Sportswear.

Mackes carries sports clothing for both men and women and features new imports such as ponchos and wool art from South America and handknits from Ireland. The new owners also plan to add imports from Spain and Italy.

FRANCISCO DODGE in San Rafael is participating this month in a national program called WOW, which is designed to aid Women on Wheels in their knowledge of cars, car troubles and repairs.

The WOW program, implemented through the Chrysler Motors Corporation dealership network in the United States, includes four weekly sessions of two hours each, carried out in specially prepared sections of the dealership's service department.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Why do some issues trade at 40 or 50 times earnings when so many good stocks sell at 8 or 9 times? — A.O.

A. This dichotomy, which has become more sharply delineated in the past 18 months, has been dubbed a "two-tier market." Of the 1,500 or so NYSE-listed common stocks 45 per cent command a multiple of under 10 times, whereas a select group of 100 stocks (7 per cent) trade at over 30 times profits. Furthermore, about 25 of the high-multiple issues do not really qualify for the elite status. In these cases, collapsing earnings combined with a support level for share price produce the high P/E ratio, which is more truly reflective of the company's asset value than of current earning power.

The large pension funds, banks and insurance companies have been cited as the perpetrators of the two-tier market, since the bulk of their holdings are in the high-multiple group. The justification for this exclusiveness among money managers is that as a whole these issues have sufficient liquidity to absorb block transactions without major share price disruption.

However, this theory was undermined recently when the Telex-IBM court decision was announced. The most important common factor in the premium-price group is an above-average growth rate. In fact, the 75 issues as a group have an average growth rate of 21 per cent annually over the last five years, whereas in the low-multiple stocks, a negative rate or less than 5 per cent growth annually is common.

Within the favored group, a preponderance of the companies are engaged in selling a product or a service to the public. These are items which people buy repeatedly such as cosmetics, films, auto parts and beverages or services of the same nature — fast foods, motel accommodations, etc. Securities of health-related, electronic/science and natural resource companies are also heavily represented in the premium market tier. As a whole these issues have fared poorly recently with two-thirds trading below their 1973 highs, which may signal the end of two tiers.

Dividend Set

LOS ANGELES — Security Pacific Corp. has declared a regular quarterly dividend of $0.35 per share on its 20,116,306 common shares outstanding. The third quarter dividend will be payable Nov. 5, 1973, to stockholders of record Oct. 19, 1973.

Security Pacific Corporation is the parent of Security Pacific National Bank.

1974 VW WAGON

Versatility is a big feature of the new VW 412 wagon. It can be a sedan with reclining front seats or a roomy cargo mover with the rear seat back folded. Aluminum bumpers, a bigger engine and broader warranty coverage are new for 1974. Marin dealer is Leon C. Felton Volkswagen in San Rafael.

NEW CORVETTE

America's only true production sports car celebrates its 22nd year on the highway with new styling which features a body-colored "soft" rear bumper system and an optional "Gymkhana" performance package for the sportsman desiring both road event competition and street use. Available in coupe and convertible models, the 1974 Corvette offers both four-speed manual and Turbo Hydra-Matic transmissions. Marin Chevrolet dealers are De Long in San Rafael, Campbell-Bishop in Corte Madera, Cheda in Point Reyes Station, and Empire in Novato.

Wave Of Profit Taking Sends Stocks Tumbling

NEW YORK (UPI) —A wave of profit taking, touched off by word the federal reserve was adhering to its tight money stance, sent stocks sharply lower today on the New York Stock Exchange in moderate trading.

Noon volume came to more than 7,000,000 shares, lower than the 11,580,000 traded at the same time Friday. Analysts find it encouraging that profit-taking during the current market upsurge has usually been accompanied by a decrease in turnover.

Over the weekend, Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur Burns put a damper on Wall Street's hopes for a change in the fed's tight money policies. He told a news conference his agency's policies "haven't undergone any significant change" in recent weeks. That statement, coupled with continued concern over the Middle East war, probably led to today's seeling wave, analysts said.

D-Lynne's Capezio Dancewear To Supply All Dancing Needs

A new shop to supply the needs of ballet, jazz, tap and acrobatic dancers will open Nov. 1 at 1435 Fourth Street, San Rafael, in the Redwood Bank Building across the street from Jeans West.

Called D-Lynne's Capezio Dancewear, it is owned by Jean Hedquist of Marinwood. She named the shop after her daughter, Deborah Lynne, who is a ballerina with the National Academy of Dance in Champaign, Ill.

D-Lynne's Capezio will carry Capezio costumes and equipment, the world-famous Italian line; Danskin tights and leotards; tote bags, hair things and theatrical makeup.

An avid ballet fan, Mrs. Hedquist is well known in Bay Area ballet circles. She was vice president of Pacific Ballet Guild in San Francisco for two years; was active in the women's Dental Auxiliary in Marin, and secretary to the Home and School Club in the Dixie School District for two years. Mrs. Hedquist is now a member of Stanford Auxiliary to Children's Hospital and Marin Youth and Arts.

D-Lynne's Capezio Dancewear is the first store in Marin to supply all needs for tap, jazz, acrobatic and ballet dancing.

ROBERT SIEGEL of San Rafael has been named director of marketing in the Panatela Sportswear Division of Levi Strauss & Co., San Francisco. He will be responsible for the division's merchandising, sales and advertising.

Siegel, 36, joined Levi's as a salesman in Memphis in 1964 after five years as a buyer with Maas department stores in Florida. He became an account executive in Chicago in 1967, district sales manager in the San Francisco region in 1969, West Coast regional sales manager for the new Panatela division in 1970, and its first national sales manager in 1971.

Sutter

REALTORS BREAKFAST — Arthur H. Sutter, senior vice president of the Security National Bank in Walnut Creek, will be guest speaker at tomorrow's breakfast meeting of the Marin County Board of Realtors. The breakfast will start at 8 a.m. in the Corte Madera Lions Club.

Program chairman David Sheldon said Sutter will speak on: "How To Increase Your Sales by 40 Per Cent in a Tight Money Market."

ELEPHANT WALK INC., a new pet shop specializing in birds, opened today at 2232 Fourth Street, on the Miracle Mile in San Rafael, next to Criss Cross gallery and Dogs Elite.

Owners of the new pet store are Lester D. May and Arthur G. Thomson of San Rafael. Birds and bird care have been hobbies with May for most of his 31 years. Thomson owned the Marina Pet Shop in San Francisco for about 20 years until he sold it two years ago.

ELEPHANT WALK carries a full line of pet supplies, bird cages, and all types of birds including the Moluccan cockatoo, Greater Sulphur (a blue-eyed parrot type with a seven-inch crest), a green wing macaw, chattering lory, African grey, and many others. Among animals at the shop is a baby mountain lion, Maltese puppies and Persion kittens.

Elephant Walk is open six days a week from about 9 a.m. to about 6 or 6:30 p.m.

JOHN D. GROTH of San Rafael has been appointed sales representative for the San Leandro terminal of the ONC Freight Systems division of ROCOR International. ROCOR, based in Palo Alto, is an integrated transportation group serving the West, Southwest and Midwest.

Groth was formerly a sales representative for Tyler Consolidators Inc.

Canfield

ALAN D. CANFIELD of San Rafael was named superintendent of agencies for Standard Insurance Company. Headquartered in San Rafael, he will assist in the sales management of Standard agencies in California and Arizona, offering life and health insurance to groups and individuals.

BEER AND WINE is now being offered at Cafe Au Lait, the espresso place which opened three months ago at 874 College Avenue in Kentfield, across the street from College of Marin.

Owned and operated by David Ganapoler, formerly with the Trident, Cafe Au Lait features espresso drinks, cappuccino, mocha, fruit and green salads, hamburgers and sprouts. It is open from 9 a.m. to 11 p.m. Monday through Friday, and from 6 p.m. to 11 p.m. Saturdays. Ganapoler is experimenting with music on Monday nights.

ISI INC., International truck dealer in San Rafael, won the "Five Star Award" from International Harvester's Truck Division for meritorious service performance. The award is based on service capabilities and willingness to respond to customer requests and complaints.

DAVID M. LONG of Long & Associates, a San Rafael firm providing management accounting and financial counseling to businesses in the Bay Area, announced a new staff member. She is Rose Marie Cacioppo, who has an accounting background in business management.

Genny Chapman, a nine-year resident of Tiburon, will service property in that area as well as countywide. Helen Franzel of Belvedere Lagoon will specialize in sales and rentals in Belvedere.

GABE ANGELL of Tiburon and ROBERT C. CARD of San Rafael, representatives of the William W. Ryan San Francisco general agency of National Life Insurance Company of Vermont, won membership in the firm's 1973 President's Club. In recognition of outstanding client services and sales records, they earned eligibility for the Club's educational conference in Acapulco.

MACKES SPORTSWEAR at 26 El Portal in Sausalito changed hands last month, but the same name and services are being continued under the new owners, Bernat and Lydia Weiner of Sausalito.

They bought the shop from Leroy Mackes of Santa Rosa, who had operated it for about 10 years. The Weiners were in the clothing business in Chile for about 27 years and came to California in 1970. Weiner managed a sheepskin coat factory in Napa until he bought Mackes Sportswear.

Mackes carries sports clothing for both men and women and features new imports such as ponchos and wool art from South America and handknits from Ireland. The new owners also plan to add imports from Spain and Italy.

FRANCISCO DODGE in San Rafael is participating this month in a national program called WOW, which is designed to aid Women on Wheels in their knowledge of cars, car troubles and repairs.

The WOW program, implemented through the Chrysler Motors Corporation dealership network in the United States, includes four weekly sessions of two hours each, carried out in specially prepared sections of the dealership's service department.

AT LONG LAST — Helga Lohr Bailey of San Rafael smiles happily, delighted that she has finally achieved her life's goal: U.S. citizenship. Mrs. Bailey, a native of Germany, had sought citizenship for 30 years.

The Long, Long Road To Becoming Citizen

It took 30 years, but last month Helga Lohr Bailey of San Rafael finally became a citizen of the United States.

"It's a story of preserverance," said Mrs. Bailey, a writer and journalist. "This is my country. I knew it as soon as I set foot here."

A native of Germany, Mrs. Baily emigrated to the United States "because of Hitler" in 1935 while performing with a European ballet company.

She first filed for naturalization papers in 1942. But within three weeks of her filing World War II broke out and she became an enemy alien. So her papers were withheld.

During the war, Mrs. Bailey was an active campaigner for national health insurance and civil rights. "I was a minority in Germany half Jewish — so I have a strong feeling for minorities," she said.

Mrs. Bailey almost lost the right to U.S. citizenship because of her activities with civil rights organizations. During the Joseph McCarthy era of the early 1950s, she returned from a trip to Paris and was unable to reenter the country. Instead, she was detained on Ellis Island for seven months because a group she had been working with had been placed on the Attorney General's subversive list.

Mrs. Bailey then returned to Europe. Where she married William Bailey, a San Francisco longshoreman.

"I always intented to come back to the United States," said Mrs. Bailey, the daughter of a nuclear physicist and professor at the University of Leipzig. I belonged here."

In 1962 Mrs. Bailey began working for an American visa. She went to the American Mission in West Berlin practically every week for seven years. When it finally came through in 1969, the staff bought her a bottle of wine to celebrate.

"I moved fast," she said, "I wasn't going to let grass grow under my feet." Mrs. Bailey arrived in the United States on Oct. 29, a little more than a month after receiving her visa.

Mrs. Bailey, who has lived in Marin since 1969, is a commentator for KPFA radio in Berkeley. She is also public relations director for Marin Alternative and does publicity for the Hilarita Housing project and the Piccolo Orchestra.

Animal Reserves Talk Slated By Naturalist

Naturalist Gerald Durrell, author of several best-seller books, will present an illustrated lecture, "The Stationary Ark," Nov. 1, at 8 p.m. in the Marin Veterans Auditorium.

The talk is sponsored by the Marin Conservation League, the Marin Audubon Society and Save Animals From Extinction (SAFE), an organization working to establish animal reserves in the United States.

Durrell has for the past 14 years operated a zoo which now shelters 200 species of rare animals on the British Channel Island of Jersey. He will describe his efforts to propagate endangered species.

The 48-year-old animal protector — younger brother of British novelist Lawrence Durrell — is making his first lecture tour in the United States and Canada.

Agnew Wishes Ford The Best

WASHINGTON (UPI) —When Gerald R. Ford finally got home late Friday night after President Nixon nominated him to be the country's 40th vice president, he found a phone message. It was from Spiro T. Agnew.

Ford told newsmen about the incident yesterday after attending a worship service at the White House.

He returned the call, he said, and the former vice president, who resigned Wednesday after pleading no contest to a tax evasion charge, extended him "best wishes."

Ford said he thanked Agnew and returned the good wishes. He said he still considers Agnew "a very good friend."

Ross Trustees To Eye Teacher Need

The Ross School District board will decide on the need for an additional full-time teacher for overcrowded sixth grade classes when it meets tonight at 7:45 p.m. at the Ross School Library on Lagunitas Road.

If approved, the teacher would begin work Nov. 15. The board will also consider leasing classroom space for the remainder of the 1973-74 school year.

Aswan Dam Held Ecology Disaster

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) —A photographic consultant for the U.S. space program says pictures made during the Skylab II mission show the Aswan Dam built on the Nile River by the Soviet Union for the Egyptians has caused earth resource damage.

"The Aswan project is an engineering marvel, but an ecological disaster," Ricard W. Underwood told 700 Texas science teachers. He said photographs showed the dam has dried up 1,500 miles of the Nile Delta and the detention of water has changed the saline content of the Mediterranean Sea.

Underwood said the pictures also revealed large populations of sealife have abandoned many areas in the Mediterranean.

Underwood spoke to the teachers Saturday during the 20th annual Science Teachers Conference at Texas A&M University.

He said other infrared and ultraviolet photos showed a huge wind canyon in the African nation of Chad which was unknown four years ago, and also spotted rich deposits of copper, "perhaps the richest so far in the United States," in Nevada.

One slide shown by Underwood revealed the gigantic trail of heat left by the Earth as it spins through the solar system. The special film made the heat trail appear much like the tail of a comet.

"We are learning things about the earth that no one would even have guessed four years ago," Underwood told the educators.

Tornado-Like Fire Razes Part Of City

CHELSEA, Mass. (UPI) -Fire fed by winds gusting to more than 40 mph swept "like a tornado" through a depressed area of scrapyards and tenements yesterday, destroying nearly a quarter of the city and forcing more than 2,000 persons to evacuate their homes.

There were no deaths or serious injuries.

Mayor Philip Spelman and Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., urged the government to declare the densely populated city of more than 30,000 persons just north of Boston a federal disaster area.

Some 500 National Guardsmen were ordered into city streets early today to help local police guard against possible looting.

Spelman told a midnight news conference after the general alarm blaze was declared under control that many human lives were saved because the fire started at 4 p.m., in daylight.

"If this had started at 3 or 4 in the morning, God only knows what would have happened," he said.

"It swept through the city like a tornado...the winds were high—very high," the mayor said. He said the city "would have been in real trouble" if it had not been for railroad tracks dividing it which created a natural fire line.

Asked what portion of the city was damaged, he replied, "I would say between 20 and 30 per cent."

He estimated damage "in the millions," and said 400 to 600 persons would be thrown out of work and up to 1,000 persons lost their homes.

Damage to city equipment alone was estimated at $100,000. Mayor Spelman said the entire public works depot, including garbage trucks, snow removal trucks and other vehicles was destroyed. The fire was believed to have begun in an abandoned building on Summer Street. It spread through a rundown industrial area containing many abandoned buildings, some scheduled for urban renewal, and warehouses containing scrap material, paper, rubber and metal. The area is predominantly white and Puerto Rican with a lingering Jewish population.

Officials estimated the fire spread across 20 to 30 city blocks.

At least eight firemen were treated at area hospitals for smoke inhalation or minor injuries. The only known civilian injury was a woman who tripped over a fire hose and broke her leg.

President, Ford Worship At The White House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon yesterday held the first White House worship service since April 15. Vice President-designate Gerald R. Ford and the three Skylab II astronauts were among the worshipers.

Three hundred guests assembled in the White House East Room to hear Rep. William H. Hudnut III, R-Ind., an ordained Presbyterian minister, deliver a sermon on "Lincoln's religion."

Hudnut said Abraham Lincoln "kept reminding the American people that government was the public's business, that political pragmatism must yield to political morality, and that doing the right as God gave him to see the right should never be abandoned for the sake of political expediency."

"An awareness of the transcendent sovereignty of God, before whose throne the nations rise and pass away, is necessary if we are going to avoid moral decay, both personal and national," Hudnut said.

Asked later if his remarks were intended to apply to the Watergate scandal and the resignation of Spiro T. Agnew as vice president, Hudnut said: "Where the shoe fits, apply it."

Nixon told the congressman-preacher he had made "an excellent choice" of topics.

Both Nixon and Ford chatted with the Skylab astronauts, Alan Bean, Jack Lousma and Dr. Owen K. Garriott, holders of the duration record for manned spaceflight.

Both Ford and Lousma at different times played football for the University of Michigan. After the service Loumsa told the congressman: "You played a little football in your day."

"That was back when the ball was round," replied Ford.

Marin Groups Awarded Grants

The State Department of Rehabilitation has awarded grants totalling $20,814 to two Marin organizations which provide job training for mentally retarded and handicapped persons.

The Marin Aid to Retarded Children in San Anselmo has received $9,314 for its Marin Enterprisers project that provides retarded persons of working age with training and employment in landscape maintenance work.

Marin Community Workshop, Inc., received $11,500 to provide increased work training and employment services to the handicapped.

Vending Machine Is Reported Stolen

A man posing as a repairman stole a $1,500 vending machine from a San Rafael bar Thursday, according to police.

Animal Reserves Talk Slated By Naturalist

Naturalist Gerald Durrell, author of several best-seller books, will present an illustrated lecture, "The Stationary Ark," Nov. 1, at 8 p.m. in the Marin Veterans Auditorium.

The talk is sponsored by the Marin Conservation League, the Marin Audubon Society and Save Animals From Extinction (SAFE), an organization working to establish animal reserves in the United States.

Durrell has for the past 14 years operated a zoo which now shelters 200 species of rare animals on the British Channel Island of Jersey. He will describe his efforts to propagate endangered species.

The 48-year-old animal protector — younger brother of British novelist Lawrence Durrell — is making his first lecture tour in the United States and Canada.

Agnew Wishes Ford The Best

WASHINGTON (UPI) —When Gerald R. Ford finally got home late Friday night after President Nixon nominated him to be the country's 40th vice president, he found a phone message. It was from Spiro T. Agnew.

Ford told newsmen about the incident yesterday after attending a worship service at the White House.

He returned the call, he said, and the former vice president, who resigned Wednesday after pleading no contest to a tax evasion charge, extended him "best wishes."

Ford said he thanked Agnew and returned the good wishes. He said he still considers Agnew "a very good friend."

Ross Trustees To Eye Teacher Need

The Ross School District board will decide on the need for an additional full-time teacher for overcrowded sixth grade classes when it meets tonight at 7:45 p.m. at the Ross School Library on Lagunitas Road.

If approved, the teacher would begin work Nov. 15. The board will also consider leasing classroom space for the remainder of the 1973-74 school year.

Aswan Dam Held Ecology Disaster

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) —A photographic consultant for the U.S. space program says pictures made during the Skylab II mission show the Aswan Dam built on the Nile River by the Soviet Union for the Egyptians has caused earth resource damage.

"The Aswan project is an engineering marvel, but an ecological disaster," Ricard W. Underwood told 700 Texas science teachers. He said photographs showed the dam has dried up 1,500 miles of the Nile Delta and the detention of water has changed the saline content of the Mediterranean Sea.

Underwood said the pictures also revealed large populations of sealife have abandoned many areas in the Mediterranean.

Underwood spoke to the teachers Saturday during the 20th annual Science Teachers Conference at Texas A&M University.

He said other infrared and ultraviolet photos showed a huge wind canyon in the African nation of Chad which was unknown four years ago, and also spotted rich deposits of copper, "perhaps the richest so far in the United States," in Nevada.

One slide shown by Underwood revealed the gigantic trail of heat left by the Earth as it spins through the solar system. The special film made the heat trail appear much like the tail of a comet.

"We are learning things about the earth that no one would even have guessed four years ago," Underwood told the educators.

Tornado-Like Fire Razes Part Of City

CHELSEA, Mass. (UPI) -Fire fed by winds gusting to more than 40 mph swept "like a tornado" through a depressed area of scrapyards and tenements yesterday, destroying nearly a quarter of the city and forcing more than 2,000 persons to evacuate their homes.

There were no deaths or serious injuries.

Mayor Philip Spelman and Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., urged the government to declare the densely populated city of more than 30,000 persons just north of Boston a federal disaster area.

Some 500 National Guardsmen were ordered into city streets early today to help local police guard against possible looting.

Spelman told a midnight news conference after the general alarm blaze was declared under control that many human lives were saved because the fire started at 4 p.m., in daylight.

"If this had started at 3 or 4 in the morning, God only knows what would have happened," he said.

"It swept through the city like a tornado...the winds were high—very high," the mayor said. He said the city "would have been in real trouble" if it had not been for railroad tracks dividing it which created a natural fire line.

Asked what portion of the city was damaged, he replied, "I would say between 20 and 30 per cent."

He estimated damage "in the millions," and said 400 to 600 persons would be thrown out of work and up to 1,000 persons lost their homes.

Damage to city equipment alone was estimated at $100,000. Mayor Spelman said the entire public works depot, including garbage trucks, snow removal trucks and other vehicles was destroyed. The fire was believed to have begun in an abandoned building on Summer Street. It spread through a run-down industrial area containing many abandoned buildings, some scheduled for urban renewal, and warehouses containing scrap material, paper, rubber and metal. The area is predominantly white and Puerto Rican with a lingering Jewish population.

Officials estimated the fire spread across 20 to 30 city blocks.

At least eight firemen were treated at area hospitals for smoke inhalation or minor injuries. The only known civilian injury was a woman who tripped over a fire hose and broke her leg.

President, Ford Worship At The White House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon yesterday held the first White House worship service since April 15. Vice President-designate Gerald R. Ford and the three Skylab II astronauts were among the worshipers.

Three hundred guests assembled in the White House East Room to hear Rep. William H. Hudnut III, R-Ind., an ordained Presbyterian minister, deliver a sermon on "Lincoln's religion."

Hudnut said Abraham Lincoln "kept reminding the American people that government was the public's business, that political pragmatism must yield to political morality, and that doing the right as God gave him to see the right should never be abandoned for the sake of political expediency."

"An awareness of the transcendent sovereignty of God, before whose throne the nations rise and pass away, is necessary if we are going to avoid moral decay, both personal and national," Hudnut said.

Asked later if his remarks were intended to apply to the Watergate scandal and the resignation of Spiro T. Agnew as vice president, Hudnut said: "Where the shoe fits, apply it."

Nixon told the congressman-preacher he had made "an excellent choice" of topics.

Both Nixon and Ford chatted with the Skylab astronauts, Alan Bean, Jack Lousma and Dr. Owen K. Garriott, holders of the duration record for manned spaceflight.

Both Ford and Lousma at different times played football for the University of Michigan. After the service Loumsa told the congressman: "You played a little football in your day."

"That was back when the ball was round," replied Ford.

Vending Machine Is Reported Stolen

A man posing as a repairman stole a $1,500 vending machine from a San Rafael bar Thursday, according to police.

Little Opposition Likely To Confirmation Of Ford

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Speaker Carl Albert said today that if it were up to him, he would install Gerald R. Ford immediately as vice president but that it would be "a serious blunder" not to proceed carefully with the confirmation mechanics.

Virtually no opposition has surfaced in the House and Senate to the nomination of the Michigan Republican congressman to succeed the resigned Spiro T. Agnew.

Albert, who is first in line for succession to the presidency pending Ford's confirmation, said of Ford's selection by President Nixon, "I was very pleased, since it had to be a Republican, it (the nomination) came to the House and to a man who has worked with the leadership."

He said he would be happy to have Ford confirmed immediately. But he said the House must be thorough in delving into Ford's background.

"I feel an urgency about it," Albert said. "I feel the House has a whole lot at stake here. But I think it would be a more serious blunder not to have the country know that the job (of careful scrutiny) is being done."

The liberal group, Americans for Democratic Action (ADA), said its national board voted unanimously at a meeting here yesterday "to oppose confirmation of Congressman Gerald Ford as vice president."

Key congressional figures in both parties, however, have predicted that, barring the uncovering of some so far undisclosed flaw in his record, the 60-year-old House GOP Leader should have an easy time being confirmed as the successor to Spiro T. Agnew.

"Congress should require a full investigation into the allegations of mishandling of the nominee's campaign funds," ADA said.

So far, the only question raised publicly about Ford's campaign finances concerns an $11,500 contribution to his 1970 campaign which he allegedly did not report to the Clerk of the House.

Ford told reporters Saturday the incident could be "adequately explained." He said the money exceeded the amount his personal campaign committee was allowed to receive, and that he signed it over to Republican national headquarters for use in behalf of other candidates. He invited committees considering his confirmation to look "fully" into the incident.

Ex-Rep. Whalley Fined $11,000, Given Probation In Mail Fraud

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Pennsylvania Rep. J. Irving Whalley was given three years probation and fined $11,000 in U.S. District court today for mail fraud and obstruction of justice.

"This has been a terrible ordeal for me and my family," Whalley, 72, told judge Lewis Smith Jr. "I'm extremely sorry for what I have done."

In pronouncing sentence, Judge Smith told Whaley: "I'm trying to balance the contribution you made to society with the offenses you committed." Smith also said the greatest damage was that done to Whalley's reputation.

Whalley, who pleaded guilty to all charges, was sentenced to terms of 20 months to 5 years in prison on each of three counts of mail fraud and obstruction of justice and fined a total of $11,000. Smith made the sentences concurrent, suspended their execution and placed Whalley on three years probation.

Whalley, who served 12 years in the House, was accused by federal prosecutors of requiring his staff members to kickback portions of their salary to him beginning in 1963. The prosecutors said some of the money was used to pay salaries of Whalley's relatives, prohibited by law from being on the federal payroll.

Symphony Manager Proud Of Her Job

Marin Women

By JOAN LISETOR

Thelma Schultz's affiliation with the Marin Symphony is long and active, dating back to 1951, when the Schultz family moved to Mill Valley.

She was asked by the late Barry Boland to organize a youth orchestra. The orchestra was formed after many lengthy meetings with school district representatives setting standards and regulations.

Twenty-two years later the Marin Youth Orchestra has an international reputation following the Orchestra Piccola's success at the 1973 Festival of Two Worlds in Spoleto, Italy, and Mrs. Schultz is general manager of the Marin Symphony Association.

Starting as a volunteer, Mrs. Schultz served on the board of directors of the Marin Symphony Guild (now association), serving as president from 1958 until 1960.

"When I was president I realize the board needed an auxiliary to help finance the symphony and promote its activities," she said.

THE AUXILIARY was formed under her guidance, and today is one of Marin's most active women's groups, leading Marin County tours and training docents to speak in local schools. She served as guild president and continued on the board of directors until two years ago when the symphony moved to the Marin Veterans Memorial Building and really "came into its own after performing for 20 seasons in high school gymnasiums."

"Audiences have doubled since the move to a comfortable home," Mrs. Schultz said. "I was originally hired to work part-time, but the rapid growth of the symphony made it a full-time job, and still there is not ıough time to get things done without the help of volunteers."

She pointed to the desks piled high with cards and letters in the symphony office on the second floor of the Crocker Bank in San Rafael. The space is donated by the bank, as was office space at Ross Valley Savings and Loan in San Anselmo in 1970 and 1971.

It is the community support that delights Thelma Schultz.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors has declared this Marin Symphony Week, recognizing the symphony's contribution to Marin. During the county budget hearings in June the board voted to allocate more money to the symphony than had been requested.

As part of the celebration planned for the week members of the youth orchestra will serenade the supervisors tomorrow to thank them for their generosity.

THE WEEK will also be used to launch the symphony's membership and season ticket sale drive.

A musician herself, Mrs. Schultz's concern is bringing the finest music to the largest audience at the lowest possible cost. She is proud that ticket prices have remained low, but is concerned about financial support from the community, since ticket sales don't pay the expenses, she said, acknowledging that the symphony has received a few small foundation grants.

"The Marin Symphony has a marvelous reputation as a community orchestra," she said. "I attend meetings of the Association of California Symphony Orchestras and the members always ask, 'What are you doing this year?'

"We are so fortunate to have Sandor Salgo as a conductor and Charles Meacham who has been concertmaster since the orchestra was formed 22 years ago."

Mrs. Schultz's duties include making arrangements for weekly rehearsals of the symphony and its three performing youth groups, Marin Youth Orchestra, Orchestra Piccola and the Workshop for Strings.

The adult orchestra has between 75 and 90 musicians depending on the program; there are 97 members of the youth orchestra; Orchestra Piccola has 40, and Workshop for Strings, 50.

MRS. SCHULTZ also handles all correspondence, oversees all printed material and arranges concert schedules, making sure not to conflict with the San Francisco, Oakland and Santa Rosa symphonies.

"We provide entertainment for a range from the smallest child to senior citizens. For small children musical education starts with the Sit In Concerts, which give children an opportunity to sit in the middle of the youth orchestra while it plays and later try out the instruments. Many children have begun playing instruments after exposure at these concerts," she said.

Mrs. Dahlman Is Elected Leader Of Museum Guild

Mrs. Conrad Dahlman of Novato has been elected the first president of the Novato Pre-History Museum Guild.

She is a former vice president of the Novato Newcomers Club and is also active in Friends of the Novato Library and a volunteer aide at West Novato School.

Marion Dahlman was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., and was graduated from St. John's University and did graduate work at Queen's College in New York. She and her husband, a systems analyst, have lived in Marin County seven years. They are parents of John 5, and Jennifer, 2.

Marion enjoys interior decorating, sewing and needlework. Her current special project is researching the life of her husband's great-great grandfather, a California pioneer, Pierson B. Reading.

The purpose of the Novato Pre-History Museum Guild is to support the museum by participation in its programs, and through activities which provide it with financial aid.

The guild is responsible for keeping the museum open on Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Members receive an orientation which enables them to explain artifacts on display. Plans are being made for a docent program so that guild members can conduct tours.

The next fund-raiser by the guild will be an opening night of the Novato Players variety show Nov. 9. The guild also will sponsor a booth at the annual Holiday Show at the Novato Community House on Nov. 30 and Dec. 1.

During the coming months members of the guild will be taken on tours of Indian excavations such as Olompali in Novato and Site 138 at Miller Creek.

Other officers and chairmen serving with Mrs. Dahlman are Mmes. Pierre Joske, vice president and membership chairman; William Olsen, treasurer; Jerold Baxter, recording secretary; Thomas Rucker, corresponding secretary; Skip Fenner, social chairman; and Charles Moore, publicity chairman.

Cook Book Author To Talk Oct. 23

Cook book author Diane MacMillan will speak at the literature section of the San Rafael Improvement Club meeting on Oct. 23, not tomorrow as stated in Friday's I-J.

Author of "Coffee Cuisine," Mrs. MacMillan will discuss various kinds of coffee at the 1:30 p.m. program at the clubhouse in San Rafael.

Kidd — Terry Nuptials Planned For February

The engagement of Debbie Kidd of Larkspur to Steve Terry of Kentfield has been announced, and the couple are planning to be married in February.

Debbie is the daughter of Mrs. Patricia Kidd of Larkspur and Robert Kidd of Houston, Tex. She is the sister of Paul Kidd of San Francisco, Alan Kidd of Oklahoma City and Kenneth Kidd of Larkspur.

She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Pauline Lamb of Chicago, Ill., and Mrs. Elsie Kidd of Hendersonville, N.C.

Debbie is a graduate of Putnam City West High School in Oklahoma City and attended Southwestern State College in Weatherford, Okla. She is employed by the Bank of Marin in Northgate.

Steve is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Terry Jr. of Novato and the brother of Mrs. Dennis Smart, Cathy, Joanne and Patrick Terry.

A Novato High School graduate, he attended the College of Marin and is employed with the U.S. Post Office in San Rafael.

Kaye Kopp Weds Alvin Goldstein

Kaye L. Kopp and Alvin H. Goldstein Jr., both of San Rafael, were married Friday in a small, private ceremony in the Carnelian Room of the Bank of America Building in San Francisco.

It is the second marriage for both. Each has three children.

Goldstein retired as a Marin Municipal Court Judge in 1970. He is now practicing law in San Francisco and San Rafael. He is the son of Mrs. Alvin H. Goldstein of Larkspur and the late Mr. Goldstein. The bridegroom was a consultant to former governor Edmund G. Brown, when Brown was attorney general of the State of California, and a special assistant to the late Robert F. Kennedy, when Kennedy was U.S. Attorney General.

The newlyweds are living in San Rafael.

Philadelphia's Parkway Project Is A High School Without Walls

(EDITOR'S NOTE — One way to avoid new school construction is to hold classes in museums, churches, and other buildings around town, free of charge. This article, the fourth in a five-part series, tells of one school that has eliminated the need for a schoolhouse.)

By KENNETH G. GEHRET
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

PHILADELPHIA, PA — Kevin Smith is rounding out his high-school education this year and will get his diploma next June.

But he won't spend a single day in a city school building. Instead, he will attend classes in such places as the Franklin Institute, the local telephone office, and commercial offices and shops around town.

Kevin is enrolled in the Parkway Project, Philadelphia's high school without walls, and considers himself fortunate to be numbered among the 840-member student body.

The odds seemed against him three years ago when 10,000 city school students applied for the few hundred places available in the new freshman class.

SELECTION WAS by lottery. Once admitted, Kevin was assured of enrollment each year to graduation. He is finishing in three years instead of the usual four by opting for a heavier course load all the way.

Begun in 1969 with liberal funding from the Ford Foundation, Parkway Project was the original school that operated completely in the community. Since then other cities have organized schools on a similar basis.

The purpose is to emphasize relevant or practical, "hands on" education and to save construction and maintenance costs.

With strong support from commercial firms and community organizations, Parkway is providing opportunities to learn about the "real world" in a way seldom available to students in traditional schools. Kevin's schedule last year indicates the breadth of options.

Among other things, he learned guitar fingerboard technique and repair from a professional, took a course in electricity at the gas company, tutored students at the Pickett Middle School in basic skills such as reading, and spent much time in a children's shop, learning the fundamentals of retailing.

KEVIN FOUND the shop experience "a big help." He is thinking of opening a sporting goods store sometime. But college is very much on his mind, and he expects to follow a prelaw curriculum when he enters a university next fall.

Whatever the educational advantages of Parkway, the dollar benefits stand out. Dr. Robert C. Hutchins, project director, points to total savings on building construction and maintenance that runs into the millions.

Although Dr. Hutchins declines to guess at the precise savings, an expert on school costs estimates construction alone for 840 students at $6 million, exclusive of land purchase. To this he adds architects' fees, administrators' time in planning, and furnishings worth about $1.5 million.

This is the initial outlay. Continuing charges consist of routine maintenance, repairs, and financing or interest payments.

In its daily operations, Parkway costs more to run because of the need to coordinate scattered activities. Dr. Hutchins acknowledges this, then adds: "But we still manage to operate on exactly the same per-pupil allotment as two nearby high schools. And we no longer draw funds from the Ford Foundation."

A KEY factor in the Parkway's budget balancing is the use of volunteer instructors. The children's shop operator received no compensation for the time she spent with Kevin Smith and two other students, on an individual basis, last year.

Symphony Manager Proud Of Her Job

By JOAN LISETOR

Thelma Schultz's affiliation with the Marin Symphony is long and active, dating back to 1951, when the Schultz family moved to Mill Valley.

She was asked by the late Barry Boland to organize a youth orchestra. The orchestra was formed after many lengthy meetings with school district representatives setting standards and regulations.

Twenty-two years later the Marin Youth Orchestra has an international reputation following the Orchestra Piccola's success at the 1973 Festival of Two Worlds in Spoleto, Italy, and Mrs. Schultz is general manager of the Marin Symphony Association.

Starting as a volunteer, Mrs. Schultz served on the board of directors of the Marin Symphony Guild (now association), serving as president from 1958 until 1960.

"When I was president I realize the board needed an auxiliary to help finance the symphony and promote its activities," she said.

THE AUXILIARY was formed under her guidance, and today is one of Marin's most active women's groups, leading Marin County tours and training docents to speak in local schools. She served as guild president and continued on the board of directors until two years ago when the symphony moved to the Marin Veterans Memorial Building and really "came into its own after performing for 20 seasons in high school gymnasiums."

"Audiences have doubled since the move to a comfortable home," Mrs. Schultz said. "I was originally hired to work part-time, but the rapid growth of the symphony made it a full-time job, and still there is not ough time to get things done without the help of volunteers."

She pointed to the desks piled high with cards and letters in the symphony office on the second floor of the Crocker Bank in San Rafael. The space is donated by the bank, as was office space at Ross Valley Savings and Loan in San Anselmo in 1970 and 1971.

It is the community support that delights Thelma Schultz.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors has declared this Marin Symphony Week, recognizing the symphony's contribution to Marin. During the county budget hearings in June the board voted to allocate more money to the symphony than had been requested.

As part of the celebration planned for the week members of the youth orchestra will serenade the supervisors tomorrow to thank them for their generosity.

THE WEEK will also be used to launch the symphony's membership and season ticket sale drive.

A musician herself, Mrs. Schultz's concern is bringing the finest music to the largest audience at the lowest possible cost. She is proud that ticket prices have remained low, but is concerned about financial support from the community, since ticket sales don't pay the expenses, she said, acknowledging that the symphony has received a few small foundation grants.

"The Marin Symphony has a marvelous reputation as a community orchestra," she said. "I attend meetings of the Association of California Symphony Orchestras and the members always ask, 'What are you doing this year?'

"We are so fortunate to have Sandor Salgo as a conductor and Charles Meacham who has been concertmaster since the orchestra was formed 22 years ago."

Mrs. Schultz's duties include making arrangements for weekly rehearsals of the symphony and its three performing youth groups, Marin Youth Orchestra, Orchestra Piccola and the Workshop for Strings.

The adult orchestra has between 75 and 90 musicians depending on the program; there are 97 members of the youth orchestra; Orchestra Piccola has 40, and Workshop for Strings, 50.

MRS. SCHULTZ also handles all correspondence, oversees all printed material and arranges concert schedules, making sure not to conflict with the San Francisco, Oakland and Santa Rosa symphonies.

"We provide entertainment for a range from the smallest child to senior citizens. For small children musical education starts with the Sit In Concerts, which give children an opportunity to sit in the middle of the youth orchestra while it plays and later try out the instruments. Many children have begun playing instruments after exposure at these concerts," she said.

HELEN HELP US!

Observer Says Youth Changing Into Alert, Brighter People

DEAR HELEN:

The letter from the secretary of the high school class of '68 intrigued me, for I too have noticed the great difference in young people who graduated in the late '60s.

"Secretary" asked whether the general (and lasting) lethargy of that period might have been due to drug abuse which peaked about that time. He wondered if so many uppers, downers, joints, injections of speed, etc. might have done permanent damage — even if the users quit later on.

I don't know whether he's right in his "guess," but he's certainly right in his observations. Members of the classes of '67 to '70 are a different breed. I can see this in my place of business which hires many youths. Employes in their very early 20s just seem to slide by, doing what they're told to do, sometimes, but showing general lack of ambition and initiative. Those under 20 (high school graduates of later years when drug use had abated somewhat) are eager, alert, and ambitious. They're light years away from their slightly older co-workers, in attitude and perhaps ability too.

Here's an example, one of many I could name: A family of five, good background, fine parents, produced two outstanding successes in the oldest children, aged 27 and 30. Their high school days were over before 1965. Then came the middle children, classes of '68 and '69. They followed their peers into drugs and dropout. They are still drop-outs — from college, from careers, almost from life, though they aren't heavy users any more.

The youngest child is now 18 and a real comer. Her name is in the High School Who's Who, and she's gung ho for a career in science. She is in a class which predominently believes drugs are for losers.

Of course my lone observation can't prove anything but I wish a reliable research organization would get on to this. Perhaps a follow-up of heavy drug users during the drug-crazy years might do more to show long term effects than would thousands of experiments with monkeys and rats. — O.

DEAR O:

Perhaps . . . But I could mention that such a survey was carried out (and results published some six years ago) by Dr. C.J. Miras of Athens, Greece. His government-sponsored research indicated that heavy marijuana and hashish smokers finally reached a lethargic plane where the drug was all that mattered; and point of return, after long usage, was problematical.

Did Dr. Miras get worldwide attention? Did his findings stir other researchers toward study of long range drug effects in humans? Hardly!

I read several articles which discounted his theories briefly, and then — nothing more. The general attitude seemed to be "Dr. Miras' work does not relate to the United States" — a somewhat nearsighted view, it seems to me.

At any rate, thanks for your good letter, "O". I agree: much more drug research is needed. If pot can be proved less harmful than tobacco or booze, then perhaps it should be legalized. But it there are cumulative effects, as you suspect, then we have a right to know. And why, after all these years, haven't US scientists made real progress in finding out?

Why, for example, can't they answer such questions as these, which come to me almost every week:

"Dear Helen: I've been doing grass and uppers and downers for a long time. No lectures please. Just tell me, will this harm my baby-to-be?"

"Dear Helen: if cigarettes cause lung cancer and heart trouble, will inhaling marijuana smoke do likewise?"

"Dear Helen: They told us seven years ago that we'd know all the answers about dope in five years, and then we could consider whether to legalize or not. So what are they doing? . . .?

. . . The answer, I'm afraid, is "not nearly enough." Or so it seems. — H.

Got a problem? An adult subject for discussion? A fun idea? You can talk it over in her column if you write to Helen Bottel, care of the Independent-Journal.

Dimes Chapter Receives Award

Mrs. Melville Hammond of Terra Linda, education chairman, accepted an award for the North Bay March of Dimes Chapter for "outstanding chapter" work this year.

Mrs. Hammond also personally received the Basil O'Connor silver medallion. Both awards, made by the National Foundation-March of Dimes president Arthur Galloway, were for public health education on birth defects in the North Bay counties of Marin, Solano, Sonoma and Napa.

The awards were made at a California-Hawaii March of Dimes conference.

corporate executives, college students, and other talented individuals also helped out as instructors, and are doing so again this year.

At times, the nonprofessional teaching is largely one to one. But often students meet more formally in small groups.

At the Philadelphia Museum of Art, classes vary from 4 to 15 students. Staff lecturers present basically the same talks they give to groups of museum visitors.

And at the Philadelphia Gas Works, classes average a dozen or so in the electricity, gas appliance servicing, and homemaking courses developed and conducted by company personnel.

Fitting some 250 courses together in terms of individual schedules is a difficult challenge. Getting to the learning sites can be difficult, too.

ORIGINALLY, THE program centered on the Benjamin Franklin Parkway, hence the name, Parkway Project. This artery runs from the art museum to City Hall in the center of town. But as the program expanded, sites beyond the immediate area had to be added.

To alleviate students' problems of distance, the "school without walls" was divided into four geographic units and students were assigned to the unit nearest their home.

This cut down on the need for transportation and on time consumed in getting from one class to another.

Project officials are reluctant to talk about absenteeism. But some involved community people speak of it as part of the whole matter of control in a highly unstructured situation.

While supporting Parkway, they question the maturity of some of the students to handle the degree of freedom inherent in the program. Responsibility also is required in use of the facilities. One company spokesman says students have used the employee recreation area, lunchroom, and other areas of the building that were off limits to them.

An official in another firm comments that "things are much better now. We found a solution to the permissiveness we had to deal with in the beginning. We set up guidelines for conduct on the property. We spell them out and underscore them. Everybody understands the rules and abides by them."

THERE SEEMS little doubt how much students feel about Parkway. They vie in increasing numbers for admission to the school, whatever their academic background, and often take on more of a schedule than is required.

Politicians and taxpayers have their own view of Parkway. Learning opportunities may not stand out to them as they do to students. But in a period of escalating education costs, they can understand the dollar savings provided by this school without walls.

USO Want List Out For Gifts Asked By Servicemen Overseas

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — From art supplies to model airplanes, from permanents to powdered milk, the USO want list is out with a lineup of Christmas gifts requested by American servicemen and women overseas.

The United Service Organizations Inc., reminds that the first deadline is near, before the end of October, for surface parcel post to the Far East.

USO, which annually compiles the gift list, reminds that there still are some 600,000 men and women in the armed forces abroad, many in remote areas and others in military hospitals.

USO ASKS that donors channeling gifts to service personnel through their centers around the world place special emphasis on distribution posts in Thailand, Germany, Iceland and Korea. The center in Saigon has been closed.

Servicewomen especially have requested colognes, dry and regular shampoos, fashion magazines, hair-setting lotions, home permanents, lipsticks, lotions, nail polishes, rollers, and the disposable wash-dry towels.

The general list for both sexes follows:

In the electronic equipment area, camera film, cassette tapes, nine-volt batteries, prerecorded music tapes, small transistor radios.

Among foods, bouillon or instant soups, candy, canned foods, cheese packages and party snacks, coffee, fruit cake, instant breakfast, meats, fruits, nuts, gum, packaged coca, fruit drinks, powdered milk, Tabasco sauce and tea.

In games, requests are for all sorts including puzzles, dart boards, miniature chess and checker sets, and plastic playing cards.

Hobby requests include art supplies and paints, drawing paper, model planes and shipbuilding kits.

Medical supplies include cough drops, first aid kits, foot spray and powder, and scrub brushes.

Stationery and book requests include ballpoint pens, paperbacks, pocket dictionaries, self-sealing envelopes, small notebooks and wallet-size calendars.

MISCELLANEOUS INCLUDES candles, Christmas stockings, cigarettes, decals for car or motorbike, holiday decorations and Christmas trees, inflatable pillows, key chains and key cases, leather strips and string, pocket knives, poster-type pictures of stateside landscapes, plastic containers, sewing kits, small flashlights and batteries, small leather kits and small magnifying glsses.

USO reminds of the importance of sending gifts through its distribution points because the postal department will not accept packages addressed to "Any Serviceman." However, gift packages can be sent to USO directors at special armed forces APO and FPO addresses APO stands for Army or Air Force Post Offices, FPO for Fleet Post Office.

THE MAILING deadline guide:

For all areas of Europe including Iceland, airmail second week of December; PAL parcel post, first week of December; SAM parcel post, end of November, and surface parcel post, second week of November.

For areas in the Far East including Thailand and Korea, the dates are air mail, first week of December; PAL parcel post, end of November; SAM parcel post, third week of November, and surface parcel post, before the end of October.

Rent Deposit Practices

By JOSEPHINE RIPLEY
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Many tenants today, on renting an apartment, are required to pay an extra month's rent as a "security deposit." This deposit is held by the landlord to cover "damages," if any, to an apartment during occupancy.

It would like to ask (1) if the rent has been increased during that time, is that final month's payment-in-advance adjusted to meet the current rental? (2) Is any consideration given to interest on the impounded money?

J. R. M.,
Santa Monica

When rent is increased during tenancy, many landlords require a corresponding increase in the security deposit. If there has been no damages to the apartment for which you will be held responsible, the original deposit should be returned. However, some landlords may make it a practice to credit the deposit on the final month's rent.

As for interest on the impounded money, some landlords credit tenants once a year with such interest.

There is no hard and fast rule with respect to these matters unless they happen to be governed by state or local laws, or covered by a landlord-tenant agreement.

Such agreement, for the tenant's protection, should be in writing and cover such matters as the amount of the deposit, the disposition of interest on it, and some definition of the type of "damages" for which the tenant will be held responsible.

A CORRESPONDENT reminds us that motorcycle travel in Europe — the subject of a recent Money Matters column — is not to be compared, in his estimation, with the comfort and economy afforded by a Eurailpass.

"By buying a . . . Eurailpass (available to non-European citizens) you can travel by first-class trains, including extra-fare trains, at no extra cost . . . and a few lake streamers in 13 European countries . . . You may travel night and day (24 hours each day) and there is no charge for reservations on the busier trains.

"The countries are Norway, Sweden, Denmark, West Germany, Switzerland, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg, Austria, France, Spain, Portugal, and Italy. Unlimited travel and it isn't really necessary to reserve, so there is no need to stand in line for tickets."

According to one travel agent, the 21-day pass is $140; one month $175; two months $245; and three months $275. Children 4 to 10 half fare.

If your travelers' checks are lost or stolen while you are traveling abroad or elsewhere, what proof of loss do you have to furnish in order to have your money refunded?

M. E. A.
Portland, Ore.

If you have the record of the numbers of your checks given to you at the time of purchase, as well as a record of those which you have cashed, your money will be refunded promptly.

If you do not have such a record to present, the agent to whom you report your loss will immediately contact the issuing bank or company wherever it may be located to obtain the missing numbers.

This can be done in a matter of hours by telephone or telex. You will be asked, of course, to provide as accurate a list as possible of checks cashed before the loss. This list can be checked with the cancelled checks returning to the issuing agent.

Report your loss as early as possible in the day for prompt refunds. If the refund is delayed by a weekend interval, most companies will provide an emergency refund to tide you over that waiting period.

You can avoid such delays if you follow the advice of the bank or company which issued the checks that you carry the record of the numbers separately from the folder with the checks themselves.

I have only one daughter and everything I own is in her name, too. When I pass on, does it automatically go to her without having to go to court?

H. S. P.
Grand Island, Neb.

Yes, if it is owned jointly "with the right of survivorship," in those words.

I would like to know what the inheritance tax is in the state (California), that is, what amount is free of such tax and remains the property of the family member — and at what point the inheritance tax is applied, according to law. Please advise me where I can obtain this information.

These matters are governed by state laws, and your inquiry should be directed to the State Comptroller, State Capitol, Sacramento.

MONEY MATTERS

Rent Deposit Practices

By JOSEPHINE RIPLEY
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Many tenants today, on renting an apartment, are required to pay an extra month's rent as a "security deposit." This deposit is held by the landlord to cover "damages," if any, to an apartment during occupancy.

It would like to ask (1) if the rent has been increased during that time, is that final month's payment-in-advance adjusted to meet the current rental? (2) Is any consideration given to interest on the impounded money?

J. R. M.,
Santa Monica

When rent is increased during tenancy, many landlords require a corresponding increase in the security deposit. If there has been no damages to the apartment for which you will be held responsible, the original deposit should be returned. However, some landlords may make it a practice to credit the deposit on the final month's rent.

As for interest on the impounded money, some landlords credit tenants once a year with such interest.

There is no hard and fast rule with respect to these matters unless they happen to be governed by state or local laws, or covered by a landlord-tenant agreement.

Such agreement, for the tenant's protection, should be in writing and cover such matters as the amount of the deposit, the disposition of interest on it, and some definition of the type of "damages" for which the tenant will be held responsible.

A CORRESPONDENT reminds us that motorcycle travel in Europe — the subject of a recent Money Matters column — is not to be compared, in his estimation, with the comfort and economy afforded by a Eurailpass.

"By buying a . . . Eurailpass (available to non-European citizens) you can travel by first-class trains, including extra-fare trains, at no extra cost . . . and a few lake streamers in 13 European countries . . . You may travel night and day (24 hours each day) and there is no charge for reservations on the busier trains.

"The countries are Norway, Sweden, Denmark, West Germany, Switzerland, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg, Austria, France, Spain, Portugal, and Italy. Unlimited travel and it isn't really necessary to reserve, so there is no need to stand in line for tickets."

According to one travel agent, the 21-day pass is $140; one month $175; two months $245; and three months $275. Children 4 to 10 half fare.

If your travelers' checks are lost or stolen while you are traveling abroad or elsewhere, what proof of loss do you have to furnish in order to have your money refunded?

M. E. A.
Portland, Ore.

If you have the record of the numbers of your checks given to you at the time of purchase, as well as a record of those which you have cashed, your money will be refunded promptly.

If you do not have such a record to present, the agent to whom you report your loss will immediately contact the issuing bank or company wherever it may be located to obtain the missing numbers.

This can be done in a matter of hours by telephone or telex. You will be asked, of course, to provide as accurate a list as possible of checks cashed before the loss. This list can be checked with the cancelled checks returning to the issuing agent.

Report your loss as early as possible in the day for prompt refunds. If the refund is delayed by a weekend interval, most companies will provide an emergency refund to tide you over that waiting period.

You can avoid such delays if you follow the advice of the bank or company which issued the checks that you carry the record of the numbers separately from the folder with the checks themselves.

If East Takes Bait, South's Six-Spade Contract Golden

IN DUMMY

Declarer took the first trick in dummy with the king of diamonds, noting the fall of East's jack. South wasn't alarmed, however, because the slam was cold if either hearts or trumps broke favorably.

Declarer cashed the ace of hearts and ruffed a low heart, got to dummy with the nine of spades and ruffed another low heart.

ANOTHER TRUMP

When the hearts broke badly, South led another trump to dummy. If the trumps broke 2-2, he could take the top diamonds safely and ruff his last diamond with dummy's third trump.

When West discarded once again, South "carelessly" led the deuce of diamonds from dummy as his third try for the slam.

CHANCE TO RUFF

This gave East the chance to ruff with his worthless six of trumps. This was a trick for nothing.

Actually, East's ruff gave South the slam. South won the club return, led a diamond to the ace and got to his hand by ruffing a heart. Then he cashed the queen of diamonds, discarding dummy's losing club. The rest was easy.

IF EAST REFUSES

If East refused the bait by declining to ruff the low diamond, South would have to take the queen of diamonds. He would then have to draw trumps to safeguard dummy's ace of diamonds, and he would wind up losing a diamond and a club.

East should work this all out when the low diamond is led from dummy. When an expert opponent seems to have lost count of trumps and is offering you a trick for nothing — look for the hook.

The moon is approaching its last quarter. The morning stars are Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter.

Irish poet and author Oscar Wilde was born Oct. 15, 1856.

On this day in history:

In 1917, the most famous spy of World War I, Gertrude Zelle, known as Mata Hari, was executed by a firing squad outside Paris.

In 1946, Nazi Reichmarshal Herman Goering committed suicide.

In 1964, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was ousted by Kremlin leaders and replaced by Alexei Kosygin and Leonid Brezhnev and Nikolai Podgorny.

San Anselmo Man Heads Dental Unit

Other officers are Ted F. Pett of San Rafael, president-elect; Colin C. Wong of Mill Valley, vice president; John D. Kassenbrock of Novato, corresponding secretary; Harry W. Humphreys of San Rafael, recording secretary and co-editor of the society newsletter; William L. Jagger of Greenbrae, treasurer; Lawrence M. Le Vine of San Rafael, editor.

Novato Tax Group Picks New Chairman

Novato Mayor Fred F. Ruegg has been named chairman of the Novato chapter of Californians for Lower Taxes, citizens group supporting Proposition One, Gov. Ronald Reagan's tax limitation initiative.

Ruegg said he supports the measure, which goes before voters Nov. 6, because he believes it would cut state income tax by seven and a half per cent.

Saturday's Answer

ART REVIEW

Show Represents The Big Names

By ADA GARFINKEL

SAN FRANCISCO — An exhibit of 82 paintings owned by New York collector Richard Brown Baker, currently on loan to the San Francisco Museum of Art, is a historic resume of the major art developments in this country since the end of World War II.

The collection, dating from 1943 to 1973, includes paintings by many of the most important names in American art and a number by post-cubist European artists who had important influence on the Americans.

Included are works by the pioneers of abstract expressionism, from the period when artists (as well as scientists) were exploring new materials and techniques and, disillusioned with the outer world, were turning inwardly for direction.

California artists Richard Diebenkorn and Nathan Oliviera, the former a founder of the "bay region figurative school", are each represented with lush paintings from 1957.

The quality is not even, of course, in a collection which spans almost 30 years.

But an early Olitski, Roy Lichtenstein's comic-strip paintings of the 1960s, and the timeless and personal geometry of Europeans Ben Nicholson and Auguste Herbin — are major works.

Baker's most recent acquisitions tend toward outright realism. Several are restatements of classical themes in pointillist-impressionistic style. John Clem Clarke's "Liberty Leading the People (After Delacroix)," and H. N. Han's shimmeringly suffused "East River View" are impressive for size and sentiment.

Jack Beal's "Nude on a Chaise Lounge" — a study of light and shadow, Tom Wesselman's erotic "Study for Most Beautiful Foot," and Thomas Blackwell's gleaming motor engine in "Triple Carburetor GTO — Candy Apple Blue" are all powerful paintings that reflect contemporary directions.

Stephen Woodburn's "Widgee Goara," painted this year, is a winner and alone worth a trip to the show. It is a Renaissance perspective landscape, filled with rocks, trees and vaporous atmosphere, shot through with shard-like fragments of color in a flat violet hue.

The exhibit will continue through Nov. 11. Museum hours are 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Tuesday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday. The museum is located in the Veterans Memorial Building, McAllister at Van Ness.

Nixon Appeal Seen Of Ruling On Tapes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon this week is expected to appeal to the Supreme Court a federal court ruling that he must relinquish nine Watergate-related tape recordings.

The White House said yesterday Nixon's lawyers still are studying the 41-page decision made Friday by the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. It ruled that the tapes must be submitted to U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica for inspection as to their relevancy to a grand jury investigation of the Watergate burglary and the ensuing coverup.

The appeals court gave Nixon's lawyers until Friday to appeal its 5-2 ruling.

The disputed doctrine of executive privilege is expected to remain the chief argument of the White House in opposing special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox's request for the tapes of conversations held between the President and his aides.

"The Constitution mentions no executive privileges, much less any absolute executive privileges," the court said.

The ruling upheld Sirica's Aug. 26 decision and ordered the tapes given to the judge, who would decide which portions, if any, may be withheld from the grand jury on grounds they relate only to "national defense or foreign relations."

But Cox was given the right to inspect the tapes with Sirica so he could argue any presidential claim of irrelevance. If Cox is allowed to listen to all of the tapes, the appeals court ruled, the White House would have a chance to counter any of the prosecutor's arguments.

The court said Nixon lost the right of confidentiality for the tapes when he allowed some of his former aides to testify before the grand jury and the Senate Watergate committee about what was said.

It further rejected Nixon's claims that his political mandate and executive privilege entitled him to immunity from court orders. "These are invitations to refashion the Constitution, and we reject them," the court majority said.

Nixon has said he would obey only a "definitive" order from the Supreme Court, without explaining what he meant by the term.

The court also asked that Cox and Nixon's lawyers try again to resolve the dispute themselves, and Cox said he was willing. Previous negotiations broke down three weeks ago. —

In another Watergate development, it was reported yesterday that the Senate committee has begun investigating Nixon's personal finances because of allegations that billionaire Howard Hughes made two $50,000 cash payments in 1969 and 1970 to Nixon friend Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo.

The Washington Post quoted "informed sources" as saying the committee will try to subpoena the President's records dealing with his Florida and California real estate holdings and will seek testimony from his personal secretary, Rose Mary Woods.

"Committee sources said that Rebozo has also been unable to explain satisfactorily why the $100,000 was kept in safe deposit boxes for nearly three years and then returned," the Post reported.

Dinner Party

MADRID (UPI) —Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon and Princess Sofia gave a private dinner last night for Crown Prince Akihito and Crown Princess Michiko of Japan on the second day of their weeklong official visit to Spain.

Church Council Elects A Woman

NEW YORK (UPI) —Claire Randall, the first woman to head the National Council of Churches, said yesterday she hopes her election will open up the top ranks of the Protestant church to other women and members of minority groups.

"I always felt the church was being party to racial discrimination and even before civil rights became a popular cause I directed my actions toward improving race relations in the church," she said in an interview after being elected Saturday as general secretary of the church group.

"I don't remember ever speaking publicly without touching on the race situation," she added. The new general secretary, 53, is an ordained elder in the United Presbyterian Church.

She said she has been active in the peace movement, taking a strong stand against the Vietnam war and now, while not a militant feminist, she is very much involved in the fight for women's rights.

"It is entirely possible that my election was not a passing phenomenon and shows that the church is now willing to be inclusive in giving opportunities for women and minorities in church decision making," she said. "To open top jobs to one group opens it up to other groups."

She said while many people no longer attend church on a regular basis that does not mean a "sense of God" no longer exists.

"There are many ways and forms God's people are responding to the transcendent dimension of life and reaching for that fourth dimension of life that gives meaning," she said. "To me that reflects God's action and spirit... I find the institutional church very helpful —other people do not. But there are still many who can find an original channel for their actions in society or in their worship of God in the organized church."

A native of San Antonio, Tex., she began her professional church career in her hometown in 1949 as a Christian education worker. She also served several years as director of art for the Presbyterian Church of the United States.

ART REVIEW

Show Represents The Big Names

By ADA GARFINKEL

SAN FRANCISCO — An exhibit of 82 paintings owned by New York collector Richard Brown Baker, currently on loan to the San Francisco Museum of Art, is a historic resume of the major art developments in this country since the end of World War II.

The collection, dating from 1943 to 1973, includes paintings by many of the most important names in American art and a number by post-cubist European artists who had important influence on the Americans.

Included are works by the pioneers of abstract expressionism, from the period when artists (as well as scientists) were exploring new materials and techniques and, disillusioned with the outer world, were turning inwardly for direction.

California artists Richard Diebenkorn and Nathan Oliviera, the former a founder of the "bay region figurative school", are each represented with lush paintings from 1957.

The quality is not even, of course, in a collection which spans almost 30 years.

But an early Olitski, Roy Lichtenstein's comic-strip paintings of the 1960s, and the timeless and personal geometry of Europeans Ben Nicholson and Auguste Herbin — are major works.

Baker's most recent acquisitions tend toward outright realism. Several are restatements of classical themes in pointillist-impressionistic style. John Clem Clarke's "Liberty Leading the People (After Delacroix)," and H. N. Han's shimmeringly suffused "East River View" are impressive for size and sentiment.

Jack Beal's "Nude on a Chaise Lounge" — a study of light and shadow, Tom Wesselman's erotic "Study for Most Beautiful Foot," and Thomas Blackwell's gleaming motor engine in "Triple Carburetor GTO — Candy Apple Blue" are all powerful paintings that reflect contemporary directions.

Stephen Woodburn's "Widgee Goara," painted this year, is a winner and alone worth a trip to the show. It is a Renaissance perspective landscape, filled with rocks, trees and vaporous atmosphere, shot through with shard-like fragments of color in a flat violet hue.

The exhibit will continue through Nov. 11. Museum hours are 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Tuesday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday. The museum is located in the Veterans Memorial Building, McAllister at Van Ness.

Nixon Appeal Seen Of Ruling On Tapes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon this week is expected to appeal to the Supreme Court a federal court ruling that he must relinquish nine Watergate-related tape recordings.

The White House said yesterday Nixon's lawyers still are studying the 41-page decision made Friday by the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. It ruled that the tapes must be submitted to U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica for inspection as to their relevancy to a grand jury investigation of the Watergate burglary and the ensuing coverup.

The appeals court gave Nixon's lawyers until Friday to appeal its 5-2 ruling.

The disputed doctrine of executive privilege is expected to remain the chief argument of the White House in opposing special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox's request for the tapes of conversations held between the President and his aides.

"The Constitution mentions no executive privileges, much less any absolute executive privileges," the court said.

The ruling upheld Sirica's Aug. 26 decision and ordered the tapes given to the judge, who would decide which portions, if any, may be withheld from the grand jury on grounds they relate only to "national defense or foreign relations."

But Cox was given the right to inspect the tapes with Sirica so he could argue any presidential claim of irrelevance. If Cox is allowed to listen to all of the tapes, the appeals court ruled, the White House would have a chance to counter any of the prosecutor's arguments.

The court said Nixon lost the right of confidentiality for the tapes when he allowed some of his former aides to testify before the grand jury and the Senate Watergate committee about what was said.

It further rejected Nixon's claims that his political mandate and executive privilege entitled him to immunity from court orders. "These are invitations to refashion the Constitution, and we reject them," the court majority said.

Nixon has said he would obey only a "definitive" order from the Supreme Court, without explaining what he meant by the term.

The court also asked that Cox and Nixon's lawyers try again to resolve the dispute themselves, and Cox said he was willing. Previous negotiations broke down three weeks ago. —

In another Watergate development, it was reported yesterday that the Senate committee has begun investigating Nixon's personal finances because of allegations that billionaire Howard Hughes made two $50,000 cash payments in 1969 and 1970 to Nixon friend Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo.

The Washington Post quoted "informed sources" as saying the committee will try to subpoena the President's records dealing with his Florida and California real estate holdings and will seek testimony from his personal secretary, Rose Mary Woods.

"Committee sources said that Rebozo has also been unable to explain satisfactorily why the $100,000 was kept in safe deposit boxes for nearly three years and then returned," the Post reported.

Dinner Party

MADRID (UPI) —Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon and Princess Sofia gave a private dinner last night for Crown Prince Akihito and Crown Princess Michiko of Japan on the second day of their weeklong official visit to Spain.

Church Council Elects A Woman

NEW YORK (UPI) —Claire Randall, the first woman to head the National Council of Churches, said yesterday she hopes her election will open up the top ranks of the Protestant church to other women and members of minority groups.

"I always felt the church was being party to racial discrimination and even before civil rights became a popular cause I directed my actions toward improving race relations in the church," she said in an interview after being elected Saturday as general secretary of the church group.

"I don't remember ever speaking publicly without touching on the race situation," she added. The new general secretary, 53, is an ordained elder in the United Presbyterian Church.

She said she has been active in the peace movement, taking a strong stand against the Vietnam war and now, while not a militant feminist, she is very much involved in the fight for women's rights.

"It is entirely possible that my election was not a passing phenomenon and shows that the church is now willing to be inclusive in giving opportunities for women and minorities in church decision making," she said. "To open top jobs to one group opens it up to other groups."

She said while many people no longer attend church on a regular basis that does not mean a "sense of God" no longer exists.

"There are many ways and forms God's people are responding to the transcendent dimension of life and reaching for that fourth dimension of life that gives meaning," she said. "To me that reflects God's action and spirit... I find the institutional church very helpful —other people do not. But there are still many who can find an original channel for their actions in society or in their worship of God in the organized church."

A native of San Antonio, Tex., she began her professional church career in her hometown in 1949 as a Christian education worker. She also served several years as director of art for the Presbyterian Church of the United States.

She attended the San Antonio Art Institute, Schreiner College Texas and the Presbyterian School of Christian Eduction in Richmond, Va. and received a B.A. from Scarritt College in Nashville, Tenn.

She was a delegate to the last assembly of the National Council of Churches and participated in several World Council of Churches meetings in Europe.

IN DUMMY

Declarer took the first trick in dummy with the king of diamonds, noting the fall of East's jack. South wasn't alarmed, however, because the slam was cold if either hearts or trumps broke favorably.

Declarer cashed the ace of hearts and ruffed a low heart, got to dummy with the nine of spades and ruffed another low heart.

ANOTHER TRUMP

When the hearts broke badly, South led another trump to dummy. If the trumps broke 2-2, he could take the top diamonds safely and ruff his last diamond with dummy's third trump.

When West discarded once again, South "carelessly" led the deuce of diamonds from dummy as his third try for the slam.

CHANCE TO RUFF

This gave East the chance to ruff with his worthless six of trumps. This was a trick for nothing.

Actually, East's ruff gave South the slam. South won the club return, led a diamond to the ace and got to his hand by ruffing a heart. Then he cashed the queen of diamonds, discarding dummy's losing club. The rest was easy.

IF EAST REFUSES

If East refused the bait by declining to ruff the low diamond, South would have to take the queen of diamonds. He would then have to draw trumps to safeguard dummy's ace of diamonds, and he would wind up losing a diamond and a club.

East should work this all out when the low diamond is led from dummy. When an expert opponent seems to have lost count of trumps and is offering you a trick for nothing — look for the hook.

Correct Name Of Man Given Sentence

The man sentenced in Marin Municipal Court was Edward Oliver Wendell. He had been arrested Sept. 8 by San Rafael policemen James Kelly.

The moon is approaching its last quarter. The morning stars are Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter.

Irish poet and author Oscar Wilde was born Oct. 15, 1856.

On this day in history:

In 1917, the most famous spy of World War I, Gertrude Zelle, known as Mata Hari, was executed by a firing squad outside Paris.

In 1946, Nazi Reichmarshal Herman Goering committed suicide.

In 1964, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was ousted by Kremlin leaders and replaced by Alexei Kosygin and Leonid Brezhnev and Nikolai Podgorny.

San Anselmo Man Heads Dental Unit

Other officers are Ted F. Pett of San Rafael, president-elect; Colin C. Wong of Mill Valley, vice president; John D. Kassenbrock of Novato, corresponding secretary; Harry W. Humphreys of San Rafael, recording secretary and co-editor of the society newsletter; William L. Jagger of Greenbrae, treasurer; Lawrence M. Le Vine of San Rafael, editor.

Novato Tax Group Picks New Chairman

Novato Mayor Fred F. Ruegg has been named chairman of the Novato chapter of Californians for Lower Taxes, citizens group supporting Proposition One, Gov. Ronald Reagan's tax limitation initiative.

Ruegg said he supports the measure, which goes before voters Nov. 6, because he believes it would cut state income tax by seven and a half per cent.

IN DUMMY

Declarer took the first trick in dummy with the king of diamonds, noting the fall of East's jack. South wasn't alarmed, however, because the slam was cold if either hearts or trumps broke favorably.

Declarer cashed the ace of hearts and ruffed a low heart, got to dummy with the nine of spades and ruffed another low heart.

ANOTHER TRUMP

When the hearts broke badly, South led another trump to dummy. If the trumps broke 2-2, he could take the top diamonds safely and ruff his last diamond with dummy's third trump.

When West discarded once again, South "carelessly" led the deuce of diamonds from dummy as his third try for the slam.

CHANCE TO RUFF

This gave East the chance to ruff with his worthless six of trumps. This was a trick for nothing.

Actually, East's ruff gave South the slam. South won the club return, led a diamond to the ace and got to his hand by ruffing a heart. Then he cashed the queen of diamonds, discarding dummy's losing club. The rest was easy.

IF EAST REFUSES

If East refused the bait by declining to ruff the low diamond, South would have to take the queen of diamonds. He would then have to draw trumps to safeguard dummy's ace of diamonds, and he would wind up losing a diamond and a club.

East should work this all out when the low diamond is led from dummy. When an expert opponent seems to have lost count of trumps and is offering you a trick for nothing — look for the hook.

ANSWER: Bid two hearts.

SAN FRANCISCO — An exhibit of 82 paintings owned by New York collector Richard Brown Baker, currently on loan to the San Francisco Museum of Art, is a historic resume of the major art developments in this country since the end of World War II.

The collection, dating from 1943 to 1973, includes paintings by many of the most important names in American art and a number by post-cubist European artists who had important influence on the Americans.

Included are works by the pioneers of abstract expressionism, from the period when artists (as well as scientists) were exploring new materials and techniques and, disillusioned with the outer world, were turning inwardly for direction.

California artists Richard Diebenkorn and Nathan Oliviera, the former a founder of the "bay region figurative school", are each represented with lush paintings from 1957.

The quality is not even, of course, in a collection which spans almost 30 years.

But an early Olitski, Roy Lichtenstein's comic-strip paintings of the 1960s, and the timeless and personal geometry of Europeans Ben Nicholson and Auguste Herbin — are major works.

Baker's most recent acquisitions tend toward outright realism. Several are restatements of classical themes in pointillist-impressionistic style. John Clem Clarke's "Liberty Leading the People (After Delacroix)," and H. N. Han's shimmeringly suffused "East River View" are impressive for size and sentiment.

Jack Beal's "Nude on a Chaise Lounge" — a study of light and shadow, Tom Wesselman's erotic "Study for Most Beautiful Foot," and Thomas Blackwell's gleaming motor engine in "Triple Carburetor GTO — Candy Apple Blue" are all powerful paintings that reflect contemporary directions.

Stephen Woodburn's "Widgee Goara," painted this year, is a winner and alone worth a trip to the show. It is a Renaissance perspective landscape, filled with rocks, trees and vaporous atmosphere, shot through with shard-like fragments of color in a flat violet hue.

The exhibit will continue through Nov. 11. Museum hours are 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Tuesday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday. The museum is located in the Veterans Memorial Building, McAllister at Van Ness.

Nixon Appeal Seen Of Ruling On Tapes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon this week is expected to appeal to the Supreme Court a federal court ruling that he must relinquish nine Watergate-related tape recordings.

The White House said yesterday Nixon's lawyers still are studying the 41-page decision made Friday by the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. It ruled that the tapes must be submitted to U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica for inspection as to their relevancy to a grand jury investigation of the Watergate burglary and the ensuing coverup.

The appeals court gave Nixon's lawyers until Friday to appeal its 5-2 ruling.

The disputed doctrine of executive privilege is expected to remain the chief argument of the White House in opposing special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox's request for the tapes of conversations held between the President and his aides.

"The Constitution mentions no executive privileges, much less any absolute executive privileges," the court said.

The ruling upheld Sirica's Aug. 26 decision and ordered the tapes given to the judge, who would decide which portions, if any, may be withheld from the grand jury on grounds they relate only to "national defense or foreign relations."

But Cox was given the right to inspect the tapes with Sirica so he could argue any presidential claim of irrelevance. If Cox is allowed to listen to all of the tapes, the appeals court ruled, the White House would have a chance to counter any of the prosecutor's arguments.

The court said Nixon lost the right of confidentiality for the tapes when he allowed some of his former aides to testify before the grand jury and the Senate Watergate committee about what was said.

It further rejected Nixon's claims that his political mandate and executive privilege entitled him to immunity from court orders. "These are invitations to refashion the Constitution, and we reject them," the court majority said.

Nixon has said he would obey only a "definitive" order from the Supreme Court, without explaining what he meant by the term.

The court also asked that Cox and Nixon's lawyers try again to resolve the dispute themselves, and Cox said he was willing. Previous negotiations broke down three weeks ago. —

In another Watergate development, it was reported yesterday that the Senate committee has begun investigating Nixon's personal finances because of allegations that billionaire Howard Hughes made two $50,000 cash payments in 1969 and 1970 to Nixon friend Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo.

The Washington Post quoted "informed sources" as saying the committee will try to subpoena the President's records dealing with his Florida and California real estate holdings and will seek testimony from his personal secretary, Rose Mary Woods.

"Committee sources said that Rebozo has also been unable to explain satisfactorily why the $100,000 was kept in safe deposit boxes for nearly three years and then returned," the Post reported.

Church Council Elects A Woman

NEW YORK (UPI) —Claire Randall, the first woman to head the National Council of Churches, said yesterday she hopes her election will open up the top ranks of the Protestant church to other women and members of minority groups.

"I always felt the church was being party to racial discrimination and even before civil rights became a popular cause I directed my actions toward improving race relations in the church," she said in an interview after being elected Saturday as general secretary of the church group.

"I don't remember ever speaking publicly without touching on the race situation," she added. The new general secretary, 53, is an ordained elder in the United Presbyterian Church.

She said she has been active in the peace movement, taking a strong stand against the Vietnam war and now, while not a militant feminist, she is very much involved in the fight for women's rights.

"It is entirely possible that my election was not a passing phenomenon and shows that the church is now willing to be inclusive in giving opportunities for women and minorities in church decision making," she said. "To open top jobs to one group opens it up to other groups."

She said while many people no longer attend church on a regular basis that does not mean a "sense of God" no longer exists.

"There are many ways and forms God's people are responding to the transcendent dimension of life and reaching for that fourth dimension of life that gives meaning," she said. "To me that reflects God's action and spirit... I find the institutional church very helpful —other people do not. But there are still many who can find an original channel for their actions in society or in their worship of God in the organized church."

A native of San Antonio, Tex., she began her professional church career in her hometown in 1949 as a Christian education worker. She also served several years as director of art for the Presbyterian Church of the United States.

She attended the San Antonio Art Institute, Schreiner College Texas and the Presbyterian School of Christian Eduction in Richmond, Va. and received a B.A. from Scarritt College in Nashville, Tenn.

She was a delegate to the last assembly of the National Council of Churches and participated in several World Council of Churches meetings in Europe.

Novato Band In Half-Time Show

The Novato High School Band has been chosen to take part in the Cal-Oregon State football game half-time show Saturday in Berkeley.

It was one of 65 California bands named to participate in the University of California Marching Band's 24th Annual High School Band Day.

The Novato band members under the direction of Gordon C. Moore will be among 4,150 bandsmen and 485 majorettes joining forces in what is billed as the largest annual musical extravaganza on the west coast.

It ruled that the tapes must be submitted to U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica for inspection as to their relevancy to a grand jury investigation of the Watergate burglary and the ensuing cover-up.

The appeals court gave Nixon's lawyers until Friday to appeal its 5-2 ruling.

The disputed doctrine of executive privilege is expected to remain the chief argument of the White House in opposing special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox's request for the tapes of conversations held between the President and his aides.

"The Constitution mentions no executive privileges, much less any absolute executive privileges," the court said.

The ruling upheld Sirica's Aug. 26 decision and ordered the tapes given to the judge, who would decide which portions, if any, may be withheld from the grand jury on grounds they relate only to "national defense or foreign relations."

But Cox was given the right to inspect the tapes with Sirica so he could argue any presidential claim of irrelevance. If Cox is allowed to listen to all of the tapes, the appeals court ruled, the White House would have a chance to counter any of the prosecutor's arguments.

The court said Nixon lost the right of confidentiality for the tapes when he allowed some of his former aides to testify before the grand jury and the Senate Watergate committee about what was said.

It further rejected Nixon's claims that his political mandate and executive privilege entitled him to immunity from court orders. "These are invitations to refashion the Constitution, and we reject them," the court majority said.

Nixon has said he would obey only a "definitive" order from the Supreme Court, without explaining what he meant by the term.

The court also asked that Cox and Nixon's lawyers try again to resolve the dispute themselves, and Cox said he was willing. Previous negotiations broke down three weeks ago. —

In another Watergate development, it was reported yesterday that the Senate committee has begun investigating Nixon's personal finances because of allegations that billionaire Howard Hughes made two $50,000 cash payments in 1969 and 1970 to Nixon friend Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo.

The Washington Post quoted "informed sources" as saying the committee will try to subpoena the President's records dealing with his Florida and California real estate holdings and will seek testimony from his personal secretary, Rose Mary Woods.

"Committee sources said that Rebozo has also been unable to explain satisfactorily why the $100,000 was kept in safe deposit boxes for nearly three years and then returned," the Post reported.

Church Council Elects A Woman

NEW YORK (UPI) —Claire Randall, the first woman to head the National Council of Churches, said yesterday she hopes her election will open up the top ranks of the Protestant church to other women and members of minority groups.

"I always felt the church was being party to racial discrimination and even before civil rights became a popular cause I directed my actions toward improving race relations in the church," she said in an interview after being elected Saturday as general secretary of the church group.

"I don't remember ever speaking publicly without touching on the race situation," she added. The new general secretary, 53, is an ordained elder in the United Presbyterian Church.

She said she has been active in the peace movement, taking a strong stand against the Vietnam war and now, while not a militant feminist, she is very much involved in the fight for women's rights.

"It is entirely possible that my election was not a passing phenomenon and shows that the church is now willing to be inclusive in giving opportunities for women and minorities in church decision making," she said. "To open top jobs to one group opens it up to other groups."

She said while many people no longer attend church on a regular basis that does not mean a "sense of God" no longer exists.

"There are many ways and forms God's people are responding to the transcendent dimension of life and reaching for that fourth dimension of life that gives meaning," she said. "To me that reflects God's action and spirit... I find the institutional church very helpful —other people do not. But there are still many who can find an original channel for their actions in society or in their worship of God in the organized church."

A native of San Antonio, Tex., she began her professional church career in her hometown in 1949 as a Christian education worker. She also served several years as director of art for the Presbyterian Church of the United States.

She attended the San Antonio Art Institute, Schreiner College Texas and the Presbyterian School of Christian Eduction in Richmond, Va. and received a B.A. from Scarritt College in Nashville, Tenn.

She was a delegate to the last assembly of the National Council of Churches and participated in several World Council of Churches meetings in Europe.

Novato Band In Half-Time Show

The Novato High School Band has been chosen to take part in the Cal-Oregon State football game half-time show Saturday in Berkeley.

It was one of 65 California bands named to participate in the University of California Marching Band's 24th Annual High School Band Day.

The Novato band members under the direction of Gordon C. Moore will be among 4,150 bandsmen and 485 majorettes joining forces in what is billed as the largest annual musical extravaganza on the west coast.

Chicago Residents Proud Of Skyscraper Heritage

By ROSEMARY T. ENG

The Chicago School of Architecture Foundation started in 1971 to train volunteers as architectural tour guides. The program, growing each year, has graduated more than a hundred guides.

Last year some 10,000 people took the tours, even through rain, snow, and below-freezing weather. This year the foundation expects the attendance to double.

"Looking at buildings is contagious," said Mrs. Jeanette Fields, executive secretary of the foundation.

"Our guides have an inspirational quality. They care what happens to Chicago's buildings.

"A guide will walk by the Carson Pirie Scott department store and talk about it. Someone on the tour will say, 'Has that been here all this time?' " she said. The building was designed by Louis H. Sullivan with a delicate cast-iron flora and foliage decoration to catch the woman shopper's eye.

City buildings can be like upsidedown icebergs. Only the tip of an iceberg is visible, while the bulk of it lies unseen up above. People who have lived their entire lives in a city find on the tours that they have failed to see the massive structure which looms above their favorite restaurant or boutique on street level.

His buildings had more and larger windows and let in more light and air than masonry weight-bearing wall structures. The glassy skyscrapers of today evolved from this.

The lighter skeleton frame of iron or steel also permitted greater building height since structural weight no longer depended on the building's walls.

Strolling through the Loop, guides point out the buildings which were innovative in their day. They also point out similarities in construction between those buildings and new skyscrapers.

The guides come from varied backgrounds. Among the 1973 class are architects, a nurse, housewives, a florist, students and a needlepoint shop owner. Their ages range from 20 to 67.

To become guides, they attended six lectures by architectural scholars, and went on two walking tours and a bus tour. They fulfilled reading assignments, passed a written examination, and demonstrated their ability to lead a tour.

After fulfilling all these requirements, the volunteers are committed to donate a half a day a week for one year giving public tours.

Despite the stiff training and the required donation of time, 149 applications were received by the Chicago School of Architecture Foundation this year, out of which 50 were accepted.

A $1 donation is collected from everyone who takes a tour. That money, along with aid from the Illinois Arts Council, helps to pay for training expenses.

The guides receive nothing but free architectural training. Yet some of them have spent more than their half day a week to develop researched articles on Chicago buildings for the metropolitan press, to prepare a study outline for teachers of high school groups which take the tours, and to develop new tours.

Starting recently, the foundation is offering 13 different tours, including walking and bicycle tours of Frank Lloyd Wright buildings in Oak Park, a walking tour of Chicago's "Magnificent Mile" along North Michigan Avenue, and a walking tour of the factory-town designed for the Pullman Company.

More than 500 people turned up in one day last year to see the community built for these who produced the Pullman railway cars on Chicago's South side.

Guides urge everyone on their tours to join the foundation. Membership dues, starting at $15, are used for the foundation's restoration and preservation work.

A preservation project gave birth to the architectural-tour program. The Chicago School of Agriculture Foundation initially rallied in 1966 around preservation of the home of the late John Jacob Glessner, a vice president of International Harvester Company.

Glessner House, designed by the late H. H. Richardson, is located on South Prairie Avenue, the former Chicago Gold Coast strip. Glessner's Prairie Avenue neighbors were the Marshall Fields, Pullmans, Kimballs (pianos), and Armours (meat packing), among others.

A fortress-like home wrapped around a courtyard, Glessner House was at times utilized by a printing company or abandoned and vandalized.

The foundation raised money to buy the home and with its 700 members collected more than $200,000 so far for restoration. Various members gave informal tours as Glessner House was being restored. These gave way to regularly scheduled tours even though restoration has not been completed.

The foundation now is thinking big. Executive secretary Fields said the foundation has visions of restoring Prairie Avenue's mansions and installing gaslights and cobblestone walks to create a "Chicago-type Williamsburg." Good tenants must be found for the run-down mansions along the street, she said.

The architectural-tour program was expanded. "The goal was to educate people in the hope to get them to join the foundation, and many of them do," Mrs. Fields said.

Now Chicago, the architecturally aware city, has another boon.

Rogers C. B. Morton, Secretary of the Interior, proposed this year a "national cultural park" to save landmark buildings:

"I have long been fascinated by the great landmark buildings of Chicago . . . these edifices constitute one of our nation's richest cultural treasures. I believe every effort should be made to retain them as useful as well as ornamental features of the city's life and development."

Bus Program Brings Happiness To Elderly

By COLIN STEWART
The Christian Science Monitor

CONCORD, Mass. — To many people, visiting a department store is no cause for celebration.

But it is for an elderly woman here, who recently visited a department store for the first time in years — riding a school bus, part of a free town-bus program.

An increasing number of towns and cities in the United States are providing such transportation for their elderly citizens.

Funds come from public donations, service clubs, and local businesses, as well as from federal, state, and local governments.

The vehicles used are as various as the sources of funds. The elderly can ride in chartered buses, school buses, "minibuses," vans, or station wagons. And concerned citizens are lobbying for subways that are more easily accessible.

The biggest increase is occurring in towns and small cities, where senior citizens who have no cars can be immobilized if public transport is unavailable.

No statistics are available on how many towns nationwide have special public transportation for senior citizens. In Massachusetts, which one official calls "active but not front-running", about 1 town in 10 has some such program.

Concord (population 16,000) provides town-funded bus service in a program that began Aug. 15.

Two school buses cover six routes every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday picking up for no fare any Concord resident who has applied for a bus pass. The cost of service for the first 11 months is estimated at $8,000 by Frank Curran, manager of Concord's school bus system.

A shopper can catch the bus between 9:30 and 11:30 a.m. and return two hours later from downtown or from a shopping center.

Although any adult Concord resident is eligible to ride the bus, about 85 per cent of the riders are over 55 years old, says Curran. He adds:

"Many of the elderly have so many friends to visit that they use several different routes.

"But some just want to ride around. They don't get off for three hours."

Last March the Concord town meeting approved expenditures for free bus service, after hearing arguments from Phebe Ham.

Miss Ham says she got her idea for using school buses by passing the bus parking lot day after day, seeing the buses sitting idle.

After talking about her idea to Curran, she persuaded Concord's Council on the Aging to place an advertisement in the local paper to find out how many people would use free bus service. Enough people replied for Miss Ham to convince the town meeting to spend as much as $15,000.

"People generally think of Concord as an affluent community," says Miss Ham, "but we found many hidden people who were without cars and dependent on friends and relatives."

Miss Ham was appointed to a town committee to establish the bus system. The committee sought requests for bus passes and then based bus routes on the locations of applicants.

Curran says that, with a recent increase in requests for passes, the bus routes may be altered.

The initial announcement of free bus service brought 300 applications for passes. Now 475 passes have been issued.

In the first two weeks of service (before Labor Day) about 100 passengers rode the buses each day.

Courtesy has proven to be a great drawing card for any transportation for the elderly.

In Concord, Curran says that a high-school service group will assign two girl students to each bus once school begins. The girls will assist elderly passengers with parcels.

Sikh Leader Upset Over Threat To His Children

By JEFF GREER

The spiritual leader of all the Sikhs in the Western Hemisphere hopes to convince San Rafael's city fathers not to "put garbage on their children" by adopting an ordinance that would outlaw the sect's ashram — living center — in the old Babcock Mansion.

Yogi Bhajan's voice boomed above the whir of a vacuum cleaner at an interview Friday, as disciples in stockinged feet tended to an already spotless hallway outside the yogi's ascetically furnished room.

"The city doesn't want to give these children time to grow," he charged, waving a hand at the ashram residents. His arm gleamed with the iron bracelet that is a symbol of the Sikh religion.

The ashram is home for the sons and daughters of some of Marin's oldest families and for some young wanderers who made long, twisting drug trips before joining the Sikhs.

The sect prohibits drugs, alcohol, tobacco and even coffee. It bans begging, requires all its members to earn a living and share their earnings with the needy and stresses that all Sikhs are one family by blood, said Yogi Bhajan, in San Rafael for a visit.

"I feel that every young man or woman who has dropped out of a family must have a family," he said. "Otherwise — do you want them living in a ghetto?

"I want them to have a decent home. Are the city fathers not a guardian for goodness? They should have helped the ashram," the yogi argued. If "they're going to put garbage" on the family, "the city fathers should have a meeting and examine their consciences." The ashram's critics are "in phobic sleep and don't want to get up," the religious leader added.

The ashram's 35 men, women and children have been at odds with San Rafael officialdom since August, when the city planning commission endorsed a proposed ordinance that would outlaw more than five unrelated persons living in any single-family residence and impose fines on their landlords.

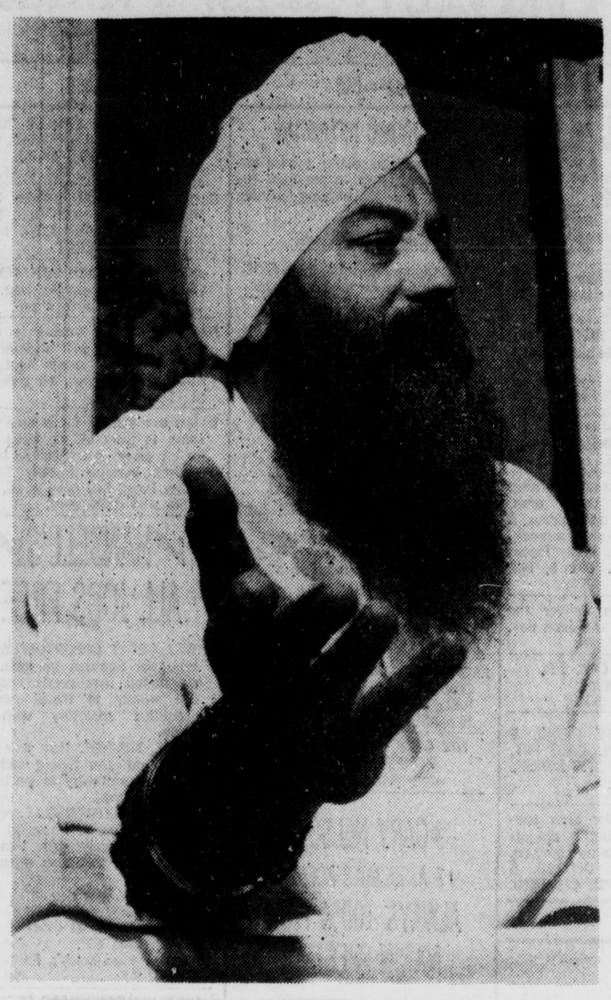
After a hearing last month before a large, mostly pro-ashram audience, the San Rafael City Council named a committee to seek a compromise plan that will be reviewed early next month.

The only external clue that the Victorian mansion is different from its neighbors is a large rack, filled with shoes, on the front porch. (Neither Sikhs nor visitors wear shoes within the ashram.)

Inside, the many rooms are furnished with low benches, or pillows for sitting on the floor.

The scent of Indian spices and the savory aroma of cooking vegetarian dishes filled the air as cooks prepared the evening meal, which all members eat together.

The room occupied by Yogi Bhajan held many green plants, a few religious paintings and books. Lighted, scented candles flanked a portrait of the sect's early-day leaders, who turned against Hindu worship of many gods and rigid caste systems about the time Martin Luther sparked in the Reformation in Europe. Beside the yogi a small tape recorder wailed haunting Sikh music, distinct kin to some popular music of today.



"CHILDREN NEED A FAMILY" — Yogi Bhajan of Los Angeles the Suri Singh Sahib (or prelate) of the Sikh religion for the Western Hemisphere, waves an iron-braceleted arm as he defends the right of the sect's followers to live in a spacious old San Rafael mansion as a communal family.

The old mansion at 16 Culloden Park Road is regional headquarters for Northern California branch of the Sikhs' "3H" organization, which stands for "healthy, happy, holy."

Yogi Bhajan, born and educated in India but now a United States citizen, presides over his flock from headquarters in Los Angeles. His duties take him to ashrams in England, Europe, Puerto Rico, Israel, Japan and Canada, as well as throughout the United States.

The Sikhs "are the biggest task force in America, fighting drugs for the past five years," the yogi declared. "And we've never come with a begging bowl" asking for support, he added.

He said the Sikh family concept is one answer to decay of the traditional American family. Today's home, he said with a chuckle, is a place where "the husband comes home from work and fights with a nagging wife and the children want to get out of that wall-to-wall carpeted house. We have lost the cozy home in America," he added.

The ashrams' doors are open to anyone "who is willing to accept on his own level of consciousness" the monotheistic, meditative teachings of the Sikh wise men, Yogi Bhajan said. He said the sect's tenants are drawn from the same ancient Far Eastern beliefs that form the basis of Buddhism, Judaism and Christianity.

Eventually, the new Sikh is expected to leave the ashram and become a constructive, gainfully employed member of the community, he added. He said that "99.1 per cent of the Sikhs in the U.S. have above-average per capita incomes" and that 100 per cent are employed. Many are scientists, professional men or business owners and Sikhs in Washington, D.C. operate a popular chain of vegetarian restaurants.

The Sikhs' chief role in the U.S., the church leader said, is "helping people outgrow their phobias. We believe all problems of society can be resolved if man relates to his spirit. The lack of religion is what is bothering the whole scene today."

Returning to the San Rafael ashram's troubles, he said the anti-commune ordinance could be very damaging to the community" because it is un-American and contrary to religious freedom.

If the regulation is adopted, the city officials might as well "have a fair and crucify" the ashram members, the yogi believes. "I get stunned with the elders," he said.

Appearance Question Is Argued

The right of a Marin judge to make sure certain misdemeanor defendants appear personally before him was argued today before a superior court judge.

Judge David Menary Jr. took under submission three cases in which the public defender's office has challenged the right of Municipal Judge Gary W. Thomas to order persons released on their own recognizance to make personal appearances.

Deputy County Counsel Allen A. Haim argued the only way Thomas has to gauge the trustworthiness of such defendants is to require them to show up for every hearing.

But deputy Public Defender Glenn D. Becker said state law clearly allows anyone charged with a misdemeanor to appear by counsel only.

After the hearing, both attorneys said the key issue is whether a judge should trust lawyers to act in good faith.

"The whole judicial system operates on the basis of trust," Becker said. "The judge has to trust us not to abuse the system."

Haim said his office is of the opinion the judge has the discretion to require personal appearances.

Ski Swap Scores Success

By KAREN PETERSON

It was wild.

While children hobbled around in their first pair of chunky ski boots, adults roamed the shelves for slick, colorful downhill or thin touring skis, pushing and shoving, bumping and grabbing as they went.

One member of the organizing committee estimated the crowd at more than 5,000 persons.

The occasion, which could have easily resembled a silk stocking sale during World War II, was Saturday's eighth annual Marin Ski Swap. Droves of skiers, perhaps dreaming of that first winter run down snowy Sierra slopes, bought and sold at the swap, a benefit for the Boyd Science Museum. How much money was taken in had not been estimated by today.

While lines of boot-carrying, pole-dangling sellers waited to have their goods priced outside the Veterans Memorial Building, buyers inside were viewing the used equipment and clothing, roaming past booths hawking ski trips and car rentals (you could even get free snow chains for your rented car) and socializing with other members of the skiing community.

"Move your toes. Are they moving? You're sure?" one mother asked her 8-year-old daughter who nodded the whole time in complete agreement.

"Let's sell ours first before we buy anything," warned an anxious husband as his wife eyed the stacks of skis that intermittently slid like avalanches to the floor.

And while all of this was going on, small groups of onlookers took in ski movies done to the strains of the William Tell Overture.

There was every type of skiing apparatus and clothing available at the Swap either to buy or peruse, including step-in and cable bindings, buckle boots, plastic boots and fiberglass boots, down-filled parkas and fancy ski lodge jackets of suede and fur.

Ski shops in Marin and San Francisco displayed the latest in equipment and fashions which include full suits resembling bib overalls for warmup, coordinated jackets and parkas and short, tighter fitting sweaters for women in bright, Norwegian styled patterns.

For the nordic skier, shops displayed their cross-country ski equipment, which one shop owner called the "organic" way to ski.

Shoppers were adamant about their choies. "I definitely have to find a pair of skis with bindings," said one young man, and a little girl's desire for ski pants was rejected by her mother who said she'd better stay with powder pants.

"It's the first time I've been here," said Bea Lufi of Mill Valley, "and I'm sorry I didn't come before."

Highway Closure

Northbound traffic on Highway 101 at East Washington Street, Petaluma, will be detoured across the median barrier into a southbound lane tomorrow from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. for work at the overpass construction project.

One Inmate Slain At Quentin While Another Makes Escape

One San Quentin Prison inmate was murdered and another escaped in unrelated incidents over the weekend, prison officials said today.

Roger Holt, 30, was killed at 4:35 p.m. Saturday when another inmate in D Section of the South Cell block hit him on the back of the neck with a light fixture. Glass from the fixture apparently cut a major artery, according to William D. Nyberg, prison information officer.

Holt was serving a one-year-to-life sentence for second-degree robbery, from Los Angeles County.

Nyberg said one inmate is in custody for Holt's death; the case will be turned over to the Marin County District Attorney for prosecution. Identification will be made only when the inmate is indicted in the case.

Convicted murderer Franklin C. Nabayan, 34, escaped from the prison's family visit housing Saturday night or early yesterday while on a 43-hour visit with his mother, a brother and other relatives.

Nyberg said that Nabayan had gone to bed about 10:30 p.m. Saturday. When his brother awoke at 7:30 a.m. yesterday he found a note in which Nabayan apologized for running away, but said he couldn't bear to go back inside the wall.

Nabayan, serving a life sentence for second-degree murder from San Diego County, was scheduled for a parole hearing next month, Nyberg said.

The missing man was still at large this morning. He was wearing prison denims when he fled.

Young Drug User Book On Fairfax Agenda Again

A controversial book that describes the agonizing life of a young drug user will be considered by the Fairfax School District board at 7:45 p.m. tomorrow in White Hill School.

"Go Ask Alice," a 189-page diary said to be based on the actual manuscript of a 15-year-old girl who embarked on a series of drug and sexual adventures and eventually died of an overdose, has been condemned by some parents and praised by others.

The book became an issue when one parent confiscated it last month from the White Hill library shelf, where it had been placed in February for general circulation among seventh and eighth graders.

Although an overflow crowd billed as one of the largest in district history appeared to air opinions on the book at a board meeting Oct. 2, trustees took no action and allowed less than an hour of debate since no one had placed the matter on the agenda.

Parent Roberta Laidley, who confiscated the volume after her daughter checked it out last month, has officially requested board action by signing a "reconsideration of library materials" form, according to Supt. H. Reginald Hammond.

"I don't know what the board will do," he said. "Since the matter is on the agenda, I would assume the board will allow people to speak."

The board will also consider a proposal for handling selection of reading and language textbooks; a proposed dental survey, and a status report on a controversial plan to turf Deer Park School playgrounds.

UC Planetarium

A United Press International story on the recently opened planetarium at University of California's Lawrence Hall of Science, published Sept. 24 in the Independent-Journal, erroneously identified the operator of the facility as John McCloud. He is actually John Friday, who is from McCloud in Siskiyou County.

Woman, 20, Reports Attack

A 20-year-old San Rafael woman was raped at knifepoint yesterday near Albert Park Lane by a full-bearded man, San Rafael police said today.

The woman told officers she was walking near Lindaro Street and Albert Park Lane at 1:20 a.m. yesterday when a man jumped from the bushes and grabbed her, forcing her to walk near a fence along Albert Park Lane, according to police.

The man waved a knife and pressed it to her neck and breasts, forced her to disrobe and then raped her, police said.

The victim said the man was in his late 20s, had brown, shoulder-length hair, and wore a heavy coat and blue levis, according to police.

One of our professional decorators will bring samples of all our sale fabrics out to your home. Our decorator will help you pick out the colors and patterns that go with you best—right in your own home.

And when you see your furniture re-upholstered or slipcovered you'll love it all over again. The slipcovers will fit perfectly, the upholstery will be snug and beautifully tailored. Your room will have a totally new look.

Call 924-2042. We have custom fabric to suit every taste and every budget. So call now to make sure you get your choice of fabric at 25% off. The decorator advice is free.

Penneys Custom Decorating Service has everything for every budget. From a window treatment to redecorating schemes for the entire house... from accessories to complete room furnishings.

Sale prices effective through Saturday.

AN ADVANCEMENT PROGRAM
YOU CAN COUNT ON!

- ASSISTANT MANAGER AFTER 8 WEEKS ($709-$774 per month paid training)- you can count on it!
- MANAGER IN A YEAR OR LESS - show us you have what it takes & you can count on it!

Jack-In-The-Box Family Restaurants, a rapidly growing subsidiary of Ralston Purina Company, has an immediate need for management trainees; men & women who have leadership ability. You don't need a college degree or food service experience. The management skill is a special talent for working with people; the real enjoyment of people-to-people contact plus the ambition to make it! Bring us that skill . . . and we'll put you in a job that will use it.

- ASSISTANT MANAGER, $9,360-$10,400 per year.
- MANAGER, $11,000-$18,000 per year

Immediate training program openings are available. If you've got what it takes, call us to arrange an interview.

AN ADVANCEMENT PROGRAM
YOU CAN COUNT ON!

- ASSISTANT MANAGER AFTER 8 WEEKS ($709-$774 per month paid training)- you can count on it!
- MANAGER IN A YEAR OR LESS - show us you have what it takes & you can count on it!

Jack-In-The-Box Family Restaurants, a rapidly growing subsidiary of Ralston Purina Company, has an immediate need for management trainees; men & women who have leadership ability. You don't need a college degree or food service experience. The management skill is a special talent for working with people; the real enjoyment of people-to-people contact plus the ambition to make it! Bring us that skill . . . and we'll put you in a job that will use it.

- ASSISTANT MANAGER, $9,360-$10,400 per year.
- MANAGER, $11,000-$18,000 per year

Immediate training program openings are available. If you've got what it takes, call us to arrange an interview.

No. 1485 Sept. 24, Oct. 1, 8, 15, 1973

RESOLUTION NO.
RESOLUTION OF THE SAN ANSELMO SCHOOL DISTRICT RE INTENTION TO LEASE REAL PROPERTY AND CALLING FOR SEALED BIDS.

WHEREAS, the San Anselmo School District is the owner of certain real property hereinafter described, which property is not needed for school purposes by said District; and

WHEREAS, it appears to be in the best interest of said school district that said property be leased to the highest bidder, pursuant to Sections 16061, et seq., of the Education Code of the State of California;

NOW, THEREFORE, IT IS HEREBY FOUND, DETERMINED AND ORDERED;

1. The property hereinafter described, owned by the San Anselmo School District, is not needed for school purposes within the time limit hereinafter set forth.

2. It is the intention of this Board to lease said property to the highest bidder according to the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth.

3. The use of the leased premises shall be limited to office and related use by a non-profit organization established for the benefit of the community.

4. That said property is situated in the County of Marin, State of California, and is particularly described and depicted on EXHIBIT "A" attached hereto and incorporated herein.

5. The minimum acceptable bid shall be $.17 per square foot. Credit against the lease price may be granted for improvements made by the Lessee on approval of the Board of Trustees. The School District will not pay a real estate commission for the lease of said property.

6. No less than one (1) vacant classroom shall be leased to any Lessee.

7. The lease of said property shall be subject to the terms and conditions set forth in EXHIBIT "B" attached hereto and incorporated herein.

8. At 8:30 o'clock P.M., on October 25, 1973, at the regular meeting place of this Board, this Board shall hold a public meeting at which time sealed proposals to lease said property shall be received and considered. Bidders shall conform in all respects in their proposed use with the conditions set forth in EXHIBIT "B". This Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids and to withdraw its offer to lease the property. Before accepting any written proposal, the Board shall call for oral bids. If, upon the call for oral bids, any responsible person offers to lease the said property upon the terms and conditions specified herein and for a rental exceeding by at least 5% the highest written proposal which is hereby made by a responsible person, such highest oral bid shall be finally accepted. The Board reserves the right, however, to determine whether or not the use proposed by the high bidder is fully compatible with the use of the adjacent premises by the School District. Price shall not be the sole criteria if the Board determines that another use is in the better interest of the School District. The Clerk of this Board is hereby directed to post copies of this resolution, adopted by at least a majority of the members of this Board, in three public places in the County not less than 15 days before the date of said public meeting, and to publish a notice thereof not less than once a week for three successive weeks before the date of said meeting in the Independent Journal, a newspaper of general circulation published in the County.

PASSED AND ADOPTED by the Board of Trustees of the San Anselmo School District at a meeting held on the 27th day of September, 1973, by the following vote:
AYES: All
NOES: None
ABSENT: None
/s/ EUGENE E. JACKS
Chairman of the Board of Trustees of San Anselmo School District
/s/ JOHN F. HULPKE
Clerk

EXHIBIT "A"

(2 classrooms of approximately 925 square feet and 1 classroom of approximately 1100 square feet)

EXHIBIT "B"
TERMS AND CONDITIONS FOR LEASE OF SAN ANSELMO SCHOOL

1. This property shall be used by the Lessee only for office and resulted use by a non-profit organization established for the benefit of the community.

2. Lessee shall, together with its bid, submit a definite proposal indicating the specific uses to which the property will be put and the means whereby it proposes to meet with the requirement that the property be used for said purposes.

3. Lessee shall provide public liability insurance coverage indemnifying the school district against suits or losses resulting from activities conducted by the user while occupying this building. Amounts of coverage shall be: Bodily Injury Liability, $100,000 each person and $300,000 single limit. Lessor shall be named as additional insured. Lessee shall indemnify and hold Lessor harmless from any liability for personal injury or property damage arising out of Lessee's use of the premises. Lessor shall continue to carry fire and extended coverage insurance on the premises; however, Lessee shall pay any increased cost of premiums caused by Lessee's use.

4. Rent shall be payable monthly on the first of each month.

5. Lessee shall provide all custodial service, including supplies, for said property. Lessor shall pay all utilities except telephone.

6. Lessee shall pay all costs of normal upkeep on the interior of the building and, upon the termination of this Lease, shall return the building to the District in the same condition, normal wear and tear excepted.

The Lessor shall have no obligation to pay for interior repairs or upkeep on the premises, including but not limited to such items as plumbing.

7. Any remodeling, interior painting, new construction, or reconstruction of the premises shall be done at the sole expense of the Lessee and only after the plans and specifications therefor have been approved by the Lessor. Said improvements shall become property of Lessor at termination of lease.

8. The lease shall be for a period from November 1, 1973 to June 30, 1974.

9. This lease shall be terminable:

(a) By Lessee at any time.

(b) By the Lessor on thirty days written notice, in the event that Lessee ceases to employ the premises exclusively for the permitted purposes.

(c) By the Lessor if it shall hereafter determine its need to re-employ the premises for the purpose of classroom instruction, and to renovate or reconstruct the existing building for such purpose, in which event the lease shall terminate thirty days prior to the estimated date of commencement of such renovation or reconstruction, and after written notice of not less than sixty (60) days.

(d) By the Lessor at any time, after violation or non-performance by the Lessee of any of the terms and provisions hereof, incurred after sixty (60) days written notice.

(e) By Lessor, upon the giving of thirty (30) days written notice, should problems arise of such severity that the Lessor, in its discretion, determines the continued use of the premises by Lessee is not in the best interests of the community.

10. Lessee shall not assign or sublease all or any part of the premises without written approval from Lessor.

11. Lessor shall provide competent supervision for all activities conducted on the premises.

RESOLUTION OF THE SAN ANSELMO SCHOOL DISTRICT RE INTENTION TO LEASE REAL PROPERTY AND CALLING FOR SEALED BIDS.

WHEREAS, the San Anselmo School District is the owner of certain real property hereinafter described, which property is not needed for school purposes by said District; and

WHEREAS, it appears to be in the best interest of said school district that said property be leased to the highest bidder, pursuant to Sections 16061, et seq., of the Education Code of the State of California;

NOW, THEREFORE, IT IS HEREBY FOUND, DETERMINED AND ORDERED;

1. The property hereinafter described, owned by the San Anselmo School District, is not needed for school purposes within the time limit hereinafter set forth.

2. It is the intention of this Board to lease said property to the highest bidder according to the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth.

3. The use of the leased premises shall be limited to office and related use by a non-profit organization established for the benefit of the community.

4. That said property is situated in the County of Marin, State of California, and is particularly described and depicted on EXHIBIT "A" attached hereto and incorporated herein.

5. The minimum acceptable bid shall be $.17 per square foot. Credit against the lease price may be granted for improvements made by the Lessee on approval of the Board of Trustees. The School District will not pay a real estate commission for the lease of said property.

6. No less than one (1) vacant classroom shall be leased to any Lessee.

7. The lease of said property shall be subject to the terms and conditions set forth in EXHIBIT "B" attached hereto and incorporated herein.

8. At 8:30 o'clock P.M., on October 25, 1973, at the regular meeting place of this Board, this Board shall hold a public meeting at which time sealed proposals to lease said property shall be received and considered. Bidders shall conform in all respects in their proposed use with the conditions set forth in EXHIBIT "B". This Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids and to withdraw its offer to lease the property. Before accepting any written proposal, the Board shall call for oral bids. If, upon the call for oral bids, any responsible person offers to lease the said property upon the terms and conditions specified herein and for a rental exceeding by at least 5% the highest written proposal which is hereby made by a responsible person, such highest oral bid shall be finally accepted. The Board reserves the right, however, to determine whether or not the use proposed by the high bidder is fully compatible with the use of the adjacent premises by the School District. Price shall not be the sole criteria if the Board determines that another use is in the better interest of the School District. The Clerk of this Board is hereby directed to post copies of this resolution, adopted by at least a majority of the members of this Board, in three public places in the County not less than 15 days before the date of said public meeting, and to publish a notice thereof not less than once a week for three successive weeks before the date of said meeting in the Independent Journal, a newspaper of general circulation published in the County.

PASSED AND ADOPTED by the Board of Trustees of the San Anselmo School District at a meeting held on the 27th day of September, 1973, by the following vote:

AYES: All
NOES: None
ABSENT: None
/s/ EUGENE E. JACKS
Chairman of the Board of Trustees of San Anselmo School District
/s/ JOHN F. HULPKE
Clerk

EXHIBIT "A"

(2 classrooms of approximately 925 square feet and 1 classroom of approximately 1100 square feet)

EXHIBIT "B"
TERMS AND CONDITIONS FOR LEASE OF SAN ANSELMO SCHOOL

1. This property shall be used by the Lessee only for office and resulted use by a non-profit organization established for the benefit of the community.

2. Lessee shall, together with its bid, submit a definite proposal indicating the specific uses to which the property will be put and the means whereby it proposes to meet with the requirement that the property be used for said purposes.

3. Lessee shall provide public liability insurance coverage indemnifying the school district against suits or losses resulting from activities conducted by the user while occupying this building. Amounts of coverage shall be: Bodily Injury Liability, $100,000 each person and $300,000 single limit. Lessor shall be named as additional insured. Lessee shall indemnify and hold Lessor harmless from any liability for personal injury or property damage arising out of Lessee's use of the premises. Lessor shall continue to carry fire and extended coverage insurance on the premises; however, Lessee shall pay any increased cost of premiums caused by Lessee's use.

4. Rent shall be payable monthly on the first of each month.

5. Lessee shall provide all custodial service, including supplies, for said property. Lessor shall pay all utilities except telephone.

6. Lessee shall pay all costs of normal upkeep on the interior of the building and, upon the termination of this Lease, shall return the building to the District in the same condition, normal wear and tear excepted.

The Lessor shall have no obligation to pay for interior repairs or upkeep on the premises, including but not limited to such items as plumbing.

7. Any remodeling, interior painting, new construction, or reconstruction of the premises shall be done at the sole expense of the Lessee and only after the plans and specifications therefor have been approved by the Lessor. Said improvements shall become property of Lessor at termination of lease.

8. The lease shall be for a period from November 1, 1973 to June 30, 1974.

9. This lease shall be terminable:

(a) By Lessee at any time.

(b) By the Lessor on thirty days written notice, in the event that Lessee ceases to employ the premises exclusively for the permitted purposes.

(c) By the Lessor if it shall hereafter determine its need to re-employ the premises for the purpose of classroom instruction, and to renovate or reconstruct the existing building for such purpose, in which event the lease shall terminate thirty days prior to the estimated date of commencement of such renovation or reconstruction, and after written notice of not less than sixty (60) days.

(d) By the Lessor at any time, after violation or non-performance by the Lessee of any of the terms and provisions hereof, incurred after sixty (60) days written notice.

(e) By Lessor, upon the giving of thirty (30) days written notice, should problems arise of such severity that the Lessor, in its discretion, determines the continued use of the premises by Lessee is not in the best interests of the community.

10. Lessee shall not assign or sublease all or any part of the premises without written approval from Lessor.

11. Lessor shall provide competent supervision for all activities conducted on the premises.

DREAM COME TRUE — Bank president Orville Gunther of American Fork, Utah, always wanted to be a railroad engineer and now he is, even though he had to build his own railroad to make it. In addition to fulfilling a boyhood dream, Gunther also "wanted my grandchildren to know what a steam train looks and sounds like. The O. G. Express has been a "great diversion for Gunther and the hordes of children who ride his train on weekends.

(UPI Telephoto)

Banker Realizes A Boyhood Dream

He's spent several thousand dollars — he won't say how many — building his own pint-sized railroad on two and one-half acres of pastureland behind his home in this small town 30 miles south of Salt Lake City.

"It's been a great diversion for me," said Gunther, 60, president of the $18 million Bank of American Fork. "I've fulfilled one of those inner yearnings a person has."

Gunther traced the yearning back to his childhood, when his father built stationary steam engines and they boy wanted to be a trainman.

Instead, he became a school teacher, a businessman and finally a banker.

"But my affinity for old steam locomotives and things like that persisted through the years and I finally decided to translate it into reality," Gunther said a few days after driving the "golden spike" on his 2,000-foot loop of track.

"I spent every spare moment I had on it," said the trim business executive, who did all the work on the railroad himself, except for building the engine. He got some help on the manual labor from family and friends.

The colorful engine — black with red, yellow and green trim —is a replica of the steam engines that dominated American railroading a century ago. The five and one-half foot tall engine, built for Gunther in Pennsylvania, is a model of the 4-4-0 American type engines of the 1865 to 1870 era. On weekends, Gunther puts on his engineer's hat, red bandana and striped coveralls, helps his son put "about two shovelfuls of coal" into the engine, pulls the whistle cord and chugs around the two-foot wide backyard track.

Neighbors and hordes of children go along for the ride — sitting on benches in one covered car or on the beds of two flat cars. The Steam Buffs, a group of old train fanciers from Salt Lake, rode the "O.G. Express" on one weekend.

The banker, who says his wife "knows I like it" and goes along with his hobby, said he plans to plant pasture grass around the tracks as landscaping, add spurs and switches "like a real railroad," finish the two flat cars, and build a caboose along with a station.

"It's still in the making, just a simple loop run," Gunther explained. "I'll extend it as time goes on. It won't really be finished until at least next summer."

ANNUAL DAY — The community of Gabbs in Nevada is noted for big gambling clubs or fancy hotels. But the town is becoming noted for its annual Gabbs Day where old-time mining camp games are revived such as this single jack contest where contestants drill by hand into a solid block of granite.

(UPI Telephoto)

People Stick Together In Gabbs

GABBS, Nev. (UPI) —There aren't any big gambling clubs, plush hotels or other "tourist traps" in this small central Nevada community.

X-rated movies are out and the city is virtually crime free. Gabbs, in fact, just doesn't measure up to the image of most Nevada cities with their fast action and flashy veneer.

Examples are plentiful. Parents became concerned several years ago when players from the high school football team, called the "Tarantulas", kept coming home from practice and games with cuts, scratches and bruises —acquired from the rough dirt field. One weekend citizens got together, donated their time, leveled and planted grass for a new field.

They didn't ask for any federal or state money —they just went ahead without fanfare with the project.

The city's best effort, however, is its annual picnic in September which offers free food, beer, soft drinks, contests in mining skills and entertainment.

It's a community get-together and serves as a "homecoming" for those who have left. This year 3,000 showed up. There were only a handful of out-of-state tourists — which is just the way many Gabbs residents like it. And it was held the same weekend as the Nevada State Fair in Reno and the annual camel races in Virginia City.

"There is no big hustle here," says Tom Jones, owner of the Keystone Club, the largest in the town with one 21 game and four slot machines.

For months, nearly every citizen serves on a committee planning the event, which this year cost $10,000.

"Without everybody in on the planning this would not be the success it is," says Mayor Reno Ratti, a 22-year resident.

It's a city that is close knit, says the mayor. "If a person breaks a leg or is down on his luck, then the rest chip in out of their own pocket," says Ratti, who works for Basic Refractories, a mining plant which is the only reason for the city's existence. The company contributed $7,000 towards this year's picnic.

The event "started as an attempt to rekindle the mining camp spirit," says Bob Gates, former head of Basic here. Gates, now a vice president in the main office in Cleveland, Ohio, says, "It started as a company-town picnic but we kind of made it a volunteer city effort."

The picnic serves in part as public relations to convince outsiders Gabbs isn't such a bad place to live. It is isolated in the desert about 120 miles southwest of Reno. By modern standards Gabbs doesn't have much to offer.

Most parents like it because it lacks the big city temptations for their children. Typical is Sharon Reed, a young housewife with children 8 and 10 years old who moved here from the Reno area.

"It's an excellent place to raise children," she says. "We always know where our kids are or we can find them with one or two phone calls."

There are occasional problems with marijuana but it hasn't spread to the "hard stuff," say local citizens.

Despite the enthusiasm, the company here finds it hard to recruit and maintain a stable work force. And high school graduates mostly move on to "greener pastures." For instance, only two of the 18 graduates of the class of 1969 remained.

One of the two is Dale Burleson who has tasted "big city" life and found out he's really a small town boy. "A lot of people say there is nothing to do here. You have to make 'something to do.'" He spends his spare time hunting, fishing and exploring old mines and covering the wide open desert

Tina Timbrell, an attractive 21-year-old, moved here a year and a half ago from Lakeview, Ore., and she loves it. She is single and says, "When we want a night out, we go to Hawthorne 50 miles away. In addition we have several activities such as women's softball that we enjoy."

Outsiders, after attending the annual picnic, use the standard New York City quip, "It's a great place to visit but I wouldn't want to live there."

Residents don't agree. They know they lack many things. But they feel their easy lifestyle and community spirit more than make up for some of the outside glamour and glitter.

Carbon monoxide, clean air.

Smoke particles, light air pollution.

Other areas:

San Francisco, light air pollution.

San Jose, heavy air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources but the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Smoke Now And Regret Later Is Advice To Teen-Age Girl

We overheard a 16-year-old girl say: "I smoke because several of my friends do. My parents disapprove, even though my father smokes. In my opinion, I am master of my own destiny, inasmuch as my body is mature, people tell me I use good judgment, and I have a slightly above average IQ. If anything happens, I can always quit because of my willpower. 'Live now,' I always say. Nothing personal, but fooey on doctors."

You may be master of your destiny, but I have very little faith in the captain of your ship. Many teen-agers are at an age when they feel they know it all. Actually, it is dumb to get hooked on a habit that is difficult to break. Ask anyone who has smoked cigarettes for five or more years.

IN ADDITION, as expensive as they are, cigarettes are likely to get more expensive. Furthermore, tobacco is one of the first items to be taxed when our government needs more money. Anyone interested in 'cheating' the government, should quit smoking.

Any person who starts to smoke in his teens also falls into a health trap. Most complications of cigarettes, such as lung cancer, emphysema, chronic bronchitis, and heart trouble, develop after years of heavy smoking. A person must almost start as a teen-ager to meet the prerequisites for trouble ahead. Most young people become two-pack-a-day smokers within a few years, mainly because they feel no harmful effects. After a decade, cigarette cough develops, followed by more permanent damage to the lungs and heart. These complications usually take place before age 50.

MOST TEEN-AGERS regard 50 as old age and too far off for them to be concerned. As a rule, it is a waste of time trying to convince them to look ahead and build a good foundation for the future. This is unfortunate, because after 35, life can be most enjoyable provided you have your health. Sex is the greatest and there are no worries about things that turn out to be trivia.

If you want to smoke — go ahead — it's your life. But it is the only one you will ever get. And when you reach 40 and are disabled from a cough or shortness of breath, don't cry or complain. Those who were more intelligent will be there to remind you how dumb you really were when sweet 16.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Idependent-Journal, P.O. Box 330, San Rafael, CA 94902. Telephone inquiries will not be answered.

STUBBORN WART

A reader writes: Three years ago my sister had a plantar wart removed surgically. A couple of X-ray treatments were given later. Now the wart has returned. Can it be removed permanently?

REPLY

The wart and the surrounding tissue can be removed surgically and the area replaced with a skin graft. Some surgeons also remove the metatarsal bones beneath the bone or callus. I assume the physician has tried special shoes and pads. Additional X-ray or radium treatments are not advisable because they have a latent carcinogenic effect. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on plantar warts.

CARAWAY SEEDS

S.J. writes: Will eating two or three boxes of caraway seeds a week do any harm?

REPLY

No, provided your stomach and intestines can take it.

FAINTING SPELLS

A reader writes: My bachelor brother, 67, has fainted several times recently. On two occasions he was hospitalized, but released within 48 hours after they took his blood pressure and cardiogram. Max is thin, but eats, sleeps, and feels well. He does not smoke or drink. What puzzles me is why he receives no shots or medication. Does this mean nothing can be done to avoid future attacks?

REPLY

No. There are 20 or more causes of fainting, including poor circulation to the brain. The next time your brother goes to the hospital he should insist upon a diagnosis.

READING IN SUN

D. A. writes: Does it harm the eyes to read in the sun?

REPLY

No, but the glare makes reading more difficult and hastens eye fatigue. Avoid looking into the sun.

Last Year Bad For Port Fires

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Fire Department reported yesterday that major blazes along the San Francisco waterfront made last year "the most disastrous in the recent history of the port."

The department said in an annual report that fires destroyed or severely damaged four piers in a ten-month period.

The report also said there were 9,103 fires last year and 38 deaths, a decrease of seven from the previous fiscal year.

Firemen Have Dangerous Job

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A survey by the International Association of Fire Fighters shows that fire fighting is second only to mining and quarrying as the most dangerous employment in the United States.

The death rate for professional firemen was 74 deaths per 100,000, the association said Sunday, compared to 57 deaths per 100,000 for policemen, 17 per 100,000 for all industrial workers and 9 per 100,000 for manufacturing workers.

Bicyclist Hurt In Truck Crash

A 16-year-old Mill Valley bicyclist was released from Marin General Hospital yesterday, after being injured when his bike struck a lumber truck parked on Miller Avenue early Friday.

Perry Olson of 115 Cornelia Avenue, suffered face and chest scrapes, and was held for observation of other possible head injuries. Police said he apparently was blinded by the morning sun, and failed to see the truck.

DREAM COME TRUE — Bank president Orville Gunther of American Fork, Utah, always wanted to be a railroad engineer and now he is, even though he had to build his own railroad to make it. In addition to fulfilling a boyhood dream, Gunther also "wanted my grandchildren to know what a steam train looks and sounds like. The O. G. Express has been a "great diversion for Gunther and the hordes of children who ride his train on weekends.

(UPI Telephoto)

Banker Realizes A Boyhood Dream

He's spent several thousand dollars — he won't say how many — building his own pint-sized railroad on two and one-half acres of pastureland behind his home in this small town 30 miles south of Salt Lake City.

"It's been a great diversion for me," said Gunther, 60, president of the $18 million Bank of American Fork. "I've fulfilled one of those inner yearnings a person has."

Gunther traced the yearning back to his childhood, when his father built stationary steam engines and they boy wanted to be a trainman.

Instead, he became a school teacher, a businessman and finally a banker.

"But my affinity for old steam locomotives and things like that persisted through the years and I finally decided to translate it into reality," Gunther said a few days after driving the "golden spike" on his 2,000-foot loop of track.

"I spent every spare moment I had on it," said the trim business executive, who did all the work on the railroad himself, except for building the engine. He got some help on the manual labor from family and friends.

The colorful engine — black with red, yellow and green trim —is a replica of the steam engines that dominated American railroading a century ago. The five and one-half foot tall engine, built for Gunther in Pennsylvania, is a model of the 4-4-0 American type engines of the 1865 to 1870 era. On weekends, Gunther puts on his engineer's hat, red bandana and striped coveralls, helps his son put "about two shovelfuls of coal" into the engine, pulls the whistle cord and chugs around the two-foot wide backyard track.

Neighbors and hordes of children go along for the ride — sitting on benches in one covered car or on the beds of two flat cars. The Steam Buffs, a group of old train fanciers from Salt Lake, rode the "O.G. Express" on one weekend.

The banker, who says his wife "knows I like it" and goes along with his hobby, said he plans to plant pasture grass around the tracks as landscaping, add spurs and switches "like a real railroad," finish the two flat cars, and build a caboose along with a station.

"It's still in the making, just a simple loop run," Gunther explained. "I'll extend it as time goes on. It won't really be finished until at least next summer."

ANNUAL DAY — The community of Gabbs in Nevada is noted for big gambling clubs or fancy hotels. But the town is becoming noted for its annual Gabbs Day where old-time mining camp games are revived such as this single jack contest where contestants drill by hand into a solid block of granite.

(UPI Telephoto)

People Stick Together In Gabbs

GABBS, Nev. (UPI) —There aren't any big gambling clubs, plush hotels or other "tourist traps" in this small central Nevada community.

X-rated movies are out and the city is virtually crime free. Gabbs, in fact, just doesn't measure up to the image of most Nevada cities with their fast action and flashy veneer.

Examples are plentiful. Parents became concerned several years ago when players from the high school football team, called the "Tarantulas", kept coming home from practice and games with cuts, scratches and bruises —acquired from the rough dirt field. One weekend citizens got together, donated their time, leveled and planted grass for a new field.

They didn't ask for any federal or state money —they just went ahead without fanfare with the project.

The city's best effort, however, is its annual picnic in September which offers free food, beer, soft drinks, contests in mining skills and entertainment.

It's a community get-together and serves as a "homecoming" for those who have left. This year 3,000 showed up. There were only a handful of out-of-state tourists — which is just the way many Gabbs residents like it. And it was held the same weekend as the Nevada State Fair in Reno and the annual camel races in Virginia City.

"There is no big hustle here," says Tom Jones, owner of the Keystone Club, the largest in the town with one 21 game and four slot machines.

For months, nearly every citizen serves on a committee planning the event, which this year cost $10,000.

"Without everybody in on the planning this would not be the success it is," says Mayor Reno Ratti, a 22-year resident.

It's a city that is close knit, says the mayor. "If a person breaks a leg or is down on his luck, then the rest chip in out of their own pocket," says Ratti, who works for Basic Refractories, a mining plant which is the only reason for the city's existence. The company contributed $7,000 towards this year's picnic.

The event "started as an attempt to rekindle the mining camp spirit," says Bob Gates, former head of Basic here. Gates, now a vice president in the main office in Cleveland, Ohio, says, "It started as a company-town picnic but we kind of made it a volunteer city effort."

The picnic serves in part as public relations to convince outsiders Gabbs isn't such a bad place to live. It is isolated in the desert about 120 miles southwest of Reno. By modern standards Gabbs doesn't have much to offer.

Most parents like it because it lacks the big city temptations for their children. Typical is Sharon Reed, a young housewife with children 8 and 10 years old who moved here from the Reno area.

"It's an excellent place to raise children," she says. "We always know where our kids are or we can find them with one or two phone calls."

There are occasional problems with marijuana but it hasn't spread to the "hard stuff," say local citizens.

Despite the enthusiasm, the company here finds it hard to recruit and maintain a stable work force. And high school graduates mostly move on to "greener pastures." For instance, only two of the 18 graduates of the class of 1969 remained.

One of the two is Dale Burleson who has tasted "big city" life and found out he's really a small town boy. "A lot of people say there is nothing to do here. You have to make 'something to do.'" He spends his spare time hunting, fishing and exploring old mines and covering the wide open desert

Tina Timbrell, an attractive 21-year-old, moved here a year and a half ago from Lakeview, Ore., and she loves it. She is single and says, "When we want a night out, we go to Hawthorne 50 miles away. In addition we have several activities such as women's softball that we enjoy."

Outsiders, after attending the annual picnic, use the standard New York City quip, "It's a great place to visit but I wouldn't want to live there."

Residents don't agree. They know they lack many things. But they feel their easy lifestyle and community spirit more than make up for some of the outside glamour and glitter.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Smoke Now And Regret Later Is Advice To Teen-Age Girl

We overheard a 16-year-old girl say: "I smoke because several of my friends do. My parents disapprove, even though my father smokes. In my opinion, I am master of my own destiny, inasmuch as my body is mature, people tell me I use good judgment, and I have a slightly above average IQ. If anything happens, I can always quit because of my willpower. 'Live now,' I always say. Nothing personal, but fooey on doctors."

You may be master of your destiny, but I have very little faith in the captain of your ship. Many teen-agers are at an age when they feel they know it all. Actually, it is dumb to get hooked on a habit that is difficult to break. Ask anyone who has smoked cigarettes for five or more years.

IN ADDITION, as expensive as they are, cigarettes are likely to get more expensive. Furthermore, tobacco is one of the first items to be taxed when our government needs more money. Anyone interested in 'cheating' the government, should quit smoking.

Any person who starts to smoke in his teens also falls into a health trap. Most complications of cigarettes, such as lung cancer, emphysema, chronic bronchitis, and heart trouble, develop after years of heavy smoking. A person must almost start as a teen-ager to meet the prerequisites for trouble ahead. Most young people become two-pack-a-day smokers within a few years, mainly because they feel no harmful effects. After a decade, cigarette cough develops, followed by more permanent damage to the lungs and heart. These complications usually take place before age 50.

MOST TEEN-AGERS regard 50 as old age and too far off for them to be concerned. As a rule, it is a waste of time trying to convince them to look ahead and build a good foundation for the future. This is unfortunate, because after 35, life can be most enjoyable provided you have your health. Sex is the greatest and there are no worries about things that turn out to be trivia.

If you want to smoke — go ahead — it's your life. But it is the only one you will ever get. And when you reach 40 and are disabled from a cough or shortness of breath, don't cry or complain. Those who were more intelligent will be there to remind you how dumb you really were when sweet 16.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Idependent-Journal, P.O. Box 330, San Rafael, CA 94902. Telephone inquiries will not be answered.

STUBBORN WART

A reader writes: Three years ago my sister had a plantar wart removed surgically. A couple of X-ray treatments were given later. Now the wart has returned. Can it be removed permanently?

REPLY

The wart and the surrounding tissue can be removed surgically and the area replaced with a skin graft. Some surgeons also remove the metatarsal bones beneath the bone or callus. I assume the physician has tried special shoes and pads. Additional X-ray or radium treatments are not advisable because they have a latent carcinogenic effect. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on plantar warts.

CARAWAY SEEDS

S.J. writes: Will eating two or three boxes of caraway seeds a week do any harm?

REPLY

No, provided your stomach and intestines can take it.

FAINTING SPELLS

A reader writes: My bachelor brother, 67, has fainted several times recently. On two occasions he was hospitalized, but released within 48 hours after they took his blood pressure and cardiogram. Max is thin, but eats, sleeps, and feels well. He does not smoke or drink. What puzzles me is why he receives no shots or medication. Does this mean nothing can be done to avoid future attacks?

REPLY

No. There are 20 or more causes of fainting, including poor circulation to the brain. The next time your brother goes to the hospital he should insist upon a diagnosis.

READING IN SUN

D. A. writes: Does it harm the eyes to read in the sun?

REPLY

No, but the glare makes reading more difficult and hastens eye fatigue. Avoid looking into the sun.

Bicyclist Hurt In Truck Crash

A 16-year-old Mill Valley bicyclist was released from Marin General Hospital yesterday, after being injured when his bike struck a lumber truck parked on Miller Avenue early Friday.

Perry Olson of 115 Cornelia Avenue, suffered face and chest scrapes, and was held for observation of other possible head injuries. Police said he apparently was blinded by the morning sun, and failed to see the truck.

Last Year Bad For Port Fires

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Fire Department reported yesterday that major blazes along the San Francisco waterfront made last year "the most disastrous in the recent history of the port."

The department said in an annual report that fires destroyed or severely damaged four piers in a ten-month period.

The report also said there were 9,103 fires last year and 38 deaths, a decrease of seven from the previous fiscal year.

Firemen Have Dangerous Job

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A survey by the International Association of Fire Fighters shows that fire fighting is second only to mining and quarrying as the most dangerous employment in the United States.

The death rate for professional firemen was 74 deaths per 100,000, the association said Sunday, compared to 57 deaths per 100,000 for policemen, 17 per 100,000 for all industrial workers and 9 per 100,000 for manufacturing workers.

UNITED FINANCIAL GROUP, INC., formerly known as USI Group, Inc., et al, Defendants.

Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to an order entered by the United States District Court for the District of Oregon, entitled "Order for Sale of Real Property at 89 Harbor Drive, Novato, Marin County, California, to Kristensen," William E. Tassock, the receiver herein, was authorized to sell approximately 7 acres of real property located at 89 Harbor Drive, Novato, Marin County, California, to Tage Kristensen, for $232,000 cash. The purchaser is entitled to a credit of $1,000 for replacement of the front doors on the house located on the premises so the effective sales price is $231,000.

You are further notified that the above-described sale shall come on for confirmation before the above-described court on October 24, 1973, at 2:00 p.m. and shall be confirmed unless a bona fide offer is made which guarantees at least a 10 per centum increase over the price offered by Tage Kristensen.

DATED this 9th day of October, 1973.

MARIN COUNTY DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS
SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA
NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS OR BIDS

Sealed Proposals shall be filed with George H. Gnoss, Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, Room 315, Marin County Civic Center, San Rafael, California, until 2:00 p.m., October 29, 1973, for:

Trimming, safety pruning, cut back and shaping of Eucalyptus trees on Butterfield Road, Sleepy Hollow, Marin County, California.

The work shall be done in accordance with official plans and specifications prepared in reference thereto which may be inspected at the office of the Department of Public Works, County of Marin, Room 304, Civic Center, San Rafael, California, and may be purchased for $3.00 per set (non-refundable). Mailed requests shall be addressed to the Department of Public Works, County of Marin, P.O. Box 4186, Civic Center, San Rafael, California 94903. Checks should be made payable to the County of Marin.

Proposals will be opened and read at 2:00 p.m., in Room No. 304-B, Marin County Civic Center, on the day specified above.

The award of the contract, if it be awarded, will be to the lowest responsible bidder whose proposal complies with the requirements prescribed. The award, if made, will be made within thirty (30) days after the opening of the proposals.

The Board of Supervisors has made a determination of the prevailing rate of hourly wages applicable to the work to be performed. Copies of this determination are on file in the office of the County Clerk, Civic Center, Room 315, San Rafael, California, and are available to any interested party upon request. Copies may be obtained from the Department of Public Works, Room 304, Civic Center.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

A meeting of all prospective bidders will be held to review the work on the site on Wednesday, October 24, 1973. All prospective bidders shall meet at 2:00 p.m. at the corner of Butterfield Road and Green Valley Court and proceed from there to the site. No bid will be accepted from any bidder who has not been represented at this meeting.

Meeting Set In Bolinas On Sewage Disposal Plan

A controversial plan for sewage disposal in Bolinas and alternatives proposed by its opponents will be discussed at a public hearing before the Bolinas Community Public Utility District board Nov. 2.

The utility board has applied for state grants covering 87 per cent of a proposed $1.6 million system, including five treatment ponds on a 95-acre site which would also be used for a park and for spray irrigation of the treated wastes.

Opponents have charged the site is too large and costly. State engineers, who recently said the number of ponds should be reduced, are currently discussing the matter with district consultant William J. Oswald, a professor of sanitary engineering at the University of California at Berkeley.

A ballot measure requiring the board to purchase only enough land for the sewage treatment plant and forbidding purchase of lands for parks or open space will be presented to voters Nov. 6.

Director Paul D. Kayfetz said the amount of money the state is willing to put up for the project and its cost to individual homeowners will be known by the time of the public hearing.

The hearing will be at 7:30 p.m. in the district office.

Blizzard Delays Volcano Wedding

AREQUIPA, Peru (UPI) — Moises Chacon, 60, and Nicolasa Lerma, 25, were married in te Andes yesterday at the summit of the 19,098-foot volcano El Misti. Their wedding was delayed three hours because of a blizzard.

The wedding party, all mountain climbers, included the witnesses and about 100 invited guests carrying several bottles of champagne.

Spacecraft Incident Said Real

PASCAGOULA, Miss. (UPI) —A Northwestern University astronomer says the "very terrifying experience" of two men indicates that a strange craft from another planet did land in Mississippi.

"Where they are coming from and why they were here is a matter of conjecture," Dr. Allen Hynek said, "but the fact that they were here on this planet is beyond a reasonable doubt."

Hynek and Dr. James Harder of the University of California interviewed by hypnosis two shipyard workers who told authorities they were fishing from an old pier in the Pascagoula River when a "fishshaped" vehicle emitting a bluish haze approached from the sky.

Charles Hickson, 42, and 18-year-old Calvin Parker, both of the Gautier community, have maintained throughout a weekend of intense questioning that they were taken aboard the craft by three weird creatures with wrinkled skin, crab-claw hands and pointed ears.

Hynek, who was scientific consultant to Project Bluebook when it was conducted on UFOs by the U.S. Air Force in the 1960's, said after talking to Parker and Hickson:

"There is no question in my mind that these men have had a very terrifying experience. Under no circumstances should they be ridiculed. Let's protect these men."

Hickson and Parker, "both scared to death and shaking all over," told the Jackson County sheriff's office of their bizarre experience Thursday night.

Sheriff Fred Diamind said he believed "something" happened to the men because they were "scared to death and on the verge of a heart attack."

Other residents of the Pascagoula area reported to the sheriff's office they saw a similar UFO in the vicinity of the fishing location about the time the two men maintain they did.

The men, who have volunteered to undergo lie-detector tests, were checked for radiation exposure Friday at Keesler Air Force Base, but the results were negative.

Hynek said although the men were able to be hypnotized "their experience was so traumatic that it was essential to progress slowly."

"These are not imbalanced people," Harder said. "They're not crackpots."

"There was definitely something here that was not terrestrial, of the earth," he said.

Patrol Cars Will Have Blue Lights

Rotating blue lights will soon join the red and amber warning lights atop California Highway Patrol cars in Marin and Southern Sonoma.

The new light units, including an electronic siren and public address system, are being added to patrol cars in the Bay Area, Los Angeles and San Diego.

By Jan. 1, about 150 of the lights will be in operation in the three metropolitan areas and more than 300 will have been installed by next spring. Ultimately, all highway patrol cars will be equipped with the blue lights.

A recent study showed that blue lights are more visible at night and that red ones could be seen better during the day. Both will operate simultaneously under emergency conditions.

Tiburon Youths Robbed Of $50

Two gunmen robbed three Tiburon youths of $50 Friday in a parking lot in Marin City.

Sheriff's deputies said the bandits took the cash from wallets belonging to Stephen C. Lynch, Samuel Ward and Scott J. McEvers, all 18.

The youths were standing in a parking lot at Drake Avenue and Donahue Street at 8:55 p.m. when they were approached by two young men, one brandishing a revolver. The gunmen took the cash and fled on foot east on Drake Avenue, deputies said.

Trial Set On Armed Robbery

A woman has been bound over to Marin Superior Court to stand trial on an armed robbery charge.

To appear Oct. 29 is Toi Ann Weindel, 22, of no fixed address.

Does More Than Help Shrink Swelling Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues Due To Infection

Also Gives Prompt, Temporary Relief in Many Cases from Pain, Itching in Such Tissues.

Doctors have found a remarkably successful medication that actually helps shrink swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues when infected and inflamed. And it does more. In many cases it gives relief for hours from pain and itching in these tissues. Tests by doctors proved this true in many cases.

The medication used was Preparation H. And no prescription is needed for Preparation H®. Ointment or suppositories.

"Love thy enemy..."

This is a religious precept that challenges the mind. Love my enemy when I can barely deal calmly with my in-laws? Yet this hard saying has validity in a world where even a small act of violence has such unforeseeable repercussions. Scientific advances have heightened our mutual vulnerability. Only love and non-violence can sustain us. We may concede violence is in all of us. So is God. Try His way. It works. Get together with your family, friends, neighbors, or co-workers to discuss the problems of violence and how you can work together to help solve them. Meeting Set In Bolinas On Sewage Disposal Plan

A controversial plan for sewage disposal in Bolinas and alternatives proposed by its opponents will be discussed at a public hearing before the Bolinas Community Public Utility District board Nov. 2.

The utility board has applied for state grants covering 87 per cent of a proposed $1.6 million system, including five treatment ponds on a 95-acre site which would also be used for a park and for spray irrigation of the treated wastes.

Opponents have charged the site is too large and costly. State engineers, who recently said the number of ponds should be reduced, are currently discussing the matter with district consultant William J. Oswald, a professor of sanitary engineering at the University of California at Berkeley.

A ballot measure requiring the board to purchase only enough land for the sewage treatment plant and forbidding purchase of lands for parks or open space will be presented to voters Nov. 6.

Director Paul D. Kayfetz said the amount of money the state is willing to put up for the project and its cost to individual homeowners will be known by the time of the public hearing.

The hearing will be at 7:30 p.m. in the district office.

Blizzard Delays Volcano Wedding

AREQUIPA, Peru (UPI) — Moises Chacon, 60, and Nicolasa Lerma, 25, were married in te Andes yesterday at the summit of the 19,098-foot volcano El Misti. Their wedding was delayed three hours because of a blizzard.

The wedding party, all mountain climbers, included the witnesses and about 100 invited guests carrying several bottles of champagne.

Spacecraft Incident Said Real

PASCAGOULA, Miss. (UPI) —A Northwestern University astronomer says the "very terrifying experience" of two men indicates that a strange craft from another planet did land in Mississippi.

"Where they are coming from and why they were here is a matter of conjecture," Dr. Allen Hynek said, "but the fact that they were here on this planet is beyond a reasonable doubt."

Hynek and Dr. James Harder of the University of California interviewed by hypnosis two shipyard workers who told authorities they were fishing from an old pier in the Pascagoula River when a "fishshaped" vehicle emitting a bluish haze approached from the sky.

Charles Hickson, 42, and 18-year-old Calvin Parker, both of the Gautier community, have maintained throughout a weekend of intense questioning that they were taken aboard the craft by three weird creatures with wrinkled skin, crab-claw hands and pointed ears.

Hynek, who was scientific consultant to Project Bluebook when it was conducted on UFOs by the U.S. Air Force in the 1960's, said after talking to Parker and Hickson:

"There is no question in my mind that these men have had a very terrifying experience. Under no circumstances should they be ridiculed. Let's protect these men."

Hickson and Parker, "both scared to death and shaking all over," told the Jackson County sheriff's office of their bizarre experience Thursday night.

Sheriff Fred Diamind said he believed "something" happened to the men because they were "scared to death and on the verge of a heart attack."

Other residents of the Pascagoula area reported to the sheriff's office they saw a similar UFO in the vicinity of the fishing location about the time the two men maintain they did.

The men, who have volunteered to undergo lie-detector tests, were checked for radiation exposure Friday at Keesler Air Force Base, but the results were negative.

Hynek said although the men were able to be hypnotized "their experience was so traumatic that it was essential to progress slowly."

"These are not imbalanced people," Harder said. "They're not crackpots."

"There was definitely something here that was not terrestrial, of the earth," he said.

Patrol Cars Will Have Blue Lights

Rotating blue lights will soon join the red and amber warning lights atop California Highway Patrol cars in Marin and Southern Sonoma.

The new light units, including an electronic siren and public address system, are being added to patrol cars in the Bay Area, Los Angeles and San Diego.

By Jan. 1, about 150 of the lights will be in operation in the three metropolitan areas and more than 300 will have been installed by next spring. Ultimately, all highway patrol cars will be equipped with the blue lights.

A recent study showed that blue lights are more visible at night and that red ones could be seen better during the day. Both will operate simultaneously under emergency conditions.

To appear Oct. 29 is Toi Ann Weindel, 22, of no fixed address.

"Love thy enemy..."

This is a religious precept that challenges the mind. Love my enemy when I can barely deal calmly with my in-laws? Yet this hard saying has validity in a world where even a small act of violence has such unforeseeable repercussions. Scientific advances have heightened our mutual vulnerability. Only love and non-violence can sustain us. We may concede violence is in all of us. So is God. Try His way. It works. Get together with your family, friends, neighbors, or co-workers to discuss the problems of violence and how you can work together to help solve them. Does More Than Help Shrink Swelling Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues Due To Infection

Also Gives Prompt, Temporary Relief in Many Cases from Pain, Itching in Such Tissues.

Doctors have found a remarkably successful medication that actually helps shrink swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues when infected and inflamed. And it does more. In many cases it gives relief for hours from pain and itching in these tissues. Tests by doctors proved this true in many cases.

The medication used was Preparation H. And no prescription is needed for Preparation H®. Ointment or suppositories.

A TREASURE CHEST IS BURIED

Young Christopher Pool of Novato takes his responsibilities seriously. That copper box, destined for placement in the corner stone of the new Masonic Temple in Novato, contains treasured memorabilia of the Masons. Guiding Christopher at the cornerstone laying Saturday was Chester MacPhee, grand treasurer of Hamilton Lodge 751. The new building is at 1905 Novato Boulevard.

Nixon Gives Nine Medal Of Honor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon presented the Medal of Honor today to nine Vietnam veterans and told them they had made it possible for "the United States to end the war and have peace with honor."

Nixon personally hung the medal, attached to a bright blue ribbon, around the neck of each of the winners, as members of their families stood by.

The medals, the nation's highest award for military bravery, were the first awarded since the end of the Vietnam War.

The recipients included:

Lt. Brian M. Thacker, 28, Honolulu —cited for action during a battle March 31, 1971. Thacker was wounded during North Vietnamese attacks but while manning "a dangerously exposed observation position," he called in artillery fire on his own position to allow comrades more time to pull back.

Sgt. 1.C. Gary L. Littrell, 28, Indianapolis, Ind. —While serving as an adviser to a South Vietnamese unit April 4-8, 1970, he took charge of the unit when the Vietnamese commander was killed and directed artillery and air attacks against enemy forces.

Engineman 1.C. Michael E. Thorton, 24, Spartansburg, S.C., —While a Navy guerrilla warfare specialist his patrol was ambushed Oct. 31, 1972. He rescued his wounded and unconscious senior adviser, braving heavy enemy fire.

Gunnery Sgt. Allan J. Kellogg Jr., 30, Bethel, Conn. —When his unit was overrun March 11, 1970, he "hurled himself over a hand grenade thrown into their midst and absorbed the blast." Although seriously wounded, he directed withdrawal of his patrol to safety.

Lt. Col. Leo K. Thoresness, Sioux Falls, S.D. —On April 19, 1967, 11 days before he was shot down and became a prisoner of war, when two fellow airmen were shot down, he protected their descending parachutes from several MIG17s.

Sgt. Gary B. Beikirch, 26, Rochester, N.Y —While a medical aide, his position was hit by a heavy enemy attack but he continually went to the aid of wounded comrades though wounded himself.

Spec. 4 Michael J. Fitzmorris, Cavour, S.D. —During a attack March 23, 1971, three explosive charges were hurled into his bunker, and he threw two of them back out, then threw himself over the third and absorbed the blast. Although seriously wounded, he then engaged in hand to hand combat with attackers.

Pfc. Kenneth M. Kays, 24, Fairfield, Ill. —While a medic his unit was hit at night May 7, 1970, and he repeatedly braved enemy fire to treat comrades, though wounded himself.

Former Astronaut Has Skin Grafts

GALVESTON, Tex. (UPI) — Doctors at John Sealy Hospital has reported former astronaut Fred Haise Jr. had skin graft operations on his arms and legs this week, two months after he was severely burned

Haise received burns over 55 per cent of his body and suffered a lung ailment in the crash of a converted World War II trainer Aug. 22.

US Said Peacemaker In The Middle East

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Following is a White House transcript of remarks today by President Nixon on the Middle East crisis, made during a ceremony for award of the Medal of Honor to nine Vietnam veterans:

"One word finally with regard to the current war which is going on in the Middle East.

"If I were to describe our policy, I would say that it is like the policy we followed in 1958 when Lebanon was involved, it is like the policy we followed in 1970 when Jordan was involved.

"The policy of the United States in the Middle East, very simply stated, is this: We stand for the right of every nation in the Mideast to maintain its independence and security. We want this fighting to end. We want the fighting to end on a basis where we can build a lasting peace.

"But the policy of the United States is that of peacemaker in the area and I would conclude by saying that the men honored today and the thousands of Americans who also should be honored, who served their country in Vietnam, make it possible for the United States to play the honored role as peacemaker in the world."

Infant Son Found Dead

The 7-month-old son of a physician was found dead in his crib Saturday after his parents had telephoned a babysitter at their Mill Valley home to check on the child.

Aaron Leviton, son of Dr. and Mrs. Alan Leviton of 17 Heuter Lane, may have been the victim of the sudden death syndrome that affects infants, according to the Marin County Coroner's Office. The child was determined in good health after an examination Wednesday. An autopsy was planned.

The infant was discovered not breathing at 9:25 p.m. and was rushed by ambulance to Marin General Hospital where he was pronounced dead, according to the coroner.

The 450 SE Sedan.
This is the car that may finally prompt you to invest in a Mercedes-Benz.

Now comes the 450SE ...a sedan so fresh in its concepts, so enlightened in its craftsmanship that it exceeds your wildest dreams. Read what the 450SE offers. Then test drive it. You may wait no longer to buy your first Mercedes-Benz.

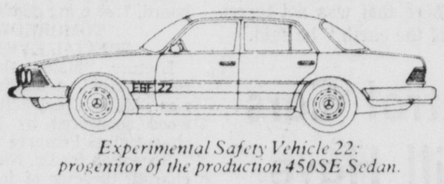
The 450SE couldn't have arrived at a better time.

Concerns with exhaust emissions, safety and energy utilization have forced changes in automotive engineering. With the 450SE, Mercedes-Benz offers a car that has a social conscience—and is fun to drive.

The 450SE's technological advances were not lost on the experts. "The best sedan in the world," says Road & Track magazine. Autoweek considers it "certainly the most exciting sedan in the world... so far ahead of its time it leaves us stunned..."

Smooth, efficient power

The 450SE is powered by a 4.5-liter, overhead cam V-8 with electronic fuel injection. There's nothing like it in any other sedan.



Experimental Safety Vehicle 22: progenitor of the production 450SE Sedan.

This unique engine gives you better than 25% more power per cubic inch and better fuel economy than any domestic luxury car. The 450SE uses about four gallons where any top line domestic sedan would use at least five.

Sculptured by the wind

Try a 450SE in the rain. You'll be amazed at how clear the glass area remains. The window molding catches water and grime as they come off the windshield—before they have a chance to foul the side glass. The molding also puts the airstream to work, guiding it across the windows to further sweep them clean. The rear glass is cleared by the same principles.

Suspension better than ever

Considering the Mercedes-Benz reputation for handling, that is quite a statement. Nevertheless, it is true.

The front suspension on the 450SE is a direct lesson from our 180-mph experimental C-111 Coupe. Zero steering offset gives this latest Mercedes-Benz remarkable straight-line stability. And this full 5-passenger sedan can negotiate a circle only 37.5 feet in diameter.

The fully independent rear suspension is exactly like that of the famous 450SL sports car. The system has lost nothing in its transference to the 450SE. Say good-bye to wallowing suspensions and mushy controls when you take command of this car.

Strength above and beyond

The 450SE is the strongest sedan Mercedes-Benz has ever built.

It has the most rigid passenger compartment of any Mercedes-Benz production car. The front and rear extremities of the car were designed around this "passenger cell." They deform on impact, absorbing as much force as possible before it reaches the cockpit area.

This body is treated to a series of baths, coatings and paintings that take the better part of a day to complete. In all, every 450SE is layered with more than 30 pounds of protective coating and more than 40 pounds of paint.

The safest sedan?

Mercedes-Benz would never say that. But the experts at Autoweek had no qualms. They saw the close relationship that the production 450SE has with our latest experimental safety vehicle, ESV 22. They called the 450SE "the safest car in the world available to the public."

Mercedes-Benz has long been an innovator of safety developments. The "safety cone" locks which secure our doors received their first patent in Germany in 1949. The crushable extremity/rigid passenger cell idea was granted its patent in 1952.

These are just a few of the elements which promote passive safety. They were developed to help minimize injury if an accident is unavoidable.

Active safety endeavors to help keep you out of accidents in the first place. Responsive handling, excellent braking and agile maneuverability are all essential elements.

Take braking. The 450SE has a fade-resistant disc brake for every wheel—4-wheel disc brakes. A feature Mercedes-Benz introduced on all its models 6 years ago.

There's more. Driver environment. A subtle and vital driving consideration. Location of controls, seating design, ventilation, even the width of the steering wheel are carefully considered in a multi-faceted attack on driver fatigue. Because the fresher you are, the better use you can make of the controls at your disposal.

No automobile manufacturer anywhere in the world is more concerned with safety. No one else has been more active in making it a part of his product for as long a time.

Invitation:

Mercedes-Benz has always aimed to build not just successful cars, but significant cars. That has been achieved in the 450SE. What awaits you now is the most remarkable driving experience of your life. Phone us today. We'll be happy to arrange a test drive.

The Second Series Game A Drama—Or Comedy?

By VITO STELLINI

OAKLAND (UPI) —It was the "Gone With The Wind" of World Series games.

For epic contests filled with moments of high drama and low comedy, the second game of the 1973 World Series ranks with any of the 410 games in the 70-year history of the classic.

The New York Mets battled the Oakland A's for a record 4 hours 13 minutes before finally emerging yesterday with a hard fought 10-7 victory in 12 innings that evened the Series at a game apiece.

The teams now take a much-needed day off after the emotionally draining game for the coast-to-coast flight to New York where the third game of the Series is scheduled at Shea Stadium tomorrow at 5:30 p.m. PDT.

After Oakland mowed down the Mets 2-1 in a rather ho-hum affair Saturday, this game had even the usually blase Oakland crowd of 49,151 roaring at times. Even the absence of the traditional World Series banners and flags at the dull-gray Oakland Coliseum couldn't blunt the excitement.

And when it was all over, after the big dispute, the wild throws and the desperate rallies, it was Willie Mays who tasted one of the last moments of glory in his long career.

Mays only played the final four innings after being put in as a pinch-runner for Rusty Staub and it was a nightmare for him at first. He's 42 and he shows it. He fell down on the base paths and in the outfield where he misjudged two fly balls.

But in the top of the 12th with runners on first and third and two out, Mays bounced a single up the middle to snap a 6-6 tie.

Rollie Fingers just threw his glove up in disgust. You're not supposed to be beaten by 42-year-old men. Not unless his name is George Blanda.

"I guess it was the toughest day I can ever remember," Mays admitted.

But after his single broke the tie, Mike Andrews—the third Oakland second baseman—made two errors to let in three more runs and that was the difference.

That made it five errors for Oakland. Darold Knowles made the other key one with a wild throw to the plate that let in two runs in the Mets' four-run sixth inning that put them ahead 6-3.

"I wish I could blame it on something," Knowles said. "I just slipped and made a bad throw."

That inning was a typical one for the Mets. They only got two hits out of the infield, getting two walks, a hit batter, an infield single and two normal singles.

Even though Reggie Jackson, who emerged from his slump by tagging reliever Tug McGaw, doubled in a run in the seventh, McGraw took a 6-4 lead into the ninth and seemed to have the game well in hand.

But Jackson and Gene Tenace, last year's World Series hero, cracked back-toback run-scoring singles with two out in the ninth inning to deadlock the game at 6-6.

"I just wasn't concentrating," McGraw said. "I thought we had the game won already."

The big rhubarb of the game came in the 10th inning when Joe Rudi threw out Bud Harrelson at the plate to keep the game tied. At least, umpire Augie Donatelli ruled that catcher Ray Fosse brushed Harrelson with a tag.

Harrelson and the rest of the Mets claimed Fosse missed him while Fosse said he brushed

Refs Sometime Look Wrong Way

None of the 49er players, nor head coach Dick Nolan, wanted to officially speak their mind about the officiating in yesterday's 17-13 loss to the Minnesota Vikings because of the gag rule imposed on such talks by NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

But it was a struggle not to publicly blast the officials on their handling of the Vikings' first touchdown, or as films will clearly indicate, the non-touchdown. Nolan had to bite his lip and keepstaring down at the floor when he discussed this play with reporters after the game at Candlestick Park.

THE CONTROVERSIAL play came early in the game, shortly after the Vikings recovered the first of three Vic Washington fumbles. The Vikings had the ball, second down and eight yards to go, on the 49ers' 12-yard line. Quarterback Fran Tarkenton threw a pass which was clearly tipped by running back Ed Marinaro into the arms of wide receiver John Gilliam who caught the ball on the two, with one knee on the ground. Forty-niner cornerback Ralph McGill hit Gilliam who again touched the ground with his knee, got up and ran into the end zone. The officials signaled touchdown.

There was not one rule infraction on the play, but two. First, two offensive players can't touch the same pass, or it must be ruled incomplete. Second, when Gilliam's knee hit the ground after contact was made by a defensive man, the play must be ruled dead at the point his knee touched the ground.

The officials ruled that a 49er defender touched the ball between the time Marinaro and Gilliam touched it, which would indeed make it a legal pass. But I searched all over the 49er dressing room yesterday to find who touched the ball after Marinaro tipped it. My search proved fruitless.

"No, I wasn't close to the ball," said McGill. "I didn't see any other 49er touch it. The only other guy who would have had a chance would have been Dave Wilcox."

But Wilcox, left side linebacker, said, "Heck no, I wasn't even that close to the ball. Nobody touched it after Marinaro tipped it. But what the hell, it doesn't matter anymore. We still lost."

If the correct call had been made, it would have been third and eight, giving the Vikes just one more chance at a pass or run for touchdown. If that failed, they would have had to take the field goal, and that would have been a difference of four points, the margin of the eventual victory.

WIN OR LOSE, it was a very exciting game and the 49ers were fighting all the way, and I mean to the very end. The final play of the game had all the fans out of their seats, cheering, and then laughing. There was no bitterness in this kind of loss.

With only six seconds left in the game and the 49ers trying desperately from their own 46, Steve Spurrier passed to Ted Kwalick on the Minnesota 40 and Ted immediately lateraled to Gene Washington who tried to swing down the right sideline. But when his path was clogged, he lateraled to center Forrest Blue who tried to get it back to Kwalick but his lateral was batted by a Viking defender and the ball finally rolled out of bounds at midfield with 22 players trying to chase it down.

After the game, Washington and Kwalick said it was a planned play "up to a point." The ball was supposed to go from Kwalick to Washington to touchdown, but said Gene: "When I saw those guys coming up I knew I couldn't make it, so I tried to get the ball back to someone else." The rest of the play was unplanned and it came out truly hilarious.

THE 49ERS could have pulled this one out if it was not for those two fourth quarter interceptions by safety Paul Krause of Spurrier passes in the vicinity of Doug Cunningham. The Niners outplayed the Vikings in every statistical categhry but the most important one.

While Spurrier was setting a 49er record by completing 31 passes, fullback Ken Willard looked like the Willard of old, ripping through for important first downs.

"It felt good, but it would have felt much better if we had won," said Willard.

Alertness Of Krause, Eller Stops 49ers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Credit the alertness of safety Paul Krause and defensive end Carl Eller for extending the unbeaten string of the Minnesota Vikings to five games.

Krause intercepted two of sizzling Steve Spurrier's passes in the final 6 ½ minutes while Eller tipped one of those passes and recovered a fumble that led to an early touchdown yesterday in Minnesota's 17-13 win over the San Francisco 49ers.

"We were blitzing on both interceptions and I was forced to either intercept the ball or tackle the guy after he caught it," said Krause who now has 60 career interceptions.

"I don't think the quarterback saw me on the first one and Eller tipped the ball into my hands. (49er running back Doug) Cunningham was behind me on the first one and I caught the ball reaching back."

That steal broke the back of the 49ers, who had driven from their own seven to the Vikings' 13 while consuming 8 ½ minutes of the last period and trailing 14-13.

"Both of those interceptions by Krause were great plays," said 49er Coach Dick Nolan.

Krause's second interception came with about four minutes remaining with the 49ers pressing again on the Vikings 42. It led to a 22-yard field goal by Fred Cox with 1:02 remaining.

Spurrier, a surprise starter for John Brodie, enjoyed his finest afternoon in pro football. He broke Brodie's team record by completing 31 passes. Spurrier passed 48 times for 320 yards without being sacked once.

"It would have been nicer if we won," said the former Heisman Trophy winner from Florida. "I made a mistake on the sideline pass to Cunningham. It would have been out of bounds but Eller tipped the ball. Krause just fooled me on the second one."

With Minnesota leading 14-6, Spurrier capped an 80-yard drive in the third period by hitting forgotten fullback Ken Willard on the goalline with a

Gillman To Replace Oiler Coach?

HOUSTON (UPI) —Houston Oilers head coach Bill Peterson, who won only one game in his year and a half with the last place club, today said he was fired by owner K.S. "Bud" Adams.

Peterson, 49, said the Oilers had agreed to pay him for his remaining three and a half years on his contract.

The Oilers called an 11 a.m. CDT news conference, presumably to announce the dismissal. General manager Sid Gillman was expected to take over at least as interim head coach.

Peterson had told newsmen last night that "I've got a job to do and they've assured me I'll have time to do it."

Denver defeated Houston 48-20 yesterday, the Oilers' fifth loss this season and 16th straight since October, 1972.

Hockey Teams Lose

The four Marin Amateur Hockey Club youth teams were defeated in Northern California Amateur Hockey League games yesterday. Berkeley defeated the Mites, 4-0, and the Squirts, 7-0, at Raydine's Ice Rink in Corte Madera, while Santa Rosa defeated the Pee Wees, 11-0, and Bantams, 4-3, in Santa Rosa.

UCLA's McAlister Doubtful Starter

LOS ANGELES (AP) — UCLA's leading rusher, fullback James McAlister, has a badly bruised right knee and is a doubtful starter for Saturday's Pacific-8 football game against Washington State at Spokane.

McAlister was injured during the second quarter of Saturday's 59-13 rout of Stanford, after he had scored three times and run for 117 yards.

"It's up to me when I feel I'm ready," said the senior running back, 27-foot long jumper.

Drake Gridders Knock Off Novato

By LEW CODDINGTON

The Drake High School Pirates have been believing in themselves since the beginning of the football season. Now a few other people must believe in them as well.

The Pirates made their point in the most emphatic way possible Saturday afternoon, knocking off pre-season favorite Novato, 20-14, in a Marin County Athletic League game played before 900 unbelieving fans at Novato.

"I was so nervous during the game, I'm still nervous now," said winning coach Dean Lazzarini 10 minutes afterward. And small wonder, for a script was unfolding that had meant only tragedy for the downtrodden Pirates in their last half-dozen losing seasons: underdog gets lead, underdog makes mistakes, underdog blows lead and game.

Only it didn't happen that way. And now Drake, which tied for last place in the MCAL in 1972 with a 1-5 record, rests atop the standings with Redwood at 2-0. Novato is 0-1.

Drake went ahead on the first play of the second quarter, as running back Henry Kremer bolted 28 yards up the middle following a pass interception by linebacker George Pedersen.

Santa Rosa Whips Marin Tars, 55-16

By DAVE DEL GRANDE

The Bear Cubs, now 1-1 in the Camino Norte Conference, used a balanced rushing attack to gain 339 yards on 55 carries, scoring touchdowns on six of the carries. Quarterback Spirto Ballatore, moved to his position only two weeks ago, led all rushers with 98 yards on five carries, scoring on runs of 69 and 16 yards.

For the Tars, 1-1 in the CNC and 2-2 for the year, it was a disappointing afternoon. Coming into the game with a two-game win streak, the Tars had hoped to make it three, but Santa Rosa's early scores and big defensive line turned back the Tars' hopes.

Nevertheless, the day wasn't all bad for the Tars. The conference's leading passer, Mike Sanderson, threw for a respectable 189 yards and one touchdown to split end John Buckley, who caught nine passes on the day for 83 yards. The other Tar touchdown came when Duke Bessee blocked a Santa Rosa punt and Steve Withers ran it 31 yards for the score.

For the Tars, it was the fourth consecutive loss to their archrival Bear Cubs, but they hope to rebound Saturday night at 7:30 in their conference game against Contra Costa in San Pablo.

COOPER WINS

Seales' Fight Pick Goes Awry

By RON LENT

Olympic Games welterweight gold medalist Sugar Ray Seales is unbeaten today as a professional boxer, but he is not doing as well in his pugilistic predictions.

The 1972 Munich boxing king tabbed challenger David Love over champion George Cooper Saturday night in their 12-round state middleweight championship fight in the Sonoma State College gym at Rohnert Park. However, the Oakland belter knocked out Love in the seventh round before some 3,000 howling fans in a benefit for the Hansen, Warren Foundation of Santa Rosa, which helps prison parolees in a halfway house.

"I think that if Love boxes like he can, he'll win," said the congenial Seales. But the 22-year-old San Diego resident seldom had enough room to utilize his ring craft as the champion mounted continuous pressure.

Seals (12-0 as a pro), who was kept busy throughout the bout by autograph seekers, felt that Love's quick jab and clever foot work would keep the mustachioed Cooper from landing his lethal punches. Instead, Love was able only to ward off the inevitable for six rounds before the stalking kingpin could corner his prey.

Although inactive since decisioning Nate Collins Sept. 28, 1972, Cooper showed he has lost none of his punch in the fateful seventh.

After taking a mandatory eight count, a groggy Love began retreating hastily around the ring. But Cooper, sensing

'We Just Hang In There' — Stabler

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — It was hard to conceive of an Oakland Raiders' victory over the San Diego Chargers without last-minute heroics by Daryle Lamonica or George Blanda but Kenny Stabler carried on the tradition yesterday.

"We just hang in there," Stabler said after the Raiders' 27-17 come-from-behind victory. "The thing about our offense is we may be down by a lot of points but there's no obstacle we can't surpass."

He fired a 54-yard third quarter scoring pass to Cliff Branch to rally the Raiders from a 10-6 deficit, drove his team 80 yards in 14 plays after falling behind 17-13 in the fourth period and iced the game with a 26-yard pass to Bob Moore.

Now 3-2, the Raiders are a half-game behind Kansas City in the American Football Conference West while the 1-4 Chargers are last in the four-team division.

Lamonica, who has a 10-1-2 record in the intrastate rivalry, did not play. Oakland Coach John Madden said he did not consider using him for Stabler as it could have hurt the young southpaw quarterback's confidence.

Since 1968, all but one of the games between the Raiders and Chargers had been decided in the final two minutes. Up to yesterday.

As important as the game was, however, on the more dramatic side it marked the emergence of third-round draft choice Dan Fouts of Oregon as a bonafide National Football League quarterback.

The rookie threw touchdown passes of 20 yards to Jim Thaxton and 36 yards to Jerry LeVias. He was intercepted only once by one of the best defenses in the business in his first start for the Chargers.

Alertness Of Krause, Eller Stops 49ers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Credit the alertness of safety Paul Krause and defensive end Carl Eller for extending the unbeaten string of the Minnesota Vikings to five games.

Krause intercepted two of sizzling Steve Spurrier's passes in the final 6 ½ minutes while Eller tipped one of those passes and recovered a fumble that led to an early touchdown yesterday in Minnesota's 17-13 win over the San Francisco 49ers.

"I was so nervous during the game, I'm still nervous now," said winning coach Dean Lazzarini 10 minutes afterward. And small wonder, for a script was unfolding that had meant only tragedy for the downtrodden Pirates in their last half-dozen losing seasons: underdog gets lead, underdog makes mistakes, underdog blows lead and game.

Only it didn't happen that way. And now Drake, which tied for last place in the MCAL in 1972 with a 1-5 record, rests atop the standings with Redwood at 2-0. Novato is 0-1.

Drake went ahead on the first play of the second quarter, as running back Henry Kremer bolted 28 yards up the middle following a pass interception by linebacker George Pedersen.

By DAVE DEL GRANDE

The Bear Cubs, now 1-1 in the Camino Norte Conference, used a balanced rushing attack to gain 339 yards on 55 carries, scoring touchdowns on six of the carries. Quarterback Spirto Ballatore, moved to his position only two weeks ago, led all rushers with 98 yards on five carries, scoring on runs of 69 and 16 yards.

For the Tars, 1-1 in the CNC and 2-2 for the year, it was a disappointing afternoon. Coming into the game with a two-game win streak, the Tars had hoped to make it three, but Santa Rosa's early scores and big defensive line turned back the Tars' hopes.

Nevertheless, the day wasn't all bad for the Tars. The conference's leading passer, Mike Sanderson, threw for a respectable 189 yards and one touchdown to split end John Buckley, who caught nine passes on the day for 83 yards. The other Tar touchdown came when Duke Bessee blocked a Santa Rosa punt and Steve Withers ran it 31 yards for the score.

For the Tars, it was the fourth consecutive loss to their archrival Bear Cubs, but they hope to rebound Saturday night at 7:30 in their conference game against Contra Costa in San Pablo.

COOPER WINS

Seales' Fight Pick Goes Awry

By RON LENT

Olympic Games welterweight gold medalist Sugar Ray Seales is unbeaten today as a professional boxer, but he is not doing as well in his pugilistic predictions.

The 1972 Munich boxing king tabbed challenger David Love over champion George Cooper Saturday night in their 12-round state middleweight championship fight in the Sonoma State College gym at Rohnert Park. However, the Oakland belter knocked out Love in the seventh round before some 3,000 howling fans in a benefit for the Hansen, Warren Foundation of Santa Rosa, which helps prison parolees in a halfway house.

"I think that if Love boxes like he can, he'll win," said the congenial Seales. But the 22-year-old San Diego resident seldom had enough room to utilize his ring craft as the champion mounted continuous pressure.

Seals (12-0 as a pro), who was kept busy throughout the bout by autograph seekers, felt that Love's quick jab and clever foot work would keep the mustachioed Cooper from landing his lethal punches. Instead, Love was able only to ward off the inevitable for six rounds before the stalking kingpin could corner his prey.

Although inactive since decisioning Nate Collins Sept. 28, 1972, Cooper showed he has lost none of his punch in the fateful seventh.

After taking a mandatory eight count, a groggy Love began retreating hastily around the ring. But Cooper, sensing

'We Just Hang In There' — Stabler

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — It was hard to conceive of an Oakland Raiders' victory over the San Diego Chargers without last-minute heroics by Daryle Lamonica or George Blanda but Kenny Stabler carried on the tradition yesterday.

"We just hang in there," Stabler said after the Raiders' 27-17 come-from-behind victory. "The thing about our offense is we may be down by a lot of points but there's no obstacle we can't surpass."

He fired a 54-yard third quarter scoring pass to Cliff Branch to rally the Raiders from a 10-6 deficit, drove his team 80 yards in 14 plays after falling behind 17-13 in the fourth period and iced the game with a 26-yard pass to Bob Moore.

Now 3-2, the Raiders are a half-game behind Kansas City in the American Football Conference West while the 1-4 Chargers are last in the four-team division.

Lamonica, who has a 10-1-2 record in the intrastate rivalry, did not play. Oakland Coach John Madden said he did not consider using him for Stabler as it could have hurt the young southpaw quarterback's confidence.

Since 1968, all but one of the games between the Raiders and Chargers had been decided in the final two minutes. Up to yesterday.

As important as the game was, however, on the more dramatic side it marked the emergence of third-round draft choice Dan Fouts of Oregon as a bonafide National Football League quarterback.

The rookie threw touchdown passes of 20 yards to Jim Thaxton and 36 yards to Jerry LeVias. He was intercepted only once by one of the best defenses in the business in his first start for the Chargers.

SAN RAFAEL WINS

San Marin Rally Is Short, 19-14

By LEW CODDINGTON

San Rafael High School was comfortably ahead statistically from the start, and comfortably ahead on the scoreboard by the third quarter, so why were all the Bulldog football fans biting their nails and tearing their hair with 13 seconds left Saturday?

The reason was that San Marin High had recovered an onside kick and moved to the San Rafael 19-yard line with a chance for the winning touchdown, but a pass interception by Dave Steele preserved the 19-14 victory.

About 700 fans watched the Marin County Athletic League clash at Novato High. They yawned during the first quarter as the teams went 10 minutes without a first down, and scratched their heads at halftime, as San Marin (with zero first downs and 28 yards total offense) held a 7-6 lead over San Rafael (with 10 first downs and 172 yards).

Shortly after intermission, though, San Rafael's Craig Saunders scampered 25 yards for a touchdown following a Nelson Moore interception. In the fourth quarter, a Steele interception set up a 10-yard Steele-to-Fred Hurst scoring toss and a 19-7 Bulldog lead.

San Rafael opened the game's scoring in the second quarter on an eight-yard run by Steve D'Ambra, but San Marin went ahead on a three-yard run by Wayne Roche right after Bruce Vollert's fumble recovery.

Roche, running hard on a broken toe, carried on 21 of San Marin's 28 rushing plays and gained 68 yards. D'Ambra was the game's star, though, with 97 yards in 13 tries, while Saunders gained 64 in 13.

San Rafael entered the game hoping to throw long, and Steele attempted 27 pass in the first half (hitting 10), but when San Marin retreated to stop the bomb, the run became available and the Bulldogs took it, coach Bob Muster said.

San Rafael lifted its MCAL record to 1-1 and is 3-2 overall. San Marin is 0-2 and 3-2.

Terra Linda Booters Top San Rafael

Terra Linda High School defeated San Rafael Saturday night, 3-0, in a Marin County Athletic League soccer game played under the lights at San Rafael High.

The season's first night game attracted about 250 spectators, according to Trojan coach Bob Vasser. The teams' next clash also will be played at night at San Rafael on Nov. 3.

Steve McCarthy, Mark McCarthy and Gordon Hedemark scored goals for Terra Linda as the Trojans moved into a tie with Novato for second place at 3-1 behind Redwood's 4-0. San Rafael is 0-4.

The knockout punch was a left-right that spirited Love to the white canvas on all fours for the second and final time. He was counted out after the bell. At this point, Cooper was credited with a knockout and his 19th consecutive victory. It was Love's first defeat after 18 straight wins.

Although Love failed to live up to Seales' expectations, Sugar Ray's half brother Dale Grant of Seattle, Wash., certainly did. Middleweight Grant, the national Golden Gloves champion, made his pro debut a success by decisioning David Arrelano of Mexico.

In other six-round preliminary bouts, middleweight Rudy Cruz of Fresno decisioned Joe Gonsalves of Santa Rosa and slick-boxing featherweight Fidel Fraijo of Cloverdale outpointed Ignacio Magana of San Jose. Elliot Olivares of Santa Rosa and Jim Burchett drew in a three-round amateur bout.

seven-yard scoring pass. In his first start of the season due to injuries to Larry Schreiber and Jim Thomas, Willard gained 52 yards in 10 carries and caught eight more passes for 41 yards.

"It felt really good," said Willard. "We played good enough to win. In fact, we dominated the game."

The loss leaves the 49ers at 2-3 and in the Western Division of the National Football Conference.

Minnesota scored its first touchdown early in the game when Eller recovered one of three fumbles lost by Vic Washington. Starting on the 49er 31, Viking quarterback Fran Tarkenton passed 1 yards to John Gilliam and then hit him on a controversial 12- yard scoring pass.

Gilliam caught the ball on one knee at the two as cornerback Ralph McGill sailed over his head. Gilliam then stood up and ran into the end zone for the TD.

The 49ers claimed the touchdown should not have counted because one of Gilliam's teammates had touched the ball before he caught it. However, Gilliam contends McGill nicked the ball.

"As far as I'm concerned, none of our guys touched the ball," said Nolan.

NHL ROUNDUP

Contending Flyers Displaying Talent

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

It's only the first week of the season, but already the Philadelphia Flyers are beginning to make a different kind of impression on the National Hockey League.

Last year they made their mark by using their unharnessed muscle to set a league record for penalty minutes. This season, although still not tame, the Flyers are showing right from the very start that they have the talent to challenge for league honors.

Scoring two goals while shorthanded, Philadelphia overcame a 2-0 deficit last night to beat the Detroit Red Wings, 5-2, and remain unbeaten in three games. The Detroit goals, by Nick Libett and Mickey Redmond, were the first scored against Flyer goaltender Bernie Parent after he had turned in two shutouts.

Don Saleski and Rick MacLeish scored the shorthanded goals, and also tallying for Philadelphia were Barry Ashbee, Dave Schultz and Simon Nolet.

The Boston Bruins also made it 3-for-3 for the season by edging the New York Islanders, 3-2, to take over sole possession of first place in the East Division. In other games last night, the Los Angeles Kings skated to a 1-1 tie with the New York Rangers, the Vancouver Canucks beat the Buffalo Sabres, 3-1, and the Chicago Black Hawks tied with the Minnesota North Stars, 1-1.

Orland Kurtenbach scored two goals in the third period to give Vncouver its victory at Buffalo and Bill Goldsworthy and Stan Mikita exchanged goals at Chicago as the Black Hawks and North Stars skated to a tie. Buster Harvey of Minnesota was awarded the first penalty shot of the season early in the second period, but he was stopped by Chicago goalie Tony Esposito.

Lagnaf Loses, Wins; Keeps Softball Lead

After losing Saturday to the Strawberry Little League Coaches, 11-10, Lagnaf regained first place in the Strawberry Recreation District adult softball league with a 12-5 victory yesterday over the Old Mill Bombers.

Curtis Cooley's leadoff triple in the sixth inning started a seven-run Lagnaf rally yesterday. On Saturday, John Berry's second homer broke a 10-10 tie in the seventh inning for the Coaches. Lynn Hammond also homered for the Coaches and George Lynn for Lagnaf.

back Ross Perry caught a 14-yard scoring pass from quarterback Rick Herbert, five plays after a fumble recovery by Kremer.

But instead of taking a 14-0 lead into the dressing room, the Pirates committed a roughing-the-kicker penalty which allowed Novato to resume a drive which resulted in a two-yard scoring sneak by quarterback Chris de Recat.

"The guys are so used to losing at halftime that they went in feeling down," said Lazzarini, "but I said, 'Look, we're still ahead in the ball game.'"

The spirit generated was strong enough to survive Novato's second touchdown, scored with 3:26 left in the third period on de Recat's six-inch sneak five plays after a muffed punt.

Breaks aside, Novato was not moving easily against Drake's defense, and the drives the Hornets had were wrecked by fumbles —eight in the game, five lost — and by two interceptions.

Unable to run effectively at Novato's middle, Drake went to the air 17 times, completing 10 to seven different receivers for 127 yards. The runners got 31 yards, but Novato won the statistical battle, 218 yards to 159.

Nobody in San Anselmo is worried about the stats, however.

Donohue Wins Monterey Grand Prix Auto Race

Combined AP & UPI

The victory was the engineer's fifth straight in the Canadian-American Challenge Cup Series. This clinched his first Can-Am crown.

Donohue, who won $12,700, blew the 12-cylinder engine in his Porsche 917-30 in the first heat. While the engine was being changed, it was discovered that a suspension sway bar was broken. The bar was welded.

The weld broke early in the second heat, reducing the Porsche's handling by 10 per cent.

"At this point, I knew I would have my work cut out," he said later. "The car was pushing in the turns. The tires were heating up, and I still had a lot of traffic to get through."

The pace was cut on the third lap when the yellow flag came out because of a four-car accident. None was hurt seriously in the smashup.

The Bondurant Challenge Cup, a 45.6-mile race for A, B, C, D and E production drivers, was won by Jim Barber of Los Altos in a Corvette 454. He averaged 89.45 mph and won $1,000 of the total purse of $4,000.

The race was sponsored by the Bob Bondurant School of High Performance Driving, located at Sears Point International Raceway.

Donatelli roared after the game, "He was out but why don't these catchers make these tags harder so there's no doubt about it?"

In the 12th, Harrelson doubled and McGraw popped a bunt single over the head of charging third baseman Sal Bando to put runners on first and third.

When Fingers struck out Wayne Garrett and got Felix Millan to pop out, he seemed out of trouble.

But Mays, still an old pro, stunned Fingers with the bouncing single to snap the tie. Andrews made two straight errors, letting John Milner's grounder so through his legs and making a wild throw on Jerry Grote's single, for three more runs.

"I plain kicked things around," Andrews said. "I'm the goat and I'm as sorry as hell about it. I'm too old to cry and I don't want to quit but those are my options right now."

Andrews was placed on the disabled list today by the A's after it was determined he was suffering from a shoulder injury.

Oakland rallied in the last of the 12th for one run but George Stone came on to get the save and tie the series.

Reynolds A Feisty Calf Among Runners

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Among the bull rushers of the Pacific-8 Conference, Oregon's Donnie Reynolds appears to be merely a feisty calf.

Yet against the California Bears Saturday, the 5-foot-8, 181-pound junior proved his lack of outstanding size shouldn't keep him in the corral. He zigged, zagged and zipped for 178 yards to help the Ducks bury the Bears 41-10.

"One guy just couldn't bring him down," said Cal linebacker Dallas Hickman. "He'd come at you at full speed, stop, cut back and be on his way. Wow! He's the best one I've ever seen."

Chaps like Kermit Johnson and Jim McAlister of UCLA, Anthony Davis of USC and Chuck Muncie of Cal might dispute that "best one" tag. Nevertheless, Reynolds improved his standing as the Pac-8's top rusher from an average of 113 yards a game to 126.

California is now 2-3 and Oregon 1-4.

In other Pac-8 contests, UCLA's wishbone buried Stanford 59-13, USC beat Washington State 46-35 and Oregon State ripped Washington 31-7.

In the Pacific Coast Athletic Association, Pacific turned back Long Beach State 10-6 in the lone league contest. In other games involving PCAA teams, San Diego State blanked New Mexico State 27-0, San Jose State lost to Arizona State 28-3, Fresno State lost to Wichita State 18-13 and Los Angeles State thumped Azusa Pacific 35-16.

At Stanford, Johnson rushed for 168 yards and McAlister for 117 as the awesome Bruins (4-1) overwhelmed Stanford (2-3) and appeared headed for another down-to-the-wire scrap with USC for the Pac-8 crown.

"We're becoming more of a unit each week," said UCLA quarterback John Sciarra.

San Anselmo Gal Fires Hole-In-One

NAPA — Mrs. Dorothy Schneider, a 62-year-old San Anselmo housewife, shot a hole-in-one Friday at Little Knoll Golf Club, using a two-wood on the 170-yard, par three third hole.

Mrs. Schneider, who has been playing golf since 1967, shot a six-over-par 39 for nine holes. Her first ace was witnessed by Gene Chapman and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bias.

SAN RAFAEL WINS

San Marin Rally Is Short, 19-14

By LEW CODDINGTON

San Rafael High School was comfortably ahead statistically from the start, and comfortably ahead on the scoreboard by the third quarter, so why were all the Bulldog football fans biting their nails and tearing their hair with 13 seconds left Saturday?

The reason was that San Marin High had recovered an onside kick and moved to the San Rafael 19-yard line with a chance for the winning touchdown, but a pass interception by Dave Steele preserved the 19-14 victory.

About 700 fans watched the Marin County Athletic League clash at Novato High. They yawned during the first quarter as the teams went 10 minutes without a first down, and scratched their heads at halftime, as San Marin (with zero first downs and 28 yards total offense) held a 7-6 lead over San Rafael (with 10 first downs and 172 yards).

Shortly after intermission, though, San Rafael's Craig Saunders scampered 25 yards for a touchdown following a Nelson Moore interception. In the fourth quarter, a Steele interception set up a 10-yard Steele-to-Fred Hurst scoring toss and a 19-7 Bulldog lead.

San Rafael opened the game's scoring in the second quarter on an eight-yard run by Steve D'Ambra, but San Marin went ahead on a three-yard run by Wayne Roche right after Bruce Vollert's fumble recovery.

Roche, running hard on a broken toe, carried on 21 of San Marin's 28 rushing plays and gained 68 yards. D'Ambra was the game's star, though, with 97 yards in 13 tries, while Saunders gained 64 in 13.

San Rafael entered the game hoping to throw long, and Steele attempted 27 pass in the first half (hitting 10), but when San Marin retreated to stop the bomb, the run became available and the Bulldogs took it, coach Bob Muster said.

San Rafael lifted its MCAL record to 1-1 and is 3-2 overall. San Marin is 0-2 and 3-2.

Terra Linda Booters Top San Rafael

Terra Linda High School defeated San Rafael Saturday night, 3-0, in a Marin County Athletic League soccer game played under the lights at San Rafael High.

The season's first night game attracted about 250 spectators, according to Trojan coach Bob Vasser. The teams' next clash also will be played at night at San Rafael on Nov. 3.

Steve McCarthy, Mark McCarthy and Gordon Hedemark scored goals for Terra Linda as the Trojans moved into a tie with Novato for second place at 3-1 behind Redwood's 4-0. San Rafael is 0-4.

The knockout punch was a left-right that spirited Love to the white canvas on all fours for the second and final time. He was counted out after the bell. At this point, Cooper was credited with a knockout and his 19th consecutive victory. It was Love's first defeat after 18 straight wins.

Although Love failed to live up to Seales' expectations, Sugar Ray's half brother Dale Grant of Seattle, Wash., certainly did. Middleweight Grant, the national Golden Gloves champion, made his pro debut a success by decisioning David Arrelano of Mexico.

In other six-round preliminary bouts, middleweight Rudy Cruz of Fresno decisioned Joe Gonsalves of Santa Rosa and slick-boxing featherweight Fidel Fraijo of Cloverdale outpointed Ignacio Magana of San Jose. Elliot Olivares of Santa Rosa and Jim Burchett drew in a three-round amateur bout.

NHL ROUNDUP

Contending Flyers Displaying Talent

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

It's only the first week of the season, but already the Philadelphia Flyers are beginning to make a different kind of impression on the National Hockey League.

Last year they made their mark by using their unharnessed muscle to set a league record for penalty minutes. This season, although still not tame, the Flyers are showing right from the very start that they have the talent to challenge for league honors.

Scoring two goals while shorthanded, Philadelphia overcame a 2-0 deficit last night to beat the Detroit Red Wings, 5-2, and remain unbeaten in three games. The Detroit goals, by Nick Libett and Mickey Redmond, were the first scored against Flyer goaltender Bernie Parent after he had turned in two shutouts.

Don Saleski and Rick MacLeish scored the shorthanded goals, and also tallying for Philadelphia were Barry Ashbee, Dave Schultz and Simon Nolet.

The Boston Bruins also made it 3-for-3 for the season by edging the New York Islanders, 3-2, to take over sole possession of first place in the East Division. In other games last night, the Los Angeles Kings skated to a 1-1 tie with the New York Rangers, the Vancouver Canucks beat the Buffalo Sabres, 3-1, and the Chicago Black Hawks tied with the Minnesota North Stars, 1-1.

Orland Kurtenbach scored two goals in the third period to give Vncouver its victory at Buffalo and Bill Goldsworthy and Stan Mikita exchanged goals at Chicago as the Black Hawks and North Stars skated to a tie. Buster Harvey of Minnesota was awarded the first penalty shot of the season early in the second period, but he was stopped by Chicago goalie Tony Esposito.

seven-yard scoring pass. In his first start of the season due to injuries to Larry Schreiber and Jim Thomas, Willard gained 52 yards in 10 carries and caught eight more passes for 41 yards.

"It felt really good," said Willard. "We played good enough to win. In fact, we dominated the game."

The loss leaves the 49ers at 2-3 and in the Western Division of the National Football Conference.

Minnesota scored its first touchdown early in the game when Eller recovered one of three fumbles lost by Vic Washington. Starting on the 49er 31, Viking quarterback Fran Tarkenton passed 1 yards to John Gilliam and then hit him on a controversial 12- yard scoring pass.

Gilliam caught the ball on one knee at the two as cornerback Ralph McGill sailed over his head. Gilliam then stood up and ran into the end zone for the TD.

The 49ers claimed the touchdown should not have counted because one of Gilliam's teammates had touched the ball before he caught it. However, Gilliam contends McGill nicked the ball.

"As far as I'm concerned, none of our guys touched the ball," said Nolan.

Lagnaf Loses, Wins; Keeps Softball Lead

After losing Saturday to the Strawberry Little League Coaches, 11-10, Lagnaf regained first place in the Strawberry Recreation District adult softball league with a 12-5 victory yesterday over the Old Mill Bombers.

Curtis Cooley's leadoff triple in the sixth inning started a seven-run Lagnaf rally yesterday. On Saturday, John Berry's second homer broke a 10-10 tie in the seventh inning for the Coaches. Lynn Hammond also homered for the Coaches and George Lynn for Lagnaf.

back Ross Perry caught a 14-yard scoring pass from quarterback Rick Herbert, five plays after a fumble recovery by Kremer.

But instead of taking a 14-0 lead into the dressing room, the Pirates committed a roughing-the-kicker penalty which allowed Novato to resume a drive which resulted in a two-yard scoring sneak by quarterback Chris de Recat.

"The guys are so used to losing at halftime that they went in feeling down," said Lazzarini, "but I said, 'Look, we're still ahead in the ball game.' "

The spirit generated was strong enough to survive Novato's second touchdown, scored with 3:26 left in the third period on de Recat's six-inch sneak five plays after a muffed punt.

Breaks aside, Novato was not moving easily against Drake's defense, and the drives the Hornets had were wrecked by fumbles —eight in the game, five lost — and by two interceptions.

Unable to run effectively at Novato's middle, Drake went to the air 17 times, completing 10 to seven different receivers for 127 yards. The runners got 31 yards, but Novato won the statistical battle, 218 yards to 159.

Nobody in San Anselmo is worried about the stats, however.

Donohue Wins Monterey Grand Prix Auto Race

Combined AP & UPI

The victory was the engineer's fifth straight in the Canadian-American Challenge Cup Series This clinched his first Can-Am crown.

Donohue, who won $12,700, blew the 12-cylinder engine in his Porsche 917-30 in the first heat. While the engine was being changed, it was discovered that a suspension sway bar was broken. The bar was welded.

The weld broke early in the second heat, reducing the Porsche's handling by 10 per cent.

"At this point, I knew I would have my work cut out," he said later. "The car was pushing in the turns. The tires were heating up, and I still had a lot of traffic to get through."

The pace was cut on the third lap when the yellow flag came out because of a four-car accident. None was hurt seriously in the smashup.

The Bondurant Challenge Cup, a 45.6-mile race for A, B, C, D and E production drivers, was won by Jim Barber of Los Altos in a Corvette 454. He averaged 89.45 mph and won $1,000 of the total purse of $4,000.

The race was sponsored by the Bob Bondurant School of High Performance Driving, located at Sears Point International Raceway.

him but Harrelson might not have felt it.

Donatelli roared after the game, "He was out but why don't these catchers make these tags harder so there's no doubt about it?"

In the 12th, Harrelson doubled and McGraw popped a bunt single over the head of charging third baseman Sal Bando to put runners on first and third.

When Fingers struck out Wayne Garrett and got Felix Millan to pop out, he seemed out of trouble.

But Mays, still an old pro, stunned Fingers with the bouncing single to snap the tie. Andrews made two straight errors, letting John Milner's grounder so through his legs and making a wild throw on Jerry Grote's single, for three more runs.

"I plain kicked things around," Andrews said. "I'm the goat and I'm as sorry as hell about it. I'm too old to cry and I don't want to quit but those are my options right now."

Andrews was placed on the disabled list today by the A's after it was determined he was suffering from a shoulder injury.

Oakland rallied in the last of the 12th for one run but George Stone came on to get the save and tie the series.

Chaps like Kermit Johnson and Jim McAlister of UCLA, Anthony Davis of USC and Chuck Muncie of Cal might dispute that "best one" tag. Nevertheless, Reynolds improved his standing as the Pac-8's top rusher from an average of 113 yards a game to 126.

In other Pac-8 contests, UCLA's wishbone buried Stanford 59-13, USC beat Washington State 46-35 and Oregon State ripped Washington 31-7.

In the Pacific Coast Athletic Association, Pacific turned back Long Beach State 10-6 in the lone league contest. In other games involving PCAA teams, San Diego State blanked New Mexico State 27-0, San Jose State lost to Arizona State 28-3, Fresno State lost to Wichita State 18-13 and Los Angeles State thumped Azusa Pacific 35-16.

At Stanford, Johnson rushed for 168 yards and McAlister for 117 as the awesome Bruins (4-1) overwhelmed Stanford (2-3) and appeared headed for another down-to-the-wire scrap with USC for the Pac-8 crown.

"We're becoming more of a unit each week," said UCLA quarterback John Sciarra.

San Anselmo Gal Fires Hole-In-One

NAPA — Mrs. Dorothy Schneider, a 62-year-old San Anselmo housewife, shot a hole-in-one Friday at Little Knoll Golf Club, using a two-wood on the 170-yard, par three third hole.

Mrs. Schneider, who has been playing golf since 1967, shot a six-over-par 39 for nine holes. Her first ace was witnessed by Gene Chapman and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bias.

Rancho Football Tops Sked

Saturday at 1 p.m. Rancho Cotate High School will be involved in the first of its two big Sonoma County League football confrontations, as the Cougars from Rohnert Park host Piner High School of Santa Rosa.

The Cougars and Prospectors are currently atop the SCL standings with unblemished 2-0 records, and both will be coming off convincing shutout victories. Friday Rancho Cotate blanked Sonoma 35-0, while Piner was pummeling Analy of Sebastopol, 46-0.

Friday night at 8 o'clock Petaluma High School will be going for its fifth straight victory this season and third league win with a game against visiting Montgomery High School of Santa Rosa.

Petaluma (2-0) is in a three-way tie for first in the North Bay League with Vallejo and Napa high schools. The Vikings from Montgomery are just a game back at 1-1, and a loss could hurt the Trojans' chances of a repeat title.

This week's schedule for Southern Sonoma high school events (asterisks denote non-league contests):

WEDNESDAY

Cross Country — Petaluma at Center meet in Vallejo, 3:30 p.m.; Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park at Piner in Santa Rosa, 3:30 p.m.; Willits at St. Vincent of Petaluma, 4 p.m.

FRIDAY

SATURDAY

Football — Piner of Santa Rosa at Rancho Cotate in Rohnert Park, 1 p.m.; St. Vincent of Petaluma at Point Arena, 2:30 p.m.; Tomales at Upper Lake, 2 p.m.; Casa Grande of Petaluma at Menlo, 2 p.m.

Bee Kilgore Wins In Tennis Doubles

Rohde To Be Guest Of Goal Rushers

Len Rohde, San Francisco 49er offensive tackle, will be guest speaker at tomorrow night's dinner meeting of the 49er Goal Rushers of Marin at New Joe's restaurant in Corte Madera.

Some 49er films will also be shown, according to Goal Rushers president Jim King. Cocktails begin at 6 p.m. and dinner at 7.

Tomales Gridders Triumph

Tomales High School continued its five-year football domination over St. Vincent High School Saturday, beating the visiting Mustangs, 19-12, in the North Central League II opener for both school.

The game was closer than the score indicated, as the Braves added six points to their total on the last play of the game on Rick Craft's 60-yard interception return while the St. Vincent players were walking off the field.

"We didn't play well, that's all there is to it," explained Mustang coach Bill Silva, whose team was the pre-league favorite to dethrone the Braves.

The Mustangs had a chance to win the contest with 3:04 left as Dan Tocchini scored from the four to bring them within one point of Tomales, 13-12. But Tocchini then missed the two-point conversion try as the referee ruled the ball had not crossed the endzone line although Tocchini had.

St. Vincent drew first blood on a 35-yard scoring pass from Pete Leoni to Lynn Souza on the final play of the first half, but Tomales took the lead in the third quarter on a one-yard run by Ed Albini and a kick by Leonard Simas.

Mt. Diablo of Concord took first place overall with 88 points, followed by Skyline of Oakland with 90. Petaluma finished with 105 points for third place, with Redwood in fourth with 127 points. San Rafael finsihed with 139 points.

PRO FOOTBALL ROUNDUP

Rams' Jackson In 'Finest Hour'

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Jackson, the 5-foot-10, 175-pound wide receiver obtained by Los Angeles from Philadelphia for Roman Gabriel, caught four touchdown passes yesterday as the unbeaten Rams stunned the Cowboys 37-31.

Jackson teamed with quarterback John Hadl on TD passes of 53, 16, 67 and 36 yards as the Rams took a 34-14 lead at the half and then held off the Cowboys' second half rally.

"This is my finest hour in the NFL" Jackson said. "I feel I can run the deep post and just about get open every time. The key is I have to outrun the free safety. Charlie Waters told me after the game he made me look like I was All-World. He's a good player and I appreciate his saying that."

Jackson's two TD receptions and a pair of David Ray field goals gave the Rams their big lead as Dallas scored on Mel Renfro's 30-yard interception return and Calvin Hill's eight-yard run. But Roger Staubach got Dallas moving in the second half, throwing TD passes of six and 10 yards to Otto Stowe before the Cowboys ran out of gas.

"The Rams are a fine, great team with momentum," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry. "But the Rams beat a good football team. It's tough to come back from a Monday night game like we had to play. We wanted to win more than anything but we left everything on the field in Washington, particularly emotionally."

The victory left the Rams at 5-0 and tied with Minnesota, which edged San Francisco 17-13, as the NFL's only unbeaten teams. Pittsburgh fell from the unbeaten ranks when the Steelers were upset by Cincinnati 19-7. Dallas' loss, its second straight, dropped the Cowboys a game behind Washington, which whipped the New York Giants 21-3, in the National Conference East.

In other games, Buffalo ripped Baltimore 31-13, Oakland overcame San Diego 27-17, Philadelphia upended St. Louis 27-24, Denver trounced Houston 48-20, Kansas City tied Green Bay 10-10, Atlanta crushed Chicago 46-6, the New York Jets edged New England 9-7 and New Orleans upset Detroit 20-13. Miami is at Cleveland tonight.

Horst Muhlmann kicked four field goals and rookie Booby Clark rushed for 112 yards and a TD as the Bengals stunned Pittsburgh. The Steelers were shut out until midway through the last quarter when Preston Pearson scored.

Larry Brown plunged for two touchdowns and Dave Robinson returned an interception 28 yards for another as the Redskins beat the Giants. Washington intercepted four Norman Snead passes to blunt the New York attack.

O.J. Simpson ran for 166 yards, including a 78-yard TD burst, as the Bills clubbed the Colts to take over first place in the AFC East. Miami must beat Cleveland tonight to tie the surprising Bills.

Gabriel's 23-yard TD pass to Don Zimmerman as time ran out lifted the Eagles over St. Louis for their first win of the season.

Charley Johnson's four TD passes—three of them to Haven Moses—lifted Denver over winless Houston and Jan Stenerud's 36-yard field goal in the fourth quarter helped the Chiefs tie Green Bay.

Attles Has Seen His Warriors Play Better

The victory yesterday evened the Warriors' season record at 1-1 and dropped Phoenix to 1-2.

"We had two complete halves," Attles said. "We had defense the first half and we were off on our offense.

"But in the second half, our offense kicked over and we were getting key rebounds along with playing defense," he said.

He said the Warriors' 60 rebounds compared to 33 for Phoenix was a decisive factor in the game.

However, Attles said his team played a lot better "in our loss Saturday night to the Milwaukee Bucks."

The score was tied 14 times until the fourth quarter and the difference was never more than five points during the first three quarters. But the Suns could scrape together only 14 points in the final period.

Barry was top scorer of the game with 23 points while teammates Charles Johnson and Nate Thurmond each rung up 16. Golden State's Clyde Lee led rebounding with 18 for the night.

Rancho Football Tops Sked

Saturday at 1 p.m. Rancho Cotate High School will be involved in the first of its two big Sonoma County League football confrontations, as the Cougars from Rohnert Park host Piner High School of Santa Rosa.

The Cougars and Prospectors are currently atop the SCL standings with unblemished 2-0 records, and both will be coming off convincing shutout victories. Friday Rancho Cotate blanked Sonoma 35-0, while Piner was pummeling Analy of Sebastopol, 46-0.

Friday night at 8 o'clock Petaluma High School will be going for its fifth straight victory this season and third league win with a game against visiting Montgomery High School of Santa Rosa.

Petaluma (2-0) is in a three-way tie for first in the North Bay League with Vallejo and Napa high schools. The Vikings from Montgomery are just a game back at 1-1, and a loss could hurt the Trojans' chances of a repeat title.

This week's schedule for Southern Sonoma high school events (asterisks denote non-league contests):

WEDNESDAY

Cross Country — Petaluma at Center meet in Vallejo, 3:30 p.m.; Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park at Piner in Santa Rosa, 3:30 p.m.; Willits at St. Vincent of Petaluma, 4 p.m.

FRIDAY

SATURDAY

Football — Piner of Santa Rosa at Rancho Cotate in Rohnert Park, 1 p.m.; St. Vincent of Petaluma at Point Arena, 2:30 p.m.; Tomales at Upper Lake, 2 p.m.; Casa Grande of Petaluma at Menlo, 2 p.m.

Some 49er films will also be shown, according to Goal Rushers president Jim King. Cocktails begin at 6 p.m. and dinner at 7.

Tomales Gridders Triumph

Tomales High School continued its five-year football domination over St. Vincent High School Saturday, beating the visiting Mustangs, 19-12, in the North Central League II opener for both school.

The game was closer than the score indicated, as the Braves added six points to their total on the last play of the game on Rick Craft's 60-yard interception return while the St. Vincent players were walking off the field.

"We didn't play well, that's all there is to it," explained Mustang coach Bill Silva, whose team was the pre-league favorite to dethrone the Braves.

The Mustangs had a chance to win the contest with 3:04 left as Dan Tocchini scored from the four to bring them within one point of Tomales, 13-12. But Tocchini then missed the two-point conversion try as the referee ruled the ball had not crossed the endzone line although Tocchini had.

St. Vincent drew first blood on a 35-yard scoring pass from Pete Leoni to Lynn Souza on the final play of the first half, but Tomales took the lead in the third quarter on a one-yard run by Ed Albini and a kick by Leonard Simas.

Rams' Jackson In 'Finest Hour'

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Jackson, the 5-foot-10, 175-pound wide receiver obtained by Los Angeles from Philadelphia for Roman Gabriel, caught four touchdown passes yesterday as the unbeaten Rams stunned the Cowboys 37-31.

Jackson teamed with quarterback John Hadl on TD passes of 53, 16, 67 and 36 yards as the Rams took a 34-14 lead at the half and then held off the Cowboys' second half rally.

"This is my finest hour in the NFL" Jackson said. "I feel I can run the deep post and just about get open every time. The key is I have to outrun the free safety. Charlie Waters told me after the game he made me look like I was All-World. He's a good player and I appreciate his saying that."

Jackson's two TD receptions and a pair of David Ray field goals gave the Rams their big lead as Dallas scored on Mel Renfro's 30-yard interception return and Calvin Hill's eight-yard run. But Roger Staubach got Dallas moving in the second half, throwing TD passes of six and 10 yards to Otto Stowe before the Cowboys ran out of gas.

"The Rams are a fine, great team with momentum," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry. "But the Rams beat a good football team. It's tough to come back from a Monday night game like we had to play. We wanted to win more than anything but we left everything on the field in Washington, particularly emotionally."

The victory left the Rams at 5-0 and tied with Minnesota, which edged San Francisco 17-13, as the NFL's only unbeaten teams. Pittsburgh fell from the unbeaten ranks when the Steelers were upset by Cincinnati 19-7. Dallas' loss, its second straight, dropped the Cowboys a game behind Washington, which whipped the New York Giants 21-3, in the National Conference East.

In other games, Buffalo ripped Baltimore 31-13, Oakland overcame San Diego 27-17, Philadelphia upended St. Louis 27-24, Denver trounced Houston 48-20, Kansas City tied Green Bay 10-10, Atlanta crushed Chicago 46-6, the New York Jets edged New England 9-7 and New Orleans upset Detroit 20-13. Miami is at Cleveland tonight.

Horst Muhlmann kicked four field goals and rookie Booby Clark rushed for 112 yards and a TD as the Bengals stunned Pittsburgh. The Steelers were shut out until midway through the last quarter when Preston Pearson scored.

Larry Brown plunged for two touchdowns and Dave Robinson returned an interception 28 yards for another as the Redskins beat the Giants. Washington intercepted four Norman Snead passes to blunt the New York attack.

O.J. Simpson ran for 166 yards, including a 78-yard TD burst, as the Bills clubbed the Colts to take over first place in the AFC East. Miami must beat Cleveland tonight to tie the surprising Bills.

Gabriel's 23-yard TD pass to Don Zimmerman as time ran out lifted the Eagles over St. Louis for their first win of the season.

Charley Johnson's four TD passes—three of them to Haven Moses—lifted Denver over winless Houston and Jan Stenerud's 36-yard field goal in the fourth quarter helped the Chiefs tie Green Bay.

Water Polo Results

MONTEREY — College of Marin's water polo team (5-7) defeated Hartnell College of Salinas, 28-3, and Monterey Peninsula College, 9-6, at MPC's pool Saturday, after losing to Cabrillo College of Aptos Friday, 15-5.

Attles Has Seen His Warriors Play Better

The victory yesterday evened the Warriors' season record at 1-1 and dropped Phoenix to 1-2.

"We had two complete halves," Attles said. "We had defense the first half and we were off on our offense.

"But in the second half, our offense kicked over and we were getting key rebounds along with playing defense," he said.

He said the Warriors' 60 rebounds compared to 33 for Phoenix was a decisive factor in the game.

However, Attles said his team played a lot better "in our loss Saturday night to the Milwaukee Bucks."

Rick Barry led a fourth quarter rush for the Warriors, bringing in 13 of 36 points amassed in the final period.

The score was tied 14 times until the fourth quarter and the difference was never more than five points during the first three quarters. But the Suns could scrape together only 14 points in the final period.

Barry was top scorer of the game with 23 points while teammates Charles Johnson and Nate Thurmond each rung up 16. Golden State's Clyde Lee led rebounding with 18 for the night.

Safety Suddenly Loses Popularity

When a proposal is made to correct safety hazards on a particularly dangerous stretch of road, one would expect whole-hearted support from just about every quarter.

Especially would one expect this when the stretch in question was sbujected to a federal safety investigation two years ago, and that investigation resulted in recommendation of the improvement now planned. One might expect the only outcry would be about two years' delay in making the correction.

However, what one might logically expect is not necessarily true — certainly not in the case of Doyle Drive, the accident-prone approach to the Golden Gate Bridge in San Francisco.

IN THE FALL of 1970, after a two-car crash that killed 10 persons on Doyle Dive, the National Transportation Safety Board instituted an investigation. That horrible crash brought to a head agitation that had been going on for years for correcting the ill-designed approach, which has never been improved since it was built at the time the bridge opened nearly 40 years ago.

The California Division of Highways (now Department of Transportation) had been shoving Doyle Drive improvement onto the "back burner" with low priority, despite agitation by the Redwood Empire Association, California State Automobile Association, and others.

The federal safety board's action got the state highway people moving. They came up with a proposal to do just what the federal investigator recommended: provide standard 12-foot traffic lanes, a solid center divider, and improved access and egress ramps.

To prevent replacing one set of hazards with another, and to prevent a bottleneck on the bridge approach, the state Department of Transportation included four lanes each way in its proposal, instead of three as at present. The fourth lane is necessary to provide safety of access and egress, and to prevent commute-time bottlenecks. To temporarily assuage these problems, movable cones now are being used which provide four lanes one way at commute times, with only two lanes the other. A solid barrier would not allow this diversion, but would add greatly to safety.

BUT LO and behold! No sooner had the state got moving on the long-needed safety improvement than San Francisco politicians, backed by "stop growth" and "ecology" groups, began trying to shoot down the project.

A public hearing Wednesday at 7 p.m. at Fireman's Fund Auditorium, 3333 California Street, San Francisco, may determine the fate of Doyle Drive — and of uncounted future automobile drivers and passengers who must use that route.

Those who put replaceable trees above irreplaceable human life will be there to protest. So will those who put political advantages above human life.

Those who believe in safety should be there, too — or look forward to more such horrendous crashes as that which took 10 lives on July 11, 1970.

Everything's Poison

As normally well-informed, anxiety-prone Marinites, we get sweaty palms at the dinner table. Everything we eat and drink and enjoy has been suspected of causing illness, debilitation and death. The more medicine learns, the broader its field of unknowns. Add to this the fancies of the various food cultists, and small wonder we approach the plate with trembling fork.

But brace up! Everything, even water, is poisonous, if taken to excess. So we will eat, drink and be merry — in moderation.

Feel Safe On Bridge Approach? If So, Skip State Hearing

If you feel safe driving on the San Francisco approach to the Golden Gate Bridge, be sure to skip this Wednesday's hearing on a $17 million state plan to widen the approach.

For unless Marin citizens who use the dangerous roadway turn out in force, opponents of the project will have the field to themselves.

The hearing will be at 7 p.m. in the Fireman's Fund Auditorium, 3333 California Street, San Francisco. The state Transportation Department, which called the hearing on its plan, will display it from 7 to 9 p.m. today in the supervisors' chambers of the Marin Civic Center.

Maps, exhibits, the draft environmental impact report and other information on the proposed improvements to Doyle Drive will be available. Department employees will be there to explain the project, which would replace the present six 10-foot-wide lanes with eight 12-foot-wide lanes — and a concrete median barrier to prevent head-on collisions.

EXTREMELY HEAVY opposition has been mounted by San Franciscans, many of whom fear the project is the first link in a freeway across the city. Some object it will impinge on the beauty of the Presidio. Both points ignore the heavy death toll taken by the roadway.

Neighborhood organizations have attracted support from politicians in San Francisco, and we expect they will seek to have federal legislators kill the project in Washington. It must be approved by the secretary of the Army, and that is where they will strike against it.

Unless people who use Doyle Drive care enough to support the project, it may die — and with it many more motorists. If enough support can be mustered, work could begin next year.

THE LIKELIHOOD of a ferocious reelection battle next year between Senators Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, and Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, has faded with the governor's signature of a bill creating five new appellate court judgeships.

Under the redistricting plan expected to be adopted by the state Supreme Court, Collier will have a choice of moving into Behr's new district or running against Sen. Fred W. Marler Jr., R-Redding. The judgeship bill, however, reportedly will solve that dilemma by allowing the governor to appoint Marler to the bench.

On the other hand (there's always one of those in politics), the governor's weekly schedule last Thursday put him at Marler's fundraiser in Chicao.

GEORGE J. SILVESTRI JR., Marin's deputy county counsel and an expected candidate next year for the Assembly seat being vacated by William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, last week sent the following message to Bagley:

"Dear Bill, believe Mr. Agnew may have solved the problem of your finding a low-key, high-pay job in Washington. Please advise me if I may be of any assistance in this regard."

Taxeaters Mislead On Proposition 1

The taxeaters are out in force in opposition to State Proposition #1, better known as Governor Reagan's tax and expenditure limitation constitutional amendment. The most polite way of characterizing the taxeaters' attacks is to call them "mis-statements of fact." Perhaps some opponents, like the League of Women Voters, are merely allowing themselves to be deluded.

The most persistent argument is that Proposition #1 would force increases in local taxes; i.e., property taxes. SB 90 of 1972 put a ceiling on property tax rates. Proposition #1 would put the same ceiling in the state constitution, preventing the legislature from dropping this ceiling out of the law books sometime soon . . .

Concurrently, the taxeaters decry what they pretend to see as drastic cuts in state revenues with serious damage to state government services. Under Proposition #1, starting with the current state budget of $9 billion (round figures) and assuming no increase in total personal income next year, the state tax revenue limit, as established under Proposition #1, would be reduced about $103 million (or .1 per cent of the total personal income). If personal income should increase, as it has been doing, there might be no actual dollar reduction. In addition, if inflation keeps on increasing, and population continues to increase, there could even be a substantial increase in the tax revenue limit.

We taxpayers must not be stampeded by the laments of the taxeaters. This may be our only and last chance to get control of taxation and spending . . .

Youngsters Allowed To Educate Parents

This is in response to Mrs. Kadel's letter, "Children Entitled to Reality of Life."

Our children can find the true reality in many newspaper reports about young people dying of drug overdoses, taking their own lives because of bad trips, causing accidents while driving under the influence of drugs. This is reality without glorifying drugs and without exposing our young children to sex perversion, homosexuality and a language so dirty that, if I quoted only one sentence from the book, "Go Ask Alice," this letter would not be printed. But some teachers and also parents, instead of fighting such smudge, hand it out to our children, excusing themselves that this is the language of today's youngsters, so they might as well read it. Thus they even allow their youngsters to educate their parents instead of vice versa.

Planning Commission Needs Citizen Input

The planning department, the planning staff, and the planning commission of the City of San Rafael have in their infinite wisdom allowed the only open space in Northgate Unit One to become a commercial establishment in the form of a "necessary" catalogue store. Two park benches, a fountain, a few ten-year-old trees, and 8,000 feet of lawn were demolished. The area was a rather warm, inviting site to the main traffic flow to Northgate Shopping Center. It also was the only place you could sit outside and eat your lunch on a nice day.

The people of San Rafael are supposed to have a unit in the city that does planning. It appears as if we do not have anyone in that group that has regard for open space. There is an answer — the citizens must arise. Write the Planning Department at 1400 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, 94902, and request that your name be put on the mailing list for the agenda of the planning commission hearings. In that way any proposed development will come to your attention, and you can provide citizen input at the public hearings to provide the planning commission with information (other than from the developers) that will aid them in coming to reasonable conclusions. . .

We also need an ordinance that advises all neighbors, be they owners or tenants, in commercial and residential areas of any proposed development prior to planning commission hearings.

The destruction of the small park in Northgate One was accomplished by perfect timing on the part of the developer so it would be heard when some of the commissioners and citizens were on vacation. The planning staff recommended conditional approval, and none of their reports even considered keeping the park as open space. . .

Nobody Has Right To Dictate To Parent

Some people say "I want my child to read the book" — some say "No."

Some feel children should learn about sex, good or bad, early — some say 18 is the age though that would mean complete isolation from their peers, TV, movies, or even a peek at any magazine rack or newspapers.

An editor attacks a fine man and that same editor runs a strip in his "funny" paper the same day that most preteenagers know is not talking about the electrical current of a fish (A.C.-D.C.).

One woman sends her child from the room before reading, out of context, a portion of a book without considering that other parents in the same room might object to their child listening to that portion of the book.

I say, "fine", to each group. As for me I will continue to think a child should learn from the example set in his home and be able to read and discuss books, drugs, sex or anything else with his parents though we did not even know about "Go Ask Alice" until the newspaper made it a best seller!

Not even the Bryce Andersons of this world have the right to choose for me. I'm willing to see any book on a restricted shelf to respect your opinion but you had better believe I will insist that I have the right to determine what I want for mine.

THE NEEDLE

By HAROLD COFFIN

Two young ladies in California are suing for the right to enter the Air Force Academy and Annapolis. Shows how warlike women are becoming.

The gals' desire to serve their country is laudable, but how come they want to be second lieutenants or ensigns?

Don't they realize that everybody has more status than a second looie?

Percy, Reagan Make Headway Toward GOP Presidential Nod

1976 — LOOK OUT FOR CHUCK PERCY. The Illinois senator is surprising the Republican professionals by the headway he is already making as a presidential contender.

He is getting help from two directions. The polls continue to show that he is the only GOP prospect who runs ahead of Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., in head-to-head preference. Second, he is helped by the new and open cordiality with President Nixon. Not long ago the president made it evident that he would not accept Percy if he could possibly help it. Now the president has assured the senator that he would put no obstacle in his path.

If Texas Democrat-turned-Republican John Connally is faltering as much as some correspondents report, the front-runners of the GOP presidential nomination may well be Gov. Ronald Reagan and Sen. Charles Percy.

KIDNAPING OF U.S. EXECUTIVES ABROAD RISING. In Argentina alone there have been 250 kidnapings of foreign business executives in three years. Prominent companies whose top personnel have been seized include Coca-Cola, Ford, Firestone Tire and Rubber, Kodak, First National City Bank, Fiat, and British-American Tobacco Co.

Business Week magazine warns business executives, especially in Latin America and the Middle East, not to shy away from disguises (like false mustaches and beards), to carry guns, and avoid a routine schedule of working hours.

SOME THINGS GOING RIGHT FOR USIA. Not a single United States Information Agency library has been burned anywhere in the world during the past two years. That's the best record in a long time.

More than 2.5 million Russians have visited U.S. cultural and industrial exhibits in recent months.

The Soviets are no longer jamming the Voice of America broadcasts in both English and Russian languages and this gives the Voice a vastly enlarged audience behind the somewhat porous Iron Curtain.

CHINESE COMMUNISTS WARY OF U.S. NEWSMEN. Despite the increasingly cordial relations between Peking and Washington, and the numerous scholarly delegations which are being exchanged, the People's Republic of China has not yet permitted a single American newspaper to assign a resident correspondent on the Chinese mainland.

In the near future, Chinese specialists will be coming to the United States to study library science, computer science, the teaching of English as a foreign language, and to research the physiology of pain and biomedical engineering.

Scientific teams from the United States will be welcome in China — but no permanent American correspondents.

U.S. WANTS TO WIDEN THE ATLANTIC. That is one of the stumbling blocks which has held back President Nixon's trip to Europe to redefine the North Atlantic Alliance. The United States wants to broaden the grouping to link Japan, in one way or another, to the alliance. It's almost certain to come about.

WHAT REALLY IS FIT TO PRINT? A privately financed group which monitors the performance of the media, called Accuracy in Media, Inc., recently carried this caption at the top of its report: "Jane's Fighting Ships Declares Soviet Navy Most Powerful in World, But New York Times Keeps News From Its Readers." The Baltimore Sun, the Christian Science Monitor, the Washington Post and other newspapers played the story prominently.

AIM queried the Times, which said it had the story in hand but would give no explanation as to why it wouldn't print it.

ERNEST B. FURGURSON

A Closer Look At Farming: It's Not Like City Folk Think

GREENLEAFTON, Minn. — Two months ago, when consumer outrage over the explosion in food prices was new and white-hot, I wrote a column laying out the city grocery buyer's 1973 attitude toward the man on the farm. It was not very complimentary. It drew lots of mail, especially from farmers. That was not very complimentary, either. But one of the letters made a positive suggestion.

Laura Harper, who lives with her husband, Bill, and her sons, Scott, five, and Todd, three, on a 212-acre dairy farm in this southeast corner of Minnesota, said that in the interest of social and economic accuracy I should come and spend a week with them. I accepted. I am glad I did.

WHEN YOU COME into the kitchen of the Harpers' white shingle house, there on the bulletin board the column I wrote before is tacked, much the way the Dallas Cowboys might tack up Sonny Jurgensen's picture in their locker room before a showdown game. That column said in part:

"Rather than doing stoop labor, most (farmers) today are some combination of heavy-equipment operator, businessman and welfare client. In the popular mind, today's farmer is not the early-rising, mud-on-the-boots yeoman of legend. He is the vague entity responsible for the prices on eggs, chicken and pork chops . . ."

I am not quite up to analyzing the economic esoterics of farming in Fillmore County yet. But I can report that Bill and Laura were up long before dawn today, at least two hours before me. Three of their 45 cows were off somewhere doing their own thing, so Laura started milking while Bill went to look for them.

Milking a herd of Holsteins is not quite the same as a nostalgic session tugging on old Bossie in the barn. It is hustling from one cow to another in their stanchions with a milking apparatus that looks like an electric octopus, cleaning this animal's udder before the milker falls off the one across the barn, giving each an application of teat dip to guard against mastitis, then shooing them out 15 at a time so the next shift can come in.

BILL IS CREW-CUT and built like a blocking back, and that is just the way he works when he bumps the cows around to get between them, to move them in and out, and refills a basket of feed and hurries up and down scooping it out for the cows while they are being milked, and races out the barn door to turn one back when she has gone the wrong way.

Laura, however, is an auburn-haired 5-feet-2 and 106 pounds, and she has to tough it out with those same cows, some of them weighing 1,400 pounds apiece. Bill says she is still afraid of them, but she won't admit it. If she is, she deserves a medal.

Milking takes close to two hours each time, twice a day, seven days a week. Then there is cleaning up, which includes turning knobs to run hot soap and water automatically through the milking system but also includes shoveling up six or eight wheelbarrows full of fresh liquid manure and trundling it outside. Then there is fixing the fence, feeding the calves, taking notes while the vet checks each cow for her state of health and pregnancy.

For Laura there also is baking blueberry pie and oatmeal cookies, taking care of the house, getting Scotty off to kindergarten, and a lot more. On this schedule, supper is ready about four in the afternoon, bedtime is nine or ten o'clock, and tomorrow they start all over again.

THE HARPERS have no help. Neither of them inherited the farm. They have been on it only a year, and owe more than $100,000. And they are in it totally voluntarily: She is an elementary school teacher, graduate of St. Cloud State, and Bill was an honor graduate in agriculture from the University of Minnesota. He got his master's in theology, thinking about being a Baptist agricultural missionary. Then he taught farm management to other farmers. So he knew what he was getting into and, despite knowing, he went ahead.

Why? When he explains it he is a little inarticulate, yet perfectly clear. For him it has a mystique like the stage has for a dedicated actor or, more exactly, the ministry for a preacher. He simply wants to make a go of dairy farming.

And for the record, he has no heavy equipment to speak of, he does copious stoop labor, he gets up early, he gets tons of mud on his boots, and so far he has not realized any windfall off the jump in milk prices at your supermarket the other day.

The hearing will be at 7 p.m. in the Fireman's Fund Auditorium, 3333 California Street, San Francisco. The state Transportation Department, which called the hearing on its plan, will display it from 7 to 9 p.m. today in the supervisors' chambers of the Marin Civic Center.

Maps, exhibits, the draft environmental impact report and other information on the proposed improvements to Doyle Drive will be available. Department employees will be there to explain the project, which would replace the present six 10-foot-wide lanes with eight 12-foot-wide lanes — and a concrete median barrier to prevent head-on collisions.

EXTREMELY HEAVY opposition has been mounted by San Franciscans, many of whom fear the project is the first link in a freeway across the city. Some object it will impinge on the beauty of the Presidio. Both points ignore the heavy death toll taken by the roadway.

Neighborhood organizations have attracted support from politicians in San Francisco, and we expect they will seek to have federal legislators kill the project in Washington. It must be approved by the secretary of the Army, and that is where they will strike against it.

Unless people who use Doyle Drive care enough to support the project, it may die — and with it many more motorists. If enough support can be mustered, work could begin next year.

THE LIKELIHOOD of a ferocious reelection battle next year between Senators Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, and Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, has faded with the governor's signature of a bill creating five new appellate court judgeships.

Under the redistricting plan expected to be adopted by the state Supreme Court, Collier will have a choice of moving into Behr's new district or running against Sen. Fred W. Marler Jr., R-Redding. The judgeship bill, however, reportedly will solve that dilemma by allowing the governor to appoint Marler to the bench.

On the other hand (there's always one of those in politics), the governor's weekly schedule last Thursday put him at Marler's fundraiser in Chicao.

GEORGE J. SILVESTRI JR., Marin's deputy county counsel and an expected candidate next year for the Assembly seat being vacated by William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, last week sent the following message to Bagley:

"Dear Bill, believe Mr. Agnew may have solved the problem of your finding a low-key, high-pay job in Washington. Please advise me if I may be of any assistance in this regard."

Taxeaters Mislead On Proposition 1

The taxeaters are out in force in opposition to State Proposition #1, better known as Governor Reagan's tax and expenditure limitation constitutional amendment. The most polite way of characterizing the taxeaters' attacks is to call them "mis-statements of fact." Perhaps some opponents, like the League of Women Voters, are merely allowing themselves to be deluded.

The most persistent argument is that Proposition #1 would force increases in local taxes; i.e., property taxes. SB 90 of 1972 put a ceiling on property tax rates. Proposition #1 would put the same ceiling in the state constitution, preventing the legislature from dropping this ceiling out of the law books sometime soon . . .

Concurrently, the taxeaters decry what they pretend to see as drastic cuts in state revenues with serious damage to state government services. Under Proposition #1, starting with the current state budget of $9 billion (round figures) and assuming no increase in total personal income next year, the state tax revenue limit, as established under Proposition #1, would be reduced about $103 million (or .1 per cent of the total personal income). If personal income should increase, as it has been doing, there might be no actual dollar reduction. In addition, if inflation keeps on increasing, and population continues to increase, there could even be a substantial increase in the tax revenue limit.

We taxpayers must not be stampeded by the laments of the taxeaters. This may be our only and last chance to get control of taxation and spending . . .

Youngsters Allowed To Educate Parents

This is in response to Mrs. Kadel's letter, "Children Entitled to Reality of Life."

Our children can find the true reality in many newspaper reports about young people dying of drug overdoses, taking their own lives because of bad trips, causing accidents while driving under the influence of drugs. This is reality without glorifying drugs and without exposing our young children to sex perversion, homosexuality and a language so dirty that, if I quoted only one sentence from the book, "Go Ask Alice," this letter would not be printed. But some teachers and also parents, instead of fighting such smudge, hand it out to our children, excusing themselves that this is the language of today's youngsters, so they might as well read it. Thus they even allow their youngsters to educate their parents instead of vice versa.

Planning Commission Needs Citizen Input

The planning department, the planning staff, and the planning commission of the City of San Rafael have in their infinite wisdom allowed the only open space in Northgate Unit One to become a commercial establishment in the form of a "necessary" catalogue store. Two park benches, a fountain, a few ten-year-old trees, and 8,000 feet of lawn were demolished. The area was a rather warm, inviting site to the main traffic flow to Northgate Shopping Center. It also was the only place you could sit outside and eat your lunch on a nice day.

The people of San Rafael are supposed to have a unit in the city that does planning. It appears as if we do not have anyone in that group that has regard for open space. There is an answer — the citizens must arise. Write the Planning Department at 1400 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, 94902, and request that your name be put on the mailing list for the agenda of the planning commission hearings. In that way any proposed development will come to your attention, and you can provide citizen input at the public hearings to provide the planning commission with information (other than from the developers) that will aid them in coming to reasonable conclusions. . .

We also need an ordinance that advises all neighbors, be they owners or tenants, in commercial and residential areas of any proposed development prior to planning commission hearings.

The destruction of the small park in Northgate One was accomplished by perfect timing on the part of the developer so it would be heard when some of the commissioners and citizens were on vacation. The planning staff recommended conditional approval, and none of their reports even considered keeping the park as open space. . .

Nobody Has Right To Dictate To Parent

Some people say "I want my child to read the book" — some say "No."

Some feel children should learn about sex, good or bad, early — some say 18 is the age though that would mean complete isolation from their peers, TV, movies, or even a peek at any magazine rack or newspapers.

An editor attacks a fine man and that same editor runs a strip in his "funny" paper the same day that most preteenagers know is not talking about the electrical current of a fish (A.C.-D.C.).

One woman sends her child from the room before reading, out of context, a portion of a book without considering that other parents in the same room might object to their child listening to that portion of the book.

I say, "fine", to each group. As for me I will continue to think a child should learn from the example set in his home and be able to read and discuss books, drugs, sex or anything else with his parents though we did not even know about "Go Ask Alice" until the newspaper made it a best seller!

Not even the Bryce Andersons of this world have the right to choose for me. I'm willing to see any book on a restricted shelf to respect your opinion but you had better believe I will insist that I have the right to determine what I want for mine.

THE NEEDLE

By HAROLD COFFIN

Two young ladies in California are suing for the right to enter the Air Force Academy and Annapolis. Shows how warlike women are becoming.

The gals' desire to serve their country is laudable, but how come they want to be second lieutenants or ensigns?

Don't they realize that everybody has more status than a second looie?

If, in keeping with feminist trends, these women want to give orders, they should join the ranks and become sergeants.

Percy, Reagan Make Headway Toward GOP Presidential Nod

1976 — LOOK OUT FOR CHUCK PERCY. The Illinois senator is surprising the Republican professionals by the headway he is already making as a presidential contender.

He is getting help from two directions. The polls continue to show that he is the only GOP prospect who runs ahead of Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., in head-to-head preference. Second, he is helped by the new and open cordiality with President Nixon. Not long ago the president made it evident that he would not accept Percy if he could possibly help it. Now the president has assured the senator that he would put no obstacle in his path.

If Texas Democrat-turned-Republican John Connally is faltering as much as some correspondents report, the front-runners of the GOP presidential nomination may well be Gov. Ronald Reagan and Sen. Charles Percy.

KIDNAPING OF U.S. EXECUTIVES ABROAD RISING. In Argentina alone there have been 250 kidnapings of foreign business executives in three years. Prominent companies whose top personnel have been seized include Coca-Cola, Ford, Firestone Tire and Rubber, Kodak, First National City Bank, Fiat, and British-American Tobacco Co.

Business Week magazine warns business executives, especially in Latin America and the Middle East, not to shy away from disguises (like false mustaches and beards), to carry guns, and avoid a routine schedule of working hours.

SOME THINGS GOING RIGHT FOR USIA. Not a single United States Information Agency library has been burned anywhere in the world during the past two years. That's the best record in a long time.

More than 2.5 million Russians have visited U.S. cultural and industrial exhibits in recent months.

The Soviets are no longer jamming the Voice of America broadcasts in both English and Russian languages and this gives the Voice a vastly enlarged audience behind the somewhat porous Iron Curtain.

CHINESE COMMUNISTS WARY OF U.S. NEWSMEN. Despite the increasingly cordial relations between Peking and Washington, and the numerous scholarly delegations which are being exchanged, the People's Republic of China has not yet permitted a single American newspaper to assign a resident correspondent on the Chinese mainland.

In the near future, Chinese specialists will be coming to the United States to study library science, computer science, the teaching of English as a foreign language, and to research the physiology of pain and biomedical engineering.

Scientific teams from the United States will be welcome in China — but no permanent American correspondents.

U.S. WANTS TO WIDEN THE ATLANTIC. That is one of the stumbling blocks which has held back President Nixon's trip to Europe to redefine the North Atlantic Alliance. The United States wants to broaden the grouping to link Japan, in one way or another, to the alliance. It's almost certain to come about.

WHAT REALLY IS FIT TO PRINT? A privately financed group which monitors the performance of the media, called Accuracy in Media, Inc., recently carried this caption at the top of its report: "Jane's Fighting Ships Declares Soviet Navy Most Powerful in World, But New York Times Keeps News From Its Readers." The Baltimore Sun, the Christian Science Monitor, the Washington Post and other newspapers played the story prominently.

AIM queried the Times, which said it had the story in hand but would give no explanation as to why it wouldn't print it.

ERNEST B. FURGURSON

GREENLEAFTON, Minn. — Two months ago, when consumer outrage over the explosion in food prices was new and white-hot, I wrote a column laying out the city grocery buyer's 1973 attitude toward the man on the farm. It was not very complimentary. It drew lots of mail, especially from farmers. That was not very complimentary, either. But one of the letters made a positive suggestion.

Laura Harper, who lives with her husband, Bill, and her sons, Scott, five, and Todd, three, on a 212-acre dairy farm in this southeast corner of Minnesota, said that in the interest of social and economic accuracy I should come and spend a week with them. I accepted. I am glad I did.

WHEN YOU COME into the kitchen of the Harpers' white shingle house, there on the bulletin board the column I wrote before is tacked, much the way the Dallas Cowboys might tack up Sonny Jurgensen's picture in their locker room before a showdown game. That column said in part:

"Rather than doing stoop labor, most (farmers) today are some combination of heavy-equipment operator, businessman and welfare client. In the popular mind, today's farmer is not the early-rising, mud-on-the-boots yeoman of legend. He is the vague entity responsible for the prices on eggs, chicken and pork chops . . ."

I am not quite up to analyzing the economic esoterics of farming in Fillmore County yet. But I can report that Bill and Laura were up long before dawn today, at least two hours before me. Three of their 45 cows were off somewhere doing their own thing, so Laura started milking while Bill went to look for them.

Milking a herd of Holsteins is not quite the same as a nostalgic session tugging on old Bossie in the barn. It is hustling from one cow to another in their stanchions with a milking apparatus that looks like an electric octopus, cleaning this animal's udder before the milker falls off the one across the barn, giving each an application of teat dip to guard against mastitis, then shooing them out 15 at a time so the next shift can come in.

BILL IS CREW-CUT and built like a blocking back, and that is just the way he works when he bumps the cows around to get between them, to move them in and out, and refills a basket of feed and hurries up and down scooping it out for the cows while they are being milked, and races out the barn door to turn one back when she has gone the wrong way.

Laura, however, is an auburn-haired 5-feet-2 and 106 pounds, and she has to tough it out with those same cows, some of them weighing 1,400 pounds apiece. Bill says she is still afraid of them, but she won't admit it. If she is, she deserves a medal.

Milking takes close to two hours each time, twice a day, seven days a week. Then there is cleaning up, which includes turning knobs to run hot soap and water automatically through the milking system but also includes shoveling up six or eight wheelbarrows full of fresh liquid manure and trundling it outside. Then there is fixing the fence, feeding the calves, taking notes while the vet checks each cow for her state of health and pregnancy.

For Laura there also is baking blueberry pie and oatmeal cookies, taking care of the house, getting Scotty off to kindergarten, and a lot more. On this schedule, supper is ready about four in the afternoon, bedtime is nine or ten o'clock, and tomorrow they start all over again.

THE HARPERS have no help. Neither of them inherited the farm. They have been on it only a year, and owe more than $100,000. And they are in it totally voluntarily: She is an elementary school teacher, graduate of St. Cloud State, and Bill was an honor graduate in agriculture from the University of Minnesota. He got his master's in theology, thinking about being a Baptist agricultural missionary. Then he taught farm management to other farmers. So he knew what he was getting into and, despite knowing, he went ahead.

Why? When he explains it he is a little inarticulate, yet perfectly clear. For him it has a mystique like the stage has for a dedicated actor or, more exactly, the ministry for a preacher. He simply wants to make a go of dairy farming.

And for the record, he has no heavy equipment to speak of, he does copious stoop labor, he gets up early, he gets tons of mud on his boots, and so far he has not realized any windfall off the jump in milk prices at your supermarket the other day.

Larkspur First City To Submit Development For County Review

Almost two years of thinking and discussion finally brought some action last week as the City-County Planning Council of Marin approved formation of a countywide plan review agency.

The review group will not be formed, however, until and unless the county and 11 cities each approve participation in the agency.

The countywide agency would review developments and projects. It would have advisory power only in telling local governments whether projects conform to the Marin County General Plan.

It should be noted that Larkspur has jumped the gun on the agency and has submitted the environmental impact report on the proposed Larkspur regional shopping center to the City-County Planning Council for a determination on its conformity to the county general plan's land use and traffic sections.

Largely at the urging of Councilman Joan L. Sestak, the Larkspur City Council decided to send the plan to CCPC after the shopping center's developers reported they would not need redevelopment funds to build the center.

Councilman Sestak urged that Larkspur would be showing a spirit of cooperation with county agencies and its neighbors in seeking review on a county level.

Sol S. Silver of the county planning department said this is the first time such a proposal has come before CCPC for review (although other projects have been presented to the council as informational items).

CCPC guidelines for the review agency indicate that many projects such as the Larkspur center will be submitted for review in the future if the county and cities approve membership on the agency.

What action the City-County Planning Council takes on the Larkspur center will serve as indication of how a countywide review agency might function.

Plan For Canal Beach Park Will Be Studied

New plans for the proposed Canal Beach Park in San Rafael will be considered by the city council at 8 p.m. today in city hall.

The small park is planned for the San Rafael Canal turning basin between Dominic's Restaurant and the San Rafael Yacht Club. Plans were approved by the city's parks and recreation commission Thursday. They feature a beach effect, using sand, beach grass and pilings.

Councilmen also will consider a request by a police detective that the city pay for his defense in a lawsuit resulting from the Chapter voiceprint trial.

City Atty. Fred C. Robbins Jr. has recommended that the city not pay for the court defense of Lt. Ernest W. Nash of the Michigan State Police. Nash was a consultant for the San Rafael Police Department and testified as a voiceprint expert in the trial of Stephen A. Chapter, acquitted of phoning a bomb threat to the Pacific Telephone Co. Chapter is suing Nash for $110,000.

Councilmen also will consider an appeal by the Marin Yacht Club of a decision by the planning commission, turning down an application to build a 20-unit townhouse, condominium development on Point San Pedro Road.

Advantages Of Charter City Will Be Discussed

The advantages of a charter city over a general law city will be discussed at 8 p.m. tomorrow by the Novato City Council in the Novato Community House.

Some city officials have advocated that Novato become a charter city. It is now a general law city. In order to make the change it would have to go to a vote of the people.

Prior to its regular meeting, the council will meet with the North Marin County Water District Board.

Other items on the agenda include annexation of the O'Hair property at Novato Boulevard and Sutro Avenue, making a payment on the Heifetz property on South Novato Boulevard at Stone Drive, making appointments to the airport land use commission and the plan review committee, adopting a council policy on disposable containers and considering the master plan of Cheda Farms on South Novato Boulevard.

Orange County Men Robbed

Two Orange County men were robbed Saturday night of a 10-speed bike, a sleeping bag and a total of $60 while sitting at the Marin City Golden Gate Bridge District bus stop.

According to Marin County Sheriff's deputies, Michael Gagnebin, 26, of Mission Viejo, and Gary Strickler, 21, of Anaheim, were at Drake Avenue and Donahue Street stop at about midnight when they were approached by two men, one of them carrying a revolver. The assailants, described as in their early twenties, demanded the money and equipment and fled.

Thailand Violence Erupts As Military Rule Is Ended

BANGKOK (UPI) — Antimilitary students burned the police headquarters and took over public buildings, including hospitals, today following the end of a decade of military rule yesterday.

The radio said a 10 p.m. curfew had been moved up to 8 p.m. Military officials said the situation had become "gradually more tense due to audacious acts of rebellion" and threatened to take "decisive measure" against curfew violators.

The radio broadcast a personal appeal from Sanya asking citizens to stay at home. Sanya's appeal said, "The students and his majesty's government have come to an understanding." This was broadcast following a meeting between Sanya and representatives of the National Students Center of Thailand."

THANOM KITTIKACHORN
Resigns, leaves Thailand

In announcing the departure of Thanom, who took power two years ago, the radio said: "In order to ease the tension of the situation and to bring back peace to the Thai people, Field Marshal Thanom Kittikachorn, the supreme commander of the armed forces, and Field Marshal Prapass Charusathira, deputy supreme commander, have resigned from their posts... and left Thailand already."

The radio gave no indication of their destination, but unofficial sources said the two men and Thanom's son, Lt. Col. Narong Kittikachorn, who is also the son-in-law of Prapass, were headed for Singapore.

At police headquarters a few blocks from the Rajdamnern area that was a major scene of yesterday's violence, a crowd estimated at about 10,000 persons—mostly students—pelted the four-story building with stones and homemade Molotov cocktails.

Shouting "We have gotten rid of the oppressors," they set fire to the building and vehicles parked outside, forcing their way through the gates by using a comandeered bus as a battering ram.

World Series Records

Each World Series brings the chance of old records falling and new records being set. In 1961, Yankee pitcher Whitey Ford erased the old Series record of 29-2/3 consecutive scoreless innings. The record had stood since 1918, when it was set by left-hander Babe Ruth, before he joined the Yankees, gave up pitching, and became the game's greatest slugger. The lifetime Series records of most hits (71) and most times member of a winning team (10) belong to a former Yankee catcher — Yogi Berra, now manager of the New York Mets.

DO YOU KNOW — Who pitched the only perfect game in World Series history? When?

The countywide agency would review developments and projects. It would have advisory power only in telling local governments whether projects conform to the Marin County General Plan.

It should be noted that Larkspur has jumped the gun on the agency and has submitted the environmental impact report on the proposed Larkspur regional shopping center to the City-County Planning Council for a determination on its conformity to the county general plan's land use and traffic sections.

Largely at the urging of Councilman Joan L. Sestak, the Larkspur City Council decided to send the plan to CCPC after the shopping center's developers reported they would not need redevelopment funds to build the center.

Councilman Sestak urged that Larkspur would be showing a spirit of cooperation with county agencies and its neighbors in seeking review on a county level.

Sol S. Silver of the county planning department said this is the first time such a proposal has come before CCPC for review (although other projects have been presented to the council as informational items).

CCPC guidelines for the review agency indicate that many projects such as the Larkspur center will be submitted for review in the future if the county and cities approve membership on the agency.

What action the City-County Planning Council takes on the Larkspur center will serve as indication of how a countywide review agency might function.

Plan For Canal Beach Park Will Be Studied

New plans for the proposed Canal Beach Park in San Rafael will be considered by the city council at 8 p.m. today in city hall.

The small park is planned for the San Rafael Canal turning basin between Dominic's Restaurant and the San Rafael Yacht Club. Plans were approved by the city's parks and recreation commission Thursday. They feature a beach effect, using sand, beach grass and pilings.

Councilmen also will consider a request by a police detective that the city pay for his defense in a lawsuit resulting from the Chapter voiceprint trial.

City Atty. Fred C. Robbins Jr. has recommended that the city not pay for the court defense of Lt. Ernest W. Nash of the Michigan State Police. Nash was a consultant for the San Rafael Police Department and testified as a voiceprint expert in the trial of Stephen A. Chapter, acquitted of phoning a bomb threat to the Pacific Telephone Co. Chapter is suing Nash for $110,000.

Councilmen also will consider an appeal by the Marin Yacht Club of a decision by the planning commission, turning down an application to build a 20-unit townhouse, condominium development on Point San Pedro Road.

Advantages Of Charter City Will Be Discussed

The advantages of a charter city over a general law city will be discussed at 8 p.m. tomorrow by the Novato City Council in the Novato Community House.

Some city officials have advocated that Novato become a charter city. It is now a general law city. In order to make the change it would have to go to a vote of the people.

Prior to its regular meeting, the council will meet with the North Marin County Water District Board.

Other items on the agenda include annexation of the O'Hair property at Novato Boulevard and Sutro Avenue, making a payment on the Heifetz property on South Novato Boulevard at Stone Drive, making appointments to the airport land use commission and the plan review committee, adopting a council policy on disposable containers and considering the master plan of Cheda Farms on South Novato Boulevard.

Orange County Men Robbed

Two Orange County men were robbed Saturday night of a 10-speed bike, a sleeping bag and a total of $60 while sitting at the Marin City Golden Gate Bridge District bus stop.

According to Marin County Sheriff's deputies, Michael Gagnebin, 26, of Mission Viejo, and Gary Strickler, 21, of Anaheim, were at Drake Avenue and Donahue Street stop at about midnight when they were approached by two men, one of them carrying a revolver. The assailants, described as in their early twenties, demanded the money and equipment and fled.

Thailand Violence Erupts As Military Rule Is Ended

BANGKOK (UPI) — Antimilitary students burned the police headquarters and took over public buildings, including hospitals, today following the end of a decade of military rule yesterday.

The radio said a 10 p.m. curfew had been moved up to 8 p.m. Military officials said the situation had become "gradually more tense due to audacious acts of rebellion" and threatened to take "decisive measure" against curfew violators.

The radio broadcast a personal appeal from Sanya asking citizens to stay at home. Sanya's appeal said, "The students and his majesty's government have come to an understanding." This was broadcast following a meeting between Sanya and representatives of the National Students Center of Thailand."

THANOM KITTIKACHORN
Resigns, leaves Thailand

In announcing the departure of Thanom, who took power two years ago, the radio said: "In order to ease the tension of the situation and to bring back peace to the Thai people, Field Marshal Thanom Kittikachorn, the supreme commander of the armed forces, and Field Marshal Prapass Charusathira, deputy supreme commander, have resigned from their posts... and left Thailand already."

The radio gave no indication of their destination, but unofficial sources said the two men and Thanom's son, Lt. Col. Narong Kittikachorn, who is also the son-in-law of Prapass, were headed for Singapore.

The new violence was a spillover from "bloody Sunday" fighting between rioters and government forces that left as many as 400 persons dead by some estimates. King Bhumiplo Adulyadej told the nation "hundreds of Thai people have been killed."

But more rioting broke out.

At police headquarters a few blocks from the Rajdamnern area that was a major scene of yesterday's violence, a crowd estimated at about 10,000 persons—mostly students—pelted the four-story building with stones and homemade Molotov cocktails.

Shouting "We have gotten rid of the oppressors," they set fire to the building and vehicles parked outside, forcing their way through the gates by using a comandeered bus as a battering ram.

World Series Records

Each World Series brings the chance of old records falling and new records being set. In 1961, Yankee pitcher Whitey Ford erased the old Series record of 29-2/3 consecutive scoreless innings. The record had stood since 1918, when it was set by left-hander Babe Ruth, before he joined the Yankees, gave up pitching, and became the game's greatest slugger. The lifetime Series records of most hits (71) and most times member of a winning team (10) belong to a former Yankee catcher — Yogi Berra, now manager of the New York Mets.

DO YOU KNOW — Who pitched the only perfect game in World Series history? When?

FRIDAY'S ANSWER — The population of Argentina is about 23 million.

CITIZENS SWEEP ROBSON PARK

Jeffrey Hoch, 7, (left) and his siter, Janet, 10, heft rakes as they clean out a thicket that had overwhelmed a planter in San Anselmo's Robson Park. The youthful San Anselmo citizens were among 20 residents who appeared at the park yesterday armed with shovels, pitchforks, rakes, hoes and chain saws in a volunteer cleanup effort. "That place was so overgrown, we filled up a debris box," parks and recreation director Gary S. Howell reported today.

BART Director Accuses Manager Of A Falsehood

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — BART general manager B.R. Stokes was accused by Supervisor Quenton Kopp yesterday of falsely saying he had informed the BART board of directors that a fare collection equipment contract with IBM was altered in 1970.

Kopp, a BART director, said the minutes of the BART board of directors show there was no discussion of the contract change at the time.

"What Mr. Stokes apparently had in mind was the fact that certain members of the board of directors visited the IBM facilities in San Jose nearly a year after the contract change was effected," Kopp said.

"There is absolutely no indication that the contract change was discussed at such meeting," he said.

Kopp told a hearing of the Assembly Transportation Committee last Tuesday that the anti-counterfeiting clause in IBM's contract was weakened without the knowledge of the directors.

Kopp said the result is that BART's fare collection machines are vulnerable to "counterfeiting methods which can be accomplished by amateurs."

After Kopp's testimony to the committee, Stokes was asked what occurred in 1970, when the original clause requiring IBM to supply counterfeit-proof equipment was altered.

"To the best of my knowledge, the board was advised," Stokes testified.

A former BART director, Arnold Anderson of Castro Valley, who also made the IBM visit, said, "The truth as far as I know is that he (Stokes) absolutely did not inform us. Not a word was ever said."

However, BART director Harry R. Lange of Oakland said Stokes had notified him of the contract change at the time it was made and "I thought it was a good idea."

McGivern Takes Planning Post

Former Petaluma planning director William C. McGivern has been hired as planning director for Antioch, Contra Costa County.

McGivern left his $15,000 per year Petaluma job on Oct. 1, and will assume his new position on Nov. 1 at $19,000 per year.

McGivern will assist in developing a new master plan for the city of 30,000. In six years in Petaluma, he developed a master plan and growth control measures.

Speedy Removal Of Hotel Asked

The Marin Coast Chamber of Commerce has asked supervisor Gary T. Giacomini to speed removal of the old Nelson Hotel in Olema as a dangerous fire hazard and an attraction to vandals, according to Emma Benevenga, chamber secretary.

The weathered, two-story frame building condemned by the county has been vacant since the end of World War II, during which it was used to house military personnel.

Space Vehicle To Be Visible

MOUNTAIN VIEW (AP) — The Skylab space vehicle will be visible for early risers in Northern California for the next three days, the NASA Ames Research Center said.

Tomorrow, the space lab will be visible for about seven minutes beginning at 6:15 a.m. at 69 degrees above the horizon, moving from northwest to southeast. The space station will appear for a little less than seven minutes at 74 degrees above the horizon Wednesday at 5:32 a.m. going northwest to southeast.

On Thursday, Skylab will be moving from east to south at 17 degrees above the horizon at 6:26 a.m. for approximately five minutes.

$1 Gallon Gas Price Is Predicted By 1975

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A California petroleum executive predicted today that consumers will be paying more than $1 a gallon for gasoline by 1975.

Arnold GM Rudoff, president of the Spectrum Financial Companies, put the blame for high gas prices on the Nixon administration, which he said concentrates on only short-term solutions to the energy crisis.

"What is needed is a substantial national commitment as was done when we were surprised in the late 1950's by Sputnik," Rudoff told the Securities Industries Round Table here.

"We won't be self sufficient until we have developed and produced totally new energy sources such as nuclear fusion," he said, "and that will be 20 to 40 years at best."

Rudoff said he supported the President's recommendation for a department of energy research and development, but felt no adequate financial commitment would be forthcoming in the near future.

HELLO

We couldn't think of a better way to introduce ourselves than with a friendly HELLO. Our name is Northern California Savings. You probably don't know us, and we don't know you . . . yet. We hope to change that. We've been around since 1892, and today we're twenty-six locations and well over half a billion dollars strong.

We've just opened our newest office here in the Downtown Novato Shopping Center. The coffee, punch and cookies are on the table. Come in, meet our manager, Dick Smith, and his friendly staff.

We don't believe there are any strangers in Novato . . . just friends we haven't met.

1974 FORD Mustang II INTERIOR DESIGN

Ford's exceptionally high level of quality is obvious throughout Mustang II's interior. Even standard models have these features: all new front bucket seats and V-shaped bolster that wraps around front and sides giving driver a definite feeling of being "in" the seat; maximum rear seat knee and leg room; cut-pile carpeting on floor and lower doors; tachometer, fuel, ammeter and temperature gauges; rich simulated burled walnut woodgrain accents on instrument panel, shift handle and parking brake.

KROEHLER Citation PERFORMANCE TESTED FABRIC

This Performance Tested fabric tag now hangs from every piece of Kroehler Citation furniture. It proudly states all of the ways in which our fabrics will give good performance. It clearly spells out every test that must be passed to provide an upholstery fabric that can take your family's wear and be cleanable according to easy to follow guide lines.

Thoughts of sunny climes and romance will prevail once you permit yourself the luxury of this living room setting: sofa and loveseat styled in the Mediterranean manner by Kroehler Citation. Dramatically high button-tufted backs and deeply padded arms capture that old world charm and elegance for a new world of comfort. Heavily carved knuckles accent the ornate trim along the base and wings. Arm caps, balanced construction and recessed easy gliding casters are additional Kroehler Citation features. Gaily striped velvet is performance tested.
